NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Speculation in the stock Exchange opened irregular, but in the main weaker. The weakness was short lived, and before mid-day there was a decided change for the better. An advance followed which carried prices to the highest point reached since the present upward movement set in. In this rise, sugar, General Electric, Chicago Gas, R. I., R. & O., Reading, Lake Shore, Missouri Pacific, Omaha, Union Pacific, and Western Union were most prominent. The rapidity of the advance compelled the shorts to make private terms with their opponents while some of their less fortunate companions had to go into the open market to cover their contracts. Take altogether, the experience of the bears during the past few days has not been an enviable one. The high prices led many to realize profits and at the same time London appeared as seller of L. & N., St. Paul, and other international securities, the poor reports of the prominent roads for August having had more effect on European investors than on home holders. Again, there were indications that at least one of the traders responsible for the recent sharp recovery in prices had made his turn and would withdraw temporarily from active operations. The receivership of the Evansville & Terre Haute and the development attending it did not help the bulls any. In the afternoon General Electric, which sold as high as 49¾, dropped to 45¾ and the market, which felt the elimination of the short interest, yielded ½ per cent. General Electric subsequently recovered to 47¾ and then rallied ⅛. Among the speculities Evansville & Terre Haute dropped ¼ and recovered to 72 on the announcement that the directors will fight the receivership. American Cable, Pittsburg, Flint, and Pere Marquette preferred, Rio Grande Western, Michigan Central, United States Rubber, Minn. & St. Louis, Cordage, Norfolk & Western preferred, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis preferred, and Manhattan rose anywhere from 2 to 10 points. The general stock market closed steadier. Sales of listed stock 261,000 shares; unlisted, 61,000.

Subtreasury balances: Coin, $50,612,000; currency, $7,368,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Money has been easy, ranging from 3 to 5, last loan at 4, closing offered at 4. Prime mercantile paper, 5@12 per cent. Bar silver, 73¼. Mexican dollars, 58½. Sterling Exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.83⅞@4.83¾ for 60 days, and 4.86¼ for demand. Posted rates, 4.83@4.87. Commercial bills, 4.81@4.85. Government bonds firm. State bonds dull. Railroad bonds strong. Silver at Stock Exchange today was neglected.

THE CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—There was a good business transacted in wheat to-day. The feeling developed was stronger and prices ruled higher. The opening was about ¼@⅜c. lower than yesterday's close; advanced 1⅜, then eased off ⅞, again became strong and prices were advanced 1⅛, then ruled easier and the close was about 1c. higher for Sept. and ⅝ higher for Dec. than the final figures of Tuesday.

Corn was again fairly active to-day, a good speculative trade being noticeable and fluctuations covering 1⅝@1¾c. range. The feeling was quite firm, higher prices reigning and the extreme figures well maintained up to the close.

In provisions the speculating in hog products was a little more active by the disposition being shown. Business ruled quiet with only a few trades.

There was a little more activity in pork, Oct. opening 5c. higher and then declining 15c. on rather free offerings. A firmer feeling finally set in the market, advancing 5c. and closing that much lower than yesterday.

Lard—A moderate volume of business was transacted, the market ruled fairly steady and closed 10c. better than yesterday for Oct. Oct. ribs broke 10c. before the close, but final figures were 12½ better than yesterday.

DEATHS.

OBRIEN.—Died at her father's residence in Manchester, Va., at 10 o'clock P. M., Sept. 6th, 1893, OPHELIA F. O'BRIEN, in the 5th year of her age.

Funeral services will take place to-morrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from Meade Memorial Church.

OBITUARY.

On Monday, Sept. 4th, 1893, at 4:25 p. m., little Kathleen, eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lifscy, was borne to her heavenly home by the angel of death.

