LABOR'S VOICE IN A TRUST.

GLASS WORKERS TO HAVE A DIRECTOR IN THE COMPANY.

Employees to Hold Stock in the American Window Glass Company—Requests of the Men Granted Readily—The Employees Not Shouting Against Trusts—Large Wages.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 3.—At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Window Glass Company, known as the trust, to be held next week, a vacancy on the board will be filled by a member of the Window Glass Workers' Association, L. A. 300, Knights of Labor. The candidate was selected at the meeting of the Executive Board of the workers' organization last Saturday, but his name will not be made public officially until he has been seated on the trust's board. It is generally conceded, however, that Simon Burns, the President of the Workers' Union, has been decided upon.

The blowers and gatherers this year made the earliest settlement of the annual wage scale in the history of the trade organization. By many it is considered the most favorable settlement as one objectionable feature was eliminated. For years when the workers' union met the individual manufacturers annually with its wage demand, it was urged that the blowers and gatherers be relieved of paying the "snapper," a boy who is required to assist each blower, but this part of their demand was always rejected. This year when the Wage Committee met the combination of the leading manufacturers the request that the company pay the snapper was made, as had been the custom for years, but this time, to the surprise of the workmen, the request was granted. By the new arrangement additional expense is put on the trust in the making out of the pay roll for the thousands of snappers employed.

The representatives of the trust who met the Workers' Committee to arrange the annual wage scale also caused a surprise by offering the workers stock in the concern on most favorable conditions. It was announced that if the blowers and gatherers would go to work early in September, which was two months before the usual time for beginning the annual blast or "fire" after the summer shutdown an additional inducement would be offered in the way of stock. It was agreed to give L. A. 300, Knights of Labor, the organization of the workers, 500 shares of stock, the par value of which is $100, at $27 a share, which was to be paid for from the dividends. It was believed that if the men would accept the company to man all its pots with the skilled men that compose the organization the stock would soon be paid for in dividends, that this would result in the stock being advanced to par and would mean an addition of $400,000 to the treasury of the workers' organization.

There are four skilled trades in the window-glass industry, represented by the blowers, gatherers, cutters and flatteners. One blower and one gatherer are required for each pot, so that of the skilled workers employed 75 per cent. are blowers and gatherers. These belong to the Knights of Labor, while the cutters and flatteners have separate organizations and are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. President Burns this week announced that, according to reports received at his headquarters, the blowers and gatherers are earning more money this "fire" than last year. His organization has also increased in strength. One cutter, who ordinarily made $50 a week, in one week this "fire" earned $107.30. For three weeks he has passed the $100 mark. Of course, this is exceptional work, and is the result of exceptional skill in the trade. All cutters, however, are earning more than last year.

No Democratic spellbinder can convince the window-glass blowers that trusts are a bad thing. Until the trust was organized wage disputes preceded every "fire" now, it is expected, wage settlements will be effected with little waste of time. The workmen are middle the best wages known since the flush times following the Civil War, and their organization will be enriched by the dividends from the trust stock. Union dues will be cut down and the trust itself will practically be helping to maintain a union of its workmen. The "gospel of hate" will fall on deaf ears, so far as the glassblowers are concerned, for they have had actual experience of the "soulessness" of trusts and have not suffered from it. The statement was made that the trust's offer to sell stock was intended merely as a blind, but the trust has kept faith.

CARNEGIE COMES HOME TO VOTE.

Deutschland, on Which He Came, Had Stormy Passage—So Had the Etruria.

All the liners arriving yesterday were tempest-tossed and late. The fliver Deutschland was nearly half a day behind her usual westward voyage, her time being 6 days and 11 minutes. While she was rolling, beam to sea, in a great gale from the north in midocean on Wednesday a comber came over her starboard side amidships and knocked down two of her seamen who were at work on the hurricane deck, breaking the nose of one and the leg of the other.

During the storm one baby was born in the steerage and one died.

Most of the passengers spent Wednesday in their staterooms. One who didn't care much for the whiness of wind and wave was Andrew Carnegie. He has come back from his Scotch castle to vote for McKinley and to see what is going on here. "The election of Bryan," said Mr. Carnegie, "would plunge the country into financial chaos. I feel, do all I can to prevent that disaster. If McKinley is elected, I believe he will be there all follow the path of unexampled prosperity and development."

Other passengers by the Deutschland were Mrs. George Gray, the Rev. Elbert W. Porter of Massachusetts, Mr. D. Sarasohn and Claus Spreckels, Jr. Mr. Wanamaker has been away six months and returns to vote for McKinley.

Mrs. Lester, who shot her husband, Jesse, was to attend the funeral of her husband and her sister, who is studying in a preparatory school for Wellesley College. In regard to her treatment for nervous trouble Dr. Van Doren she said: "It is not true that I was ill in bed or that he visited me in my room, nor is it true that he cured me. He did help me, however. He heals by suggestion, and this, I suppose, means partly the power of a strong will." Mrs. Lester said she was still affected with heart disease. She is accompanying her private physician, Dr. Deering.

The Etruria of the Cunard line brought the body of Sir Rodger Casement, who died in London on Oct. 30. Sir Rodger's son, R. Melland Cameron, and his two daughters accompanied the body. The funeral services will be at the house of the deceased, Thirty-fifth street and Madison avenue, tomorrow at 10:30 A. M. Interment will be in Canada.

Willie Edouin, the actor who went back to England sixteen years ago after nineteen years' experience on the American stage, returned by the Etruria. He is to play in the musical comedy "Floradora," to be produced at the Casino.

STOLE MR. LESTER'S DIAMONDS.

Discharged Butler Carried Jewelry Worth $3,000 Away With Him Confesses.

When William C. Lester gave up his country home on the Hudson a month ago he advised his mother, who lives at 132 West Fifty-second street, to hire a negro servant named William McBlair, who had been in his employ during the summer. Mrs. Lester engaged McBlair and he was installed as butler in the Lester home. His work was not satisfactory and last Tuesday he was discharged.

Mr. Lester, Sr., who is a real estate dealer, had an engagement to dine out on the following night. When he went to his jewel case to get his diamond stud, Elgin cuff links and other articles, including two watches, four diamond pins and the diamond stud, together valued at $3,000, had been removed.

The police of the West Forty-seventh street station were notified and Detective Fitzgerald was put on the case. He advised Mr. Lester to send for McBlair, mentioning him another place. When McBlair came to the house yesterday afternoon he was accused of stealing the jewelry. He admitted that he knew it had been stolen but said that another servant had taken it. When Fitzgerald threatened to place him under arrest, however, he confessed and said that he had pawned all of it.

Fitzgerald and Mr. Lester made a tour of the pawnshops and recovered most of the jewelry. McBlair was locked up in the West Forty-seventh street station.

MR. TYSON HAS A FIRE AT RIVERSIDE.

Barn and Carriage House Burned—His Daughter Slightly Injured.

RIVERSIDE, Conn., Nov. 3.—Henry H. Tyson of New York, brother of Commodore Tyson of the Riverside Yacht Club, suffered $5,000 loss by fire at his country place here last night. This is the second fire in Riverside within two weeks, the other being the burning of Publisher O. R. Houghton's residence.

Mr. Tyson's barn and carriage house burned to the ground. There were several horses and carriages in the building, and his daughter, Miss Ida, who first saw the flames, ran into the building, untied her pet colt and brought him out. She was knocked down and kicked, but not seriously injured. Her sister and father saved the other horses and carriages.

JOHN WILDE A LUNATIC?

First Showed Signs of Insanity in China, Where He Was a Medical Missionary.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Justice Keogh in the Supreme Court to-day, on the application of Anna H. Wilde and Ella P. Bigelow of 228 East Seventeenth street, New York, appointed Lawyer Henry T. Dykman of White Plains a commissioner to examine into the lunacy of John Wilde now an inmate of Bloomingdale Asylum. The alleged lunatic, who is a brother of the applicants, has $30,500 in personal property besides a life interest in real estate estimated at $22,500. He also has $5,000 in cash in the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation in China.

Wilde is said to be 35 years old. He was graduated in 1893 from the University of Pennsylvania. He went to China as a medical missionary. Wilde abroad he showed signs of insanity and was sent home by the American Consul. He was committed to the Rivercrest Sanitarium on Long Island. He had delusions that he was hypnotized and that his food contained poison. He escaped from the Rivercrest Institution and for several days was lost sight of, but he turned up in New York and was committed to the Workhouse at his own request, although he had a considerable sum of money in his pockets. He was sent to Bloomingdale Asylum about a year ago.

Dr. S. B. Lyon, medical superintendent of the asylum, says that Wilde denies sexualism and frequently refuses to talk. It is said that the alleged lunatic spends his time in studying the Chinese language.
