THURSDAY MORNING, June 23, 1910.

Vice-President Sherman says Roosevelt "will indorse the tariff law and will indorse Mr. Taft in every particular." If, Mr. Roosevelt does this it will be his Waterloo.

The extent of official rottenness in Washington will never be known until the Democrats are again placed in power and get a half dozen investigating committees working.

"Standpat" successes in the primaries mean Democratic successes in November. But don't say who told you. This is a little secret between Democrats and Progressives.

Only $120,000,000 a year! That's all the wearers of ready made clothing will have to pay in excess of former prices as a result of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

"I will not lie for the Republican party," says Senator Cummins of Iowa. Ye Gods, this assurance would please us mightily did it not serve to remind us of that army of stump-speakers who will.

It would be no more difficult for a camel to enter the eye of a needle than for Roosevelt to indorse the Taft administration and get away with it!

Eleven employees of the interior department in Washington have been forced out by Ballinger. Fortunate men, to have their honesty and loyalty to the people thus recognized!

VITAL WASHINGTON NEWS.

BY TAVENNER.

"I am through with it." So spoke Senator Dolliver of Iowa. He meant that he would never again raise his voice, either in the Senate of the United States or from the stump, in defense of excessive protection.

"I do not propose," declared Dolliver, "that the remaining years of my life shall be given up in dull consent to the success of all these conspiracies. I intend to fight as a Republican for a free market on this continent."

"In other words, the mighty Dolliver, for years an ardent protectionist, is conscience stricken. He stands appalled at the magnitude of the sins that have been visited upon the Republic and people by a system which he advocated with his own voice.

His eyes opened, Dolliver was courageous enough to say: "I am through with it." That is why his speech will live in history, because he said "I am through with it."

The philosophy of the Iowan, in itself, was not new, anyone that were his statements that Congress, in passing the Payne-Aldrich bill, was dominated by the tariff trusts, Democrats have told the same story time and again. Dolliver has merely indorsed the Democratic viewpoint, which is that excessive protection robs the many for the few.

Senators regard the Dolliver speech as the most impressive oratory the Senate has listened to in many years. It will take rank among the foremost examples of American eloquence.

Dolliver analyzed the cotton and wool schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law, revealing as he went along, the fraud and injustice and jugglery which will force the people to pay outrageously high prices for necessities of life.

He also pointed out how the President had aided in the effort to deceive the public as to the true character of the law.

"What a farce to send men around talking about the rule of the majority," thundered Dolliver, "when, the most important business of the people has come down to the bargain counter, and men are authorized to say: 'This is the citadel of protection; if any of you have contentions that want anything, come here; come here; we are the dispensing power; support what we want, and take anything you think you need,' and the man who does not like it, and has no stomach for the fight, is requested to depart."

"If that is to be the continued practice of the government of the United States, I think it would be better for nearly everybody to depart."

DOLLIVER ADMITS ERROR

When Senator Dolliver was attacking the Payne-Aldrich bill in the Senate last spring, Senator Dewey of New York chided the Iowan with the statement that he (Dolliver), had traveled all over the country in the campaign of 1896 making speeches in which he charged the Wilson bill with responsibility for the panic of 1893. "Would you now pass a blue pencil through those speeches?" asked Dewey, smiling.

"If I were called upon now," said Dolliver, "to repeat what I said as an enthusiastic youth in the House of Representatives many years ago, I would blue pencil a good many of the explanations I gave there for industrial conditions which surrounded our industries in that far-off period."

JUST LATER TO THIS!

Taft "cut-to-the-quick" economy is no longer mentioned by Republican newspapers. For excellent reason, too. Indications are that this Congress will spend at least $20,000,000 more than the preceding session, which created a new high water mark in government extravagance. Speaking of "cut-to-the-quick" economy, here are a few of the increases over last year's appropriations, in bills already enacted at this session:

Rivers and harbors $23,462,954.
Postoffice department 5,119,825.
Sundry civil 8,633,994.
Agricultural department 517,600.
Consular and diplomatic 505,620.
District of Columbia 247,429.

$38,477,422.

The most material decrease up to date is in the pension bill, amounting to about $6,000,000.
