DOWNS AGAIN EXPELLED.

The Baptist Conference Disclaims All Fellowship with him as a Minister.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—Sunday night's utterances of the Rev. W. W. Downs at Mechanics' Hall spurred the Baptist ministers of this vicinity to publicly declare their attitude toward him. They did this at a well-attended meeting today. A committee of seven was appointed to draft resolutions, and they reported the following:

Whereas, W. W. Downs, pastor of the Bowdoin Square Baptist Church, and a member of this Conference, has, by his recent conduct and utterances, brought public disgrace upon the ministerial profession, and done great damage to the cause of Christ; therefore,

Resolved, That we hereby expel W. W. Downs from membership in the Conference.

Resolved, That we hereby disclaim all fellowship with him as a minister, while we earnestly pray that he may repent and so change his conduct as to win the sympathy of his brethren and of the Christian public.

Resolved, That we approve the action of the Bowdoin Square Society in closing their house of worship.

Resolved, That we sympathize with and approve of the efforts of the Bowdoin Square Church to call a large and representative council to consider the case of Mr. Downs.

An animated discussion followed the presentation of the resolutions. The only difference of opinion was in regard to details. On the main question there was perfect unanimity. One clergyman suggested that the passage of the resolutions as they stood might be such a prejudgment of the case as would practically disqualify the members of the Conference present and taking part in this matter from acting in any council which might subsequently be called.

The Rev. Dr. Apsey said: "It seems to me that we wash our hands entirely of the whole thing if we pass all the resolutions except the one about closing the church. By leaving this out we shall not prejudge in the matter."

The Rev. Dr. Lawson said that he had felt an unusual interest in the affair, as he had known W. W. Downs in New York, and had known him only to commend him. He had hoped and expected, when he came to Boston, that his work would be for the glory and honor of God and His cause. He did not think that a council would be called. He thought that Mr. Downs's conduct was worthy of the severest condemnation, for he had stood in the pulpit and preached when he was under accusation before the courts of a great crime. He did not think the proposed action of the Conference would be in any sense a prejudgment of the case. It had been judged already. It had been tried before a Judge supposed to be competent to decide upon the matter, and settled by him.

"The resolutions seem severe," continued Dr. Lawson, "but they are not harsher than he deserves. We have been severely criticised by others already, because we have done nothing about this. For myself, I did not know until to-day that he was a member of this Conference, or I should have spoken long before this."

The Rev. Franklin Johnson said he thought there was no need to go into the question of whether Mr. Downs was guilty of a crime or not. His own words in court, in the pulpit, in printed reports and interviews, were the only things which needed to be taken into account to show the necessity of the proposed action of the Conference. "The man has been condemned by the public, and nothing we can say will alter the state of the case one jot or title. The brethren must not forget that it is the long established usage of the Baptist church to take notice of any great public scandal by coming together and expelling the man. Mr. Downs is not on trial here, but the Baptist ministry. Because nothing has been done to rid ourselves of this man, and we have continued in passive fellowship with him, we should now express our opinion and wash our hands of the whole matter."

Two clergymen, who had at first advocated cutting out the clause relative to expulsion, now spoke again, and said they were convinced, on further thought, that the resolutions ought to pass as they stood.

The Rev. Dr. Gordon said: "I do not think any action this Conference can take will be too severe. It is well known that Mr. Downs has repelled all approaches by any one. He has been disrespectful to the other pastors. We must wash our hands of him, and repudiate not only his conduct, but him. I go heartily for the resolutions, and hope there will be no dissenting voice."

The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

A SEANCE BROKEN UP.

A Boring Young Man Wrestled with the Spirit, and it Proved to be the Medium.

STRAWBERRY POINT, Iowa, Nov. 30.—C. E. Wyman, the spiritualistic medium, has been holding séances at the residence of W. B. Field for two weeks past, the attendance being large each evening. The medium did not forget to collect a dollar from each person present. Quite a number of citizens have been worked up to a high pitch, several being on the verge of insanity over the adroit manner in which he brought up the so-called spirits of their departed friends. Several skeptical young men attended the séance on Saturday evening last with the determination of exposing what they considered a palpable fraud. Accordingly, one of them managed to secure a seat near the cabinet from which the spirits materialized. The clothing of the medium was saved securely to a chair in the cabinet, the circle formed, and the lights turned down. Soon the spirit of the father of one of the company was materialized and reached out to shake hands with his son, whereupon the young man near the cabinet grappled with the messenger from the other world and threw him to the floor. The believers immediately hurled themselves upon the young man, and the skeptic's friends then took a hand in the affair, and for a while pandemonium reigned, with the spirit believers and unbelievers rolling on the floor of the dimly lighted room.

The lights were at length turned up, and then, to the amazement of the believing circle, the materialized spirit proved to be the medium in exceedingly airy attire, while the clothing out of which he had slipped himself was left in the chair. The spiritualists manifested great indignation, and tar and feathers were strongly talked of for a time, but cooler judgment prevailed, and a warrant was sworn out for Wyman's arrest for obtaining money under false pretences. A hearing was had before Justice Baird, and Wyman, in default of bail, was held to await the action of the Grand Jury. Wyman is one of the most noted mediums in the West, and was the chief medium at the recent State Spiritualist camp meeting in Clinton. He came to this place from Evanston and Chicago, where he held successful séances.

A DOCTOR'S STUPIDITY.

A Young Woman with the Measles Sent to the Small-pox Hospital.

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—A case of extraordinary stupidity on the part of a medical man has just come to light. Dr. T. Ross was called in to Low's Hotel to see a young woman who was sick, and as he pronounced it small-pox she was sent to the Mount Royal Hospital. After being there a few days the physician in charge discovered that it was only the measles, and the result was that the poor creature had to be quarantined for a few days in a house she is now in the general hospital. Fortunately, she had been successfully vaccinated and did not catch small-pox. Great indignation is expressed at the stupidity of Dr. Ross.

In consequence of the municipality of Ste. Cunegonde failing to take proper measures to suppress the small-pox, the Central Board of Health have ordered the Montreal Board to place gates across the road and quarantine the municipality. All parties now coming into the city by this road will have to show a vaccination certificate and medical certificate showing a clean bill of health in their residences.

The Apaches Fighting Among Themselves.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Adj.-Gen. Drum has received the following telegram from Gen. Crook:

"Sanches brought into Fort Apache last evening the head of one of the hostiles named Ogara Quelah. He also reports that the hostiles are killing all the White Mountain Indians they can find scattered over the reservation. It seems probable that up to this time they have killed eleven women, four children, and five men and boys. The White Mountains threaten to retaliate on the Chiricahuas remaining on the reservation, but these are close to Fort Apache and carefully guarded. The Indians on the reservation are extremely aroused, and several parties of scouts and troops are hunting the hostiles. All the Indian camps have been notified. There is reason to hope that more of the hostiles will be killed."

Narrow Escape from a Burning Hotel.

EMPORIUM, Pa., Nov. 30.—The Warner House, a new and elegant hotel, was burned this morning. The guests had much difficulty in effecting their escape. Three of them were dangerously and many others slightly injured by jumping to the pavement. Loss on the hotel and furniture, $25,000; insurance, $10,000. Brown & Hyman's clothing store was damaged to the extent of $4,000. Among the most severely wounded are Edward Schultz, a cigarmaker, severely burned; John H. Wilson, tinsmith, injured internally; David Hayes, both arms broken and face terribly cut, and Mrs. Norman Warner, leg broken.

Three Children Suffocated.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 30.—This morning, during the temporary absence of Mrs. Patrick Fitzgerald from her house on Tingley street, her children set fire to a mattress in a crib, in which the youngest was sleeping, and the three little ones, aged respectively 1, 3, and 5 years, were suffocated before help reached them.

A Negro Lynched.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 30.—Henry Mason, the negro who killed J. R. Hammersley, white, with an axe near Campbell Court House a week ago, was taken from jail at 2 this morning, and hanged to a tree near his body riddled with bullets. The mob was painted all colors. A great many colored men were in the mob.

FOUND DEAD ON THE MEADOWS.

Peter Bruce, who was Married in September, Commits Suicide.

