THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

FIRST BIG AUCTION IN THE BRONX YIELDS $420,000.

Fourth Avenue Corner in the New Speculative Center Changes Hands—Tall Building in West 20th Street Sold to Stern Brothers—Deals in Flats.

Yesterday's brokerage news included a couple of transactions in the new speculative area centering at Fourth avenue and Thirty-second street. A number of purchasers have come to light recently near the intersection of these thoroughfares. The buying seems to be actuated largely by the rumor that the Pennsylvania, the New Haven and the Metropolitan propose to unite in building a union station on the site of the old car barn between Fourth and Lexington avenues and Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets.

It is believed that the New Haven and the Metropolitan have formed some sort of alliance for the purpose of securing the contract for one or more of the proposed East Side subways. It would obviously be to the advantage of the New Haven road, which is extending its suburban service, to have a terminal on the car barn site. The Pennsylvania also is supposed to be in search of an East Side station for its Long Island traffic, and the car barn property is well suited for the purpose. It is known that the Metropolitan is a prospective bidder for subway franchises.

The rumor of a union station is, so far as the public knows, based upon the reasoning just outlined, coupled with the fact that the car barn block, which was recently for sale, has been withdrawn from the market. In the purchases made in the neighborhood of the car barn the buyers have been, as a rule, professional operators. Most of the transactions have been in and just off Fourth avenue between Thirty-fourth and Twenty-seventh streets. However, it is believed in many quarters that Fourth avenue all the way from Twenty-third to Forty-second street will be gradually reconstructed to meet new business conditions created by th present subway.

The big auction sale in the Bronx Real Estate Salesrooms yesterday conducted by Julius H. Haas and McQuay & Co. realized a total of $420,000. The principal buyers were Matthew Cunningham and Robert Miller. The entire list of fifty parcels was disposed of. In many instances the bids exceeded the prices obtained in recent brokerage sales.

The Bronx Auctioneers' Association prohibits its members from resorting to protective bidding, and to this rule the success of the first important auction in the uptown salesroom was no doubt largely due.
