MORTUARY.

Mrs JOSEPH C. CRYER.

In sad but loving remembrance of a dear loving friend, Marie, beloved wife of Joseph C. Cryer, (nee Bullock) who departed this life, Oct. 13, 1907, age 25 years.

Again the angel of death entered that sad home, now sadder still, and bore heavenward the soul of her who was the light of her home.
Her's was a short married life being not quite four years. Her home was her paradise, and with becoming dignity and queenly grace she made all who came under her roof feel welcome. Yes, "God does all things well," so He thought it best to call her to a better home on that bright Eternal Shore.

She has passed on to his forever, J. Shermanine, through the pearly gates, Yes, again we were to meet her,
When the day of life is fled,
And with joy in Heaven to greet her, Where no farewell tears are shed.

When the wintry storms are over,
And the Spring comes fresh and fair, We will weeply kneel beside her,
And plant a flower there, Emblem of the living memory, In whose love we have been blessed,
We would not disturb her slumbers, Sweetly, calmly may she rest.
A Lifelong Friend,
L. L. D.

Mrs. BENJ. J. SHERMANTINE.

Let me go for the day breaketh, Genesis XXXIII-26. Sweetly fell asleep to Jesus, September 28, 1907.
EMILY ELIZA, beloved wife of Benj.
J. Shermanine. Precious dear one, the loves, and friendships, hopes and dear remembrances of thirty six years are gone; the kind em-bracings of our hearts; our hours of happy thoughts; our smiles coming to tears; were the rays that wondered through the gloom of our mortal life. But thou art happier now, freed from toil and anxious care. Thine aching head shall sigh no more; thy sorrowing breast shall heave no more. Sweet is thy rest.
But O, the poignancy of the grief of husband and dear children. Brea-ved by death, we are lonely and waste in wo. Our hearts assuaged; our blinding tears doth fall? Still the preciousness of the gospel of the blessed Christ sustains us. There is no death, for what some call death is change, and change is life, and life and death and change are one, and our "I" all. Beyond the shining and the weeping, we shall meet again.
Sleep, dear wife and mother! God hath wrapped your mortal faculties into sweet repose, but your happy soul hath reached that land.

Where, over its vast extended plains, Shines one eternal day, Where God the Son forever reigns,
And scatters night away.

HUSBAND,
St. Mary's Enterprise please copy.

J. GIBBONS MATTINGLY.

J. Gibbons Mattingly, son of Lewis K. Mattingly, departed this life one year ago, Sept. 12, 1906, deeply mourned by his bereaved parents and a host of friends. These stranges of an American poet may be applied with fitness to the "little Cardinal," as he used to be called.

One year ago—a ringing voice,
A clear blue eye,
And clustering locks of sunny hair, Too fair to die.

Only a year—no voice, no smile,
No glance of eye,
No clustering locks of sunny hair—Fair! but to die.

One year ago—what lovely, what schemes Far into life!
What joyous hopes, what high resolves, What generous strife!

One year—one year—one little year,
And so much gone!
And the dear flow of life Moves calmly on.

Where hast thou been this year, beloved?
What hast thou seen,
What visions fair, what glorious life, Where thou hast been?

Not dead, not sleeping, not even gone—But present still,
And waiting for the coming hour,
Of God's sweet will.

Lord of the living and the dead,
Our saviour dear,
We lay in silence at Thy feet
This sad, sad year.

SPELLMAN BANAGAN.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear little baby Spillman, who departed this life, March 11.

His little crib is empty now, His little clothes laid by,
He has gone to dwell with His Saviour In the heavenly sky.
We miss thee from our home dear Spillman,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow over our life is cast We miss the sunshine of thy face We miss thy kind and winning hand, Thy fond and tender care Our home is dark without thee We miss thee every where, Lonely the house and sad the hours Since thy dear little baby has gone But, oh, a brighter home than ours In heaven is now his own.
He fell asleep in Jesus,
The dear little one we loved so well, How much we truly love and miss you No one but God can tell.
The depths of thy sorrow no tongue can express.

At the loss of the one I loved so well, While he lies in his peaceful sleep, Loving remembrance of my dear one, I will faithfully keep.
—by his devoted Mother.

GEORGE G. and MAMIE M. MATTINGLY.
In loving but sad remembrance of our dear babies
George G. Mattingly died April 8, 1907; Mamie M. Mattingly died Oct. 18, 1907, children of Blanche and Clarence Mattingly. We are left alone.
Oh, the empty cradle that must now be put away.
For the little ones will need it nevermore by night or day, For the pure and dreamless sleepers will never rock no more of my dear one, For they have gone to meet the Angels on the bright and happy shore.

We did not want to part with them But God knew what was best.
Some day we hope to meet with them In the sweet land of the blest.

The "Kerosene Buggy" in The Country Town.

Old Granisr Boswell come to town drivin' his old sea-bit gray that hadn't moved out'n a walk in more'n twelve year. But when Bill's snort-in' sulky love in sight, the old boss got flat in the middle of the road for to take a good look at it. He didn't wait to say what he seed; he raised head an' 'tail an' got away from that like he was trainin' for a fake race in New Orleans. Granisr Boswell had sense enough for to roll out whar he could hit in a mud-hole, but the old gray never did stop on-tell he run spang through the barn-door at home, which was sometimes away. Our home editor had a piece about it the next week, an' said that a harnessin' an' a boss-collar had been found in the next county, but the body an' 'frame of the buggy, relicies of a bygone time, had teetotally disappeared. An' he wound up by sayin' that in these times it becomever 'body for to have the'r hosses an' mules broke to civilization an' circus waggins.