God only lent this little one to her fond parents for two years and sixteen days, and when she had fulfilled her mission on earth, she was taken to her home in Heaven. How, with almost breaking hearts, did her devoted parents see their darling slipping from them, and they were powerless. Her physicians did all in their power, kind neighbors with gentle hands and loving hearts did what they could, but all in vain, as God had willed it otherwise. "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth." We cannot see now, but in the "Sweet bye and bye" we will know why "our darling" was taken, and left parents with aching hearts, house saddened, little chair empty, dear little voice silent, no baby laughter, no sweet kisses from dear baby lips. There is now a bright and shining link between earth and Heaven for the parents, that brings them nearer to Heaven and closer to God. So, dear parents, do not weep, for your dear "little one" is safe in the arms of Jesus, and when the summons comes, if you are ready, you will find your "darling" at the "beautiful gate" waiting and watching for mama and papa.

Her little body was laid to rest on Tuesday afternoon.

"Farewell, 'our darling,' thou hast left us,
Angels have borne thy soul away;
But we hope to meet thee, 'Kathleen,'
When the mists have cleared away."

AUNT PEARLE.

The remains of the late Mrs. Gilliam Ragland, who died Tuesday morning at the residence of Mr. J. Harvie Blair, her son-in-law, have been taken to Owingsville, Ky., her old home, where the funeral and interment take place. Mrs. Ragland was over eighty years of age.

Sea Bathing as a Tonic.

A sea bath is to most persons exceedingly agreeable and refreshing, says an expert, and, when judiciously employed, a medicinal agent of great value; but, like all other medicinal agents, it may be productive of good or bad results, depending upon the condition of the one who takes the bath and his manner of taking it. To the convalescent, impatient for delayed strength; to the inland dweller whose devotion to business pursuits or housewifely cares has resulted in feeble health and nervous bankruptcy, and to all overworked in mind and body, no measure, when discreetly used, so surely brings vigor and rest as a sojourn at the seashore and a daily plunge into the salt water. Though not every one's experience in sea bathing has been agreeable, and perhaps to some it has proved positively harmful, it can be asserted that in nearly all such cases the unsatisfactory results are due to some indiscretion of the bather or misconception of the principles that should guide one in resorting to sea baths for sanitary purposes.

Sea bathing is a more powerful tonic than the ordinary cold bath. The stimulation of the cutaneous surface by the dissolved salt, the changing and cooler currents of air, the impact of the waves upon the body and the mental effect of the unusual surroundings combine to press the system very forcibly. While such conditions may have a depressing effect upon one who is unaccustomed to them, they are highly bracing and stimulating to him who is strong enough to make sea bathing safe.

A Treatment For Headache.

A treatment recommended by M. Dourdouki of Moscow has the merit of being both original and simple. While examining one day a patient complaining of atrocious headache he used percussion of the cranium, just as is done for the chest, to ascertain whether there was any apparent material lesion. Two or three minutes after finishing his examination he was greatly astonished to hear his patient say that his headache had completely disappeared. This method of treatment has succeeded in his hands whenever there was no material cause for headache.

The percussion must be made lightly with only one or two fingers, without producing any disagreeable sensation, but increasing gradually the intensity of the taps. In this way a sort of vibratory massage is administered, which removes the distressing symptom. It is evident that this relief can only be momentary and that the cause must be discovered in order to be sure to cure the headache. The same means is efficacious in muscular pain in neurotics, impressionable people. It is at any rate easy to try, and, according to the old saying, can't do any harm, even if it don't cure.—New York Herald.

TOOK IN A YALE PROFESSOR.

Card Sharpers Make a Few Dollars Out of an Innocent Teacher.

A good story is going the rounds of the city with relation to a certain well known Yale professor. He is a young man, and the title of professor has rested upon him but a few years, but his name is withheld for obvious reasons.

On returning from Chicago recently, so goes the story, he was approached on the train by a fine appearing man, who asked him if he would not fill up a hand of whist, as it needed just one more to complete the table. The Yale professor complied and was soon sitting with three nicely dressed and apparently thorough gentlemen. The cards were dealt around, when it was discovered that there was one card
