CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 3.—Provisions were particularly bullish. The bulls were masters to-day. October rips and lard deals were running at the old stand, notwithstanding the efforts of a mysterious stranger to transfer them to the justice's court.

The grain markets closed at slight gains. While there was a good demand in the wheat market, there were other considerations which held the market firm and a shade higher. Trade was not very active.

There was also decided strength in corn and oats and firmness in the provision pit, all of which serve to give trade more confidence. Later, when returns were all in and it was found the visible had increased less than 3,000,000 bushels and heavy local receipts due to Sunday inspection of principal roads, the market received additional strength. The market turned weaker during the last hour on realizing sales and prices, returned to opening figures, which were a shade above final quotations Saturday.

In corn initial trades were the same to ⅛c outer final figures of Saturday, but under an improved demand, especially for December, the market advanced with but little reaction, ⅞@⅞c, receded ⅛c later, changed some, ruled steady and closed within shade advance. Prices were helped by Bordeaux, pursuing to show European supplies had gone, and Europe will require 9,000,000 bushels this month from this side.

Oats—Trade rather easy at opening, developed covering by shorts, and prices advanced ⅛@⅜c, but as other grains weakened, felt sympathized, and closed easier at most of the decline lost.

Closing futures ruled:
