DEMOCRATIC SUPPORT BRYAN.

Government Enployes Are Expected to Contribute to the McKinley Fund.

EX-GOV. CAMPBELL OF OHIO.

For Bryan and Lewall.—Laboring Men for the Chicago Ticket.

Regular Correspondence of THE HERALD.

Washington, Oct. 6th., 1896. —That the regular democratic ticket should be openly opposed by the democratic administration is exasperating and aggravation enough to the average democrat, but it is certainly adding insult to injury when a member of the republican national committee advertises, by means of a personal interview in a local paper, that the Government employes are expected to contribute $50,000 to the McKinley campaign fund. Yet that is exactly what has been done. The republican national Committee man who has had the cheek to do this thing is Mr. M. M. Parker, of the District of Columbia, who has been in New York since the campaign opened but who has just returned to Washington for the avowed purpose of raising money and he says he is going to remain and devote his whole attention to it. He began operations by having himself interviewed: and after stating the urgent need for more money he said: "They have called on us to raise $50,000. We ought to do it. It is not a question of party; it is a question of preservation Individuals, Banks, trust companies and corporations should so consider it. Those in the Government service ought to appreciate the situation and gratuitously help to protect themselves. The national committee will be advised of all those who aid in this patriotic work." Mark well that last sentence. It is intended both as a threat and an implied reward to the Government employes. If they contribute the National Committee will know it and will see that they keep their places; if they don't contribute, the National Committee will know it and will see that they lose their places. Fortunately for the government employes, both threat and reward are contingent upon McKinley's election. Anyway Parker deserves the belt for unadulterated gall.

Ex Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, whose position in the campaign has been the subject of much gossip and more misrepresentation, stopped long enough in Washington while on his way to Ohio, where he will make some speeches, to thoroughly state his position. He said: "I shall vote for Bryan and Sewall. I stand just where I did before the action of the Chicago convention. I said at that time I would abide by the decision of the majority delegates to that convention, and, while my personal views were not incorporated in the platform, I am willing to defer to the judgment of my party. In doing this, I feel that I am not making any greater sacrifice than Maj. McKinley did when he turned his back on his frequent utterances for silver and accepted a nomination on a platform which upholds that for which he so roundly denounced Mr. Cleveland. After carefully viewing the situation it doesn't require a great effort for me to say I am still a democrat."

Senator Mitchell, of Wisconsin, another democrat whose positions has been misrepresented, has set himself right. He said: "I intend to vote for Bryan because I am a democrat. Though I don't believe in free silver, I don't propose to set myself up against the great majority of my party. The Chicago convention was a regularly organized convention. It was the assemblage of the National democracy. That assemblage declared for Bryan and free silver. Well, I owe my political place to the democratic party. Why shouldn't I obey the dictates of my party? True, something in the platform are not to my liking. But what of it? That isn't reason enough for me to bolt. Certainly it is not reason enough for me to help to elect McKinley who does not represent democracy. It is my contention that all men who call themselves democrats should stand by the party."

Senator Blackburn, who was with Mr. Bryan in New York, stopped in Washington to get a couple of days rest before again taking the stump in Kentucky. He paid Mr. Bryan this high compliment: "I know he lacks years, I know he lacks experience and training, but I have been in one or the other Houses of Congress for 22 years continuously, and I regard Mr. Bryan as the biggest man I ever saw." Of the campaign generally Mr. Blackburn said. "This is the people's fight, and the political managers are in the background. The people are pushing the silver cause to the front and the managers have to go it double quick to keep up with them." Senator Blackburn was not surprised when Carlisle declined to divide time with him when he takes the stump in Kentucky. It was just what he and most other people had expected that Mr. Carlisle would do, and he did not care to discuss the matter, although he significantly remarked: "Carlisle need not think that we shall keep our hands off of him, if he comes to Kentucky."

An agent of the U. S. Labor Bureau who has been in Ohio and Indiana on official business which brought him in contract which a large number of laboring men says may of those wearing McKinley buttons told him confidentially that they intended voting for Bryan any were only wearing the buttons to hold their jobs.

Lady Isabel Douglas Hamilton, writing on behalf of herself fand sisters, has signified their willingness to join the Hamilton Order of Good Templars. Enclosed with the reply was a check for 20 pounds.