A boy playing on the Newark meadows near the Pennsylvania Railroad depot, East Newark, yesterday noticed a shoe protruding from mud and coarse grass in a shallow stream. He poked it and it wouldn't move. He then pulled aside the grass and found the body of a man embedded in the mud. The East Newark police had it conveyed to Crane's morgue. It was that of a man about thirty-five years old, five feet nine inches tall, dark complexioned, with black hair, moustache, and side whiskers. A deep gash extended across the throat, and there were four small wounds in the region of his heart. His scarf was drawn tightly around his neck and fastened with a suspender clasp. In his pockets were found a British bulldog revolver with five of the seven chambers loaded, a purse containing two sovereigns, and two pocketbooks containing receipts and letters. From these it was learned that his name was Peter Bruce of 78 Strathmartin road, Dundee, Scotland. One letter was from a sister in Auckland, New Zealand, in which she expressed regret that he would not come to New Zealand. Another letter was from W. E. H. Young, a solicitor of Dundee, informing him that if he did not pay his arrearages to Betsey Clark legal steps would be taken. Another letter was from Daniel Henry of Kansas City, Henry advised Bruce not to come to Kansas City unless he had money enough to start in business. Among the papers was a marriage notice of Peter Bruce and E. Izabeth Burnett, in Dundee, Sept. 18 of this year. One of the pocketbooks contained a number of business cards and addresses, among them being those of Mrs. Evetts, 190 High street, Newark, the United States Hotel, and the Eighth Ward House, Newark. There was also an emigrant ticket to St. Louis, issued by Tapscott, Smith & Co., Liverpool, in favor of John Cameron, and exchangeable at Castle Garden.

AN ICE HOUSE BLOWN UP.

An Early Morning Explosion which Startled Washington Market.

An explosion occurred soon after 4 o'clock yesterday morning in Thomas Loughran's ice house, in West Washington Market, which caused several hundred dollars damage and severely burned August Meyer of 173 Delancey street and Patrick Gurry of 431 West Forty-second street. The ice house, in which a large quantity of beef was stored, had been closed since Saturday. Meyer and Gurry entered it to open it for the day. The former lit a match to light the gas, and the explosion followed. The place was soon filled with dense smoke. Gurry was then carried from the place, and then went home. Meyer was taken to the Chambers Street Hospital, where their burns were dressed, and then went home. They were burned on the face, neck, hands, and arms. Gurry was less burned than Meyer, but was suffering from shock.

Peter Loughran, a brother of the proprietor, was opening the door from the office to go to the closet in which his overalls hung when the explosion occurred. The ice box was thrown against the closet door, breaking it in, and had Loughran been putting on his overalls he would almost certainly have been crushed to death.

A KICKER IN THE JURY ROOM.

One Man Who Has Been Having His Lonely Way in the Panel Long Enough.

Patrick Hart was upon trial yesterday in the General Sessions, upon the charge of robbing Frank Wright, in Greene street. The evidence for the prosecution was to the effect that a policeman, as alleged, saw Hart rob Wright, and arrested him. The jury were out for two hours. Then they told Judge Cowing that they could not agree.

Hart's lawyer said that he would like to ask the jurors how they stood. Judge Cowing said that it would be improper to do that. The foreman said: "The jury would prefer not to tell," said the foreman. "Speak for yourself, Mr. Foreman," interposed the fourth juror. "I, for one, would like to tell the court just how we did stand, and why we could not agree."

"I do not care to hear, gentlemen," said Judge Cowing. "All that the court can with propriety have to do with your deliberations is to receive your verdict. As you say, however, that you cannot possibly reconcile your differences I will discharge you."

After the jury had left the box several of them told Assistant District Attorney Bedford that they stood eleven to one for the conviction of Hart within ten minutes after they retired. One juror, however, said that he was determined to acquit, and that he thought he could stay out as long as any of them. He had displayed a similar spirit in several other cases, the jurors said. Mr. Bedford said that he would submit the matter to Judge Cowing, with a view to having the juror excused from further duty.

AYE HIS OWN WARES.

Coconut Cakes that Made a Horse Sick Did Not Hurt the Vender.

Alfred and George Garnier of 59 James street were tried yesterday in the General Sessions, before Judge Cowing, upon the complaint of Policeman Kennedy of the sanitary squad, that they sold coconut cakes made of decayed cocoanuts. Dr. Cyrus Edson testified that, in his opinion, cakes that were seized were unfit for food. Before he examined them he gave some of them to his horse. They made the horse sick.

George Garnier testified that he and his uncle were careful to use only sound nuts, and that unsound nuts were pressed to make oil.

Two pounds of the cakes were on the prosecutor's table, and Mr. Bedford said:

"Suppose all the profits of this cake, and this, and this—until he had induced Garnier to eat a number of cakes of various shapes and colors.

"Now, sir, how do you feel?" he asked.

"All right," responded Garnier, bravely, "only a little thirsty." [Laughter.]

A juryman asked to be allowed to taste one of the cakes.

