☞If any of our readers have ever felt any fea s that the talent for Poetry was becoming extinct, we feel confident that the following will reassure them. They have a "branch" of the Pierian fount somewhere "out West," and the author of the following has drank deep of the inspiring waters. His lips have been touched by a live coal from the altar of Inspiration—and the only regret we feel is that his name is not given. We publish verbatim—as we would not mar the beauty nor the harmony of the lines by subjecting them to the vulgar rules of Orthography and punctuation.

Dear Miss
On Valentine day when we were merry
Witch was the fourteenth o' february
The lots was cast and I drew you
Which fortune says must prove trew
I ll be yours if you ll be mine
And I choose you for my valentine

With thee beside me oh my love
Thy soft eyes fondly meeting mine
I ll cease my fortunes to reprove
If thou wilt be my valentine

The blue bell by the meadow rill
Its not more fair than thow
With thy downcast and thoughtful eye
Thy pure and gentle brow.

The moon, after keeping company with the planet Venus for an hour or more, and travelling along quite easily with her, was so ungentlemanly as to pass between us and her fair face, causing an eclipse of that brilliant planet, for fifteen or twenty minutes, when he stepped aside, and again proffering his arm they promenaded down the "blue etherea!" for a short time, until the hand that guides them both in their mysterious wanderings seperated them, and sent each its lonesome way.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

BALTIMORE, April 21.

N. O. papers of Sunday received. The Delta says that Secretary Marcy has telegraphed to New Orleans for proof of the American citizenship of Estrampes.

The records of the 4th District Court show that Francois Estrampes arrived at New Orleans from Cuba in 1844, being then a minor. Proper steps being taken, he acquired the rights of citizenship on coming of age.

☞We find the following article in the Wheeling Gazette of the 17th inst., and as it is in relation to one of the best arranged stores west of the mountains we lay it before our readers. They will always find Messrs. Thompson & Patterson at home and ready to accommodate.

The Book Business.

We take the occasion of the formation of the partnership of Messrs. John H. Thompson & I. H. Patterson, of our city, to call the attention of dealers and customers for books generally to the advantages of Wheeling, and the peculiar advantages they possess for the supply of all the demand in their line. The book business in our city was, many years ago, a matter of no little importance from the large field to be supplied by the necessity that existed for a large portion of the western merchants to make this a point. As other avenues opened this trade diminished until the field was limited to a very small circle with a feeble demand. At that time, some ten years ago, Mr. John H. Thompson, who has been raised here, and to the business, commenced earnestly to gather up the scattered fragments of trade, and to supply the demand. Steadily and liberally, but unostentatiously he has continued to keep up with, but not in advance of the demand; thus enabling himself to supply all the wants by a fair system of trade without overtoaing his capacities by a surplus stock, and yet never disappointing customers by a too limited supply. It has worked well both for him and for the public, until the trade is now larger and far more profitable than ever before.—Purchasing at the best rates and with a sound judgment, he has been able to meet the wants of both the wholesale and retail trade to very great satisfaction, and establish a business beneficial to all parties.

At this point he has united with him, Mr. I. H. Patterson, who has been successfully engaged in the drug business until he has acquired a high reputation as a candid and fair business man, both here and through eastern Ohio, and they have taken the store 117 Main st., recently occupied by W. T. Selby, Esq., which is decidedly one of the best store in this city, where they will hereafter do business with an enlarged capital trade and facilities.

Their store is about one hundred feet in depth, the rear portion thoroughly lighted from above and very high, while the front, of some fifty feet depth, is divided into three stories, giving them abundance of room for business, and furnishing, as we have said, a superior and rich establishment.

Their business has been extended largely and will partake mainly of the following character, for which they have full arrangements of the best character, and for which they are admirably adapted. They will supply dealers at wholesale with school books, for the schools of O., Penn. and Va., with medical, law, theological, scientific, miscellaneous, and blank books, of the best make, and of all varieties. Also with stationary, wall paper, window paper, transparent blinds, and variety goods. These will also be furnished inall their varieties at retail.

They also supply dealers with a full assortment of standard remedies, medicines, liniments, &c., which will ensure to them all they want in that line. We have no doubt that with the arrangements they have made, their business will be immense, and they will find it equally profitable and popular.

The public have, in their past, a sure guaranty that their business will be permanent, profitable and honorable to customers, and that is all the public ask to secure it.

THE METHODISTS AND THE REMOVAL OF JUDGE LORING.—It is said that when the news reached the Methodist Conference, in session at Chelsea, Mass., on Saturday, that the address for the removal of Judge Loring, had passed the House of Representatives, the whole body, some three hundred strong, rose to their feet and gave three cheers.—Boston Telegraph.

☞The best evidence that can be adduced in favor of the efficaciousness of Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Special Notice to Army Officers, Soldiers, Volunteers, Teamsters, Naval Officers, Seamen, Marines and Navy Clerks, and their Surviving Widows or Minor Children.

YOU are now entitled to a Land Warrant for 160 acres; and if you have already received 40 or 80 acres, you are entitled to an additional quantity, equal to 160 acres. Whether you desire to sell or retain your Warrant it is important that the same be procured without delay, as the great number of Warrants which will be thrown upon the market, must soon materially reduce their value. Persons entitled to Warrants are requested to apply to JOHN LIVINGSTON, No. 157, Broadway, New York, who has such arrangements with the Department as enables him to procure Warrants with the least possible delay.

The application is required to state his name, age and residence, including town, county and state; the company, regiment and war in service in, and the capacity in his company; whether the applicant survived or was killed, and on what day and year; and for what term; whether he has ever received any Warrant, and if so, for how many acres, and what has become of such Warrant. If the claimant served in the navy, the statement must be varied according to the facts of the case.

If a widow applies, she must state the name, date, place and name of her marriage, the name and official title of the person who performed the ceremony, together with the time and place of her husband's death.

On receiving these facts, Mr. Livingston will send to the applicant blank papers, and instructions for their execution, all the necessary papers, with full instructions. These papers, after being duly executed, are to be returned to Mr. Livingston, who upon the receipt of the same will be obtained, and either the Warrant itself, or the money therefor, as may be desired, will be forwarded to the applicant by his attorney. Regular attorneys will be prepared to take cases of others, and forward them to the Undersigned, who will liberally deal with.

He has all the necessary blank forms, and being familiar with the requirements of the law, and his arrangements being complete, applicants can avoid delay of the uncertainty and delay which might otherwise occur.

Address all communications to

JOHN LIVINGSTON,
Commissioner for claims against the U. States, 157 Broadway, N. York.