Bill had smooth sailin' for awhile, an' his machine was the wonder of the hour. Why, when he squeeze the hot-water bag that blows his horn, it sounded for all the world like he had a Florridy bull-yeating tude. His kerosene buggy was better than forty policemen for keepin' the streets clear of loafers an' runnin' the cows an' hogs off'n the public squar.—Joel Chandler Harris in Uncle Remus's Magazine for November.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind do not for a moment imagine that any colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by Foxwell & Johnson.

Court Trials of Animals.

The decision of the Southwestern Police (London) magistrate that a monkey may use the pavement if he causes no obstruction, reminds us, that down to a comparatively period on the Continent the lower animals were considered amenable to the laws. Domestic animals were tried in the common criminal courts, wild animals fell under ecclesiastical jurisdiction. French antiquaries have discovered the records of 92 processes against animals, conducted with the strictest formalities of justice, from 1120 to 1740, when the last trial and execution, that of a cow, took place. Thus there was a lawsuit that lasted from 1145 to 1487 between the inhabitants of St.
Julien and a kind of beetle, and at Lavigny, in 1457, a sow and her six young ones were tried on a charge of having murdered and partly eaten a child. The sow was found guilty and condemned to death, but the little pigs were acquitted on account of their mother, and the absence of direct proof against them.—London Chronicle.

Notice To Our Customers.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults.
Foley's Kidney Cure will cure any case of kidney trouble that is not beyond medical aid.

Uncle Remus's Magazine For November.

The current number of Uncle Remus's Magazine has a cover design most appropriate to the season, for it represents a rabbit in furious fight as though seeking to escape from an unseen hunter. But, unlike the regulation rabbit fleeing from a shield of Uncle Remus's Magazine clashed close to his breast and is clothed in the garb of man. It is not difficult to imagine that he made good his escape from the unseen foe and joined, some-where in the distance, his well-known comrades—Brer Fox and Brer Bar!

The drawing is by R. J. Dean and is full of movement, life and artistic grace.

The contents of the Magazine fully sustain the interest created by its outside page, and its table of contents shows such well-known literary names as Joel Chandler Harris, Douglas Marquis, Frank L. Stanton, Mary E. Bryan and Jacques Fu-trella.

A feature of especial interest is a brand new Uncle Remus story, which tells how "Brer Rabbit Has Trouble with the Moon." Like the cover, this story also is illustrated by Mr.
R. J. Dean, and the attractive drawing lends added charm to the delighful tale.

A Card.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough, loosens the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. Cures influenza, whooping cough and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Contains no opiates. The genuine is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes.

In most cases consumption results from a neglected or improperly treated cold. Foley's Honey and Tar cures the most obstinate coughs and prevents serious results. It costs you no more than the unknown preparations and you should insist upon having the genuine in the yellow package.

No home is so pleasant, regardless of the comforts that money will buy, as when the entire family is in perfect health. A bottle of Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup costs 50 cents. It will cure every member of the family of constipation, sick headache or stomach trouble.

Throw Away Millions.

"I will remember when I was a boy that our farmers considered the seed of cotton positive nuisance and of no earthly account," said T. B.
Brisson, of Texas.

Year after year these despised seeds were thrown away by people who were ignorant that at some future day they would add millions of dollars to the value of the cotton crop of the South. I shudder to think of the vast sum that was lost to our section ere this was ascertained. Nowadays the planter regards his seeds as a big asset, for they bring him at present prices not less than $12 a ton. All over the South cottonseed oil mills have been put up, all of which are making good money for their owners.
They not only get a valuable oil, worth 55 cents a gallon, but after its extraction produce a meal from the kernel that is made into cakes and exported to all the markets of the world. This meal is one of the finest and most nutritious articles that is used for feeding animals. Even the hulls of the seed are valuable for fattening cattle, and bring a good price.

I have been afflicted with sore eyes for thirty three years. Thirteen years ago I became totally blind and was blind for six years. My eyes were badly inflamed. One of my neighbors insisted upon my trying Chamberlain's Salve and gave me a box of it. To my surprise it healed my eyes and my sight came back to me.—P. C. Earls, Cynthia, Ky.
Chamberlain's Salve is for sale by Foxwell & Johnson.

Mrs. Brindle—Now, Mary I want you to be careful. This is some very old table linen—been in the family for over two hundred years, an'— Mary—Ah! sure, ma'am, you needn't worry. I won't tell a soul, and it looks as good as new anyway.

Henry E. Jones of Tampa, Fla., writes: "I can thank God for my present health, due to Foley's Kidney Cure. I tried doctors and all kinds of kidney cures, but nothing done me much good till I took Foley's Kidney Cure. Four bottles cured me, and I have no more pain in my back and shoulders. I am 62 years old, and suffered long, but thanks to Foley's Kidney Cure I am well and enjoy myself. It is a pleasure to recommend it to those needing a kidney medicine."