"Oh, no," said Mr. Bedford, "you are too precious to risk until the end of the term. This witness is a wonderful man. He has a stomach stronger than an ostrich's, but I never heard before of a stomach stronger than a horse's."

The jury acquitted the prisoners.

Small-pox in a Hotel.

David Jones, the two-year-old son of William Jones, the proprietor of the Eagle Hotel at 3 Morris street, died on Nov. 19 of what Dr. D. D. Thomas of 236 East Tenth street said was measles. On Sunday the child's mother, who is 48 years old, his sisters Catharine, aged 17, and Elizabeth, aged 15, and his brother John, aged 13, showed small-pox symptoms. They were removed to the Riverside Hospital yesterday, and the premises were fumigated.

It is now supposed that little David died, not of measles, but of small-pox, contracted from an immigrant who then boarded at the Eagle Hotel. Three younger members of the Jones family, who attend a public school, were vaccinated, and have not taken the disease.

A woman named Mandeman, living in the big tenement at 242 Monroe street, got small-pox some time ago, and locked herself in her room to escape going to the hospital. The health officers heard of it on Sunday, and she is now in the small-pox hospital.

Bernard Tinney Kicks Over a Hot Stove.

Bernard Tinney's wife, a hard-working and industrious woman, had to separate from him, and with her six children went to live in a little frame cottage which she owns in Eleventh avenue and Nineteenth street, Brooklyn. Tinney went to the house drunk on Sunday night, and insisted on remaining till morning. He abused his wife and children during the night, and in the morning he upset a hot stove with the intention, it is alleged, of carrying out his threat to burn down the house. His son buried to the Fifth avenue station and returned with two policemen, who found Tinney outside hurling stones through the windows. Justice Massey held him for examination on a charge of assaulting his wife, and also for attempted arson.

Brown from Dublin.

Two dozen boarding house keepers have complained to Inspector Byrnes that their houses have been robbed by a well-dressed elderly man, with side whiskers, who came to look at the rooms. On Aug. 31, calling himself John Brown, a clerk at Macy's, he inquired about a vacant room in Mrs. Esther Many's house on 234 West Fourteenth street. Jewelry and clothing disappeared with him. Yesterday he went to Mrs. Martin's house at 317 West Twelfth street and said he wanted board. When he said he was Brown from Macy's Mrs. Martin sent for a policeman. Mrs. Mary Morris of 28 Jefferson street identified him as the man who stole a pair of earrings and a gold ring from her house on Friday last. He was locked up. He says he is a literary man from Dublin.

The Aldermen Go In for Squire.

The Board of Aldermen went through the form of considering yesterday the provisional estimates of the city budget for 1886. They have no power to increase or decrease any item, and can only recommend changes. They advised that instead of appropriating $5,000 for the celebration of the completion of the Bartholdi statue only $2,500 be appropriated, and that $2,500 be appropriated to purchase the portrait of Grant by Constant Mayer. The Aldermen also advised the appropriation of an increased amount for Commissioner Squire. The Board of Estimate will doubtless cut down the budget, rather than increase it.

The Druggist says Opium was Called For.

Chester T. Milligan, a druggist in Third avenue, near 147th street, was on trial yesterday in the Oyer and Terminer for manslaughter in the second degree. Mrs. Mary Madden testified that she applied to Milligan for a cough medicine for her babe, and that Milligan gave her a package containing Dover's powders, which was intended for somebody else. The child died after taking the opium. Milligan testified that Mrs. Madden asked for Dover's powders, and the jury acquitted him.

Uncomfortable Outlook for Winter.

Broadway was blocked below Chambers street last evening, and the Broadway squad had to work hard. The Sergeant was angry.

"This is simply an outrage," he said. "The Broadway Company are laying a track near the Astor House, and all traffic is shoveled from Chambers street down. They have the privilege to repair their tracks, but it's an outrage that they should be permitted to do so during the busy hours. What will take place in winter, if this is a sample block when the streets are clear, is something hard to imagine."

More Whiskey than Malice.

The workmen on the new German Lutheran Church at Lexington avenue and Eighty-eighth street struck a week ago for higher wages. Their places were supplied by new men. Yesterday Michael Garry and James Castle, two of the strikers, went to the half-finished building and began interfering with the new workmen. They were arrested, and sent to the Island for a month for intoxication.

SHE KILLED HERSELF WITH CHLORAL.

Melancholy Mamie Houghton Found Unconscious While on a Visit.

Mamie Houghton, aged 19, was removed to the Flatbush Hospital from her brother's home in that town on Friday last unconscious. She died on Sunday after confessing to the house surgeon that she had taken chloral. She was a nurse in the family of Charles Hubbard, a dentist in Sixth avenue, Brooklyn. It is said she has been in the habit of purchasing chloral for some person, and in that way had become accustomed to use the drug.

For some time she had been melancholy. She could neither read nor write, but she frequently inquired about suicides reported in the papers. It is said she attempted to kill herself a few weeks ago by jumping from a window. She was found slightly injured, in the yard. She went to Flatbush on Friday to visit her brother and sister-in-law. In the evening she became unconscious and was removed to the hospital. A story got abroad yesterday that she had been poisoned by one of her relatives, but a careful investigation by the police authorities showed there was no foundation for it. An inquest will be held to-morrow.

WHEN A WOMAN WON'T SHE WON'T.

Sometimes she Will, Though, Rather than Ride in an Apple Cart.

Bessie Durrell got a warrant at Essex Market yesterday for her landlady, Caroline Whitman of 29 Rivington street, for assault. Policeman Weiss went to serve it. Mrs. Whitman told him she was too ill to go to court. He told her she must go. Mrs. Whitman plumped herself down on a sofa and said she wouldn't go, and he could not make her.

Weiss went away and came back with Sergeant Cahill. "You really must come, madam," said the Sergeant.

"I won't—so there; and all the police in New York can't make me, sick as I am," said Mrs. Whitman.

Cahill and Weiss conferred together for a few moments in a whisper, and then Cahill spoke up aloud.

"Yes, bring the first vender's wagon you find."

Mrs. Whitman screamed. "What! Put me into a filthy vender's wagon!" she cried. "I'll die first!"

"We don't like to do it, but if we are forced to do it it is not our fault, you know," the sergeant explained.

Mrs Whitman patted the floor with her right foot for ten minutes. Then an Italian's long apple cart was heard on the paving stones outside. Mrs. Whitman jumped to her feet and screamed up stairs to a servant, "Bring me my dolman."

She had the dolman on just as Policeman Weiss pulled the front door bell. Mrs. Whitman eyed the apple cart contemptuously as she passed it, and she walked comfortably to court with Sergeant Cahill. Justice Power let her go on bail until she recovers her health.

MESSENGER AND MONEY GONE.

Commissioner Stark Tells Some Interesting News to the Gibbs Committee.

Dock Commissioner Stark was examined yesterday by the Gibbs committee. Lawyer John H. Strahan wanted to know of what use the Dock Commissioners were to the city. He found that the Commissioners occasionally went down to look at the docks, but was unable to get any details of any work that they had supervised there. All suggestions for improvements came from the engineer of the department, not the Commissioners, who never had a thought on the subject.

Mr. Stark said further that when bids for improving the docks at the foot of Little West Twelfth and West Seventeenth street were opened two weeks ago, Messenger William S. Johnson had been sent to the Comptroller's office with $793.50 belonging to bidders who were not successful. He said the said Johnson and the said $793.50 have not been heard from since.

Mr. Stark said the Commissioners made up the defalcation among themselves.

The Sag Harbor Farmer's Spree.

William Stone, a farmer of Sag Harbor, who is 40 years old, came to New York on Saturday and was robbed of $230 in the house 439 Fourth avenue. He had all the inmates arrested. Agnes Hunter, one of them, had given $115 to Dennis Rhing, a barkeeper of 99 Lexington avenue, to whom $100 of the amount was recovered. Maria May, the keeper of the house, Kitty Lee, and Agnes Hunter are locked up for examination, and two white women, two negresses, and one man were fined $10 each yesterday.

Sarony's Daughter Married by the Mayor.

Napoleon Bonaparte Sarony, the artist, smiled all over yesterday morning as he walked into the Mayor's office with his daughter, Isabella Louise Sarony, and saw her married by Mayor Grace to Joseph Bonanno, a civil engineer, of this city. The civil marriage was pursuant to an Italian custom, and is to be followed by a religious marriage ceremony.

The Negro Didn't Knife This Policeman.

Policeman Taylor of the Charles street station arrested yesterday James Johnson, a colored waiter, of 14 Grand street, for stealing two pairs of shoes. At Fourth and Charles streets Johnson turned on the officer and lunged at him with a knife. Taylor put his pistol to Johnson's head and the latter dropped the knife.
