MINING NEWS.

A movement has been started at Aspen, Col., to build a smelter of 300 tons daily capacity at Grand Junction.

High-grade rock has been struck in the Crackerjack, Buffalo H[illegible]p, thirty feet from the mouth of the tunnel. This is one of the Clark & Sweeney enterprises.

A consignment of ore from the Barrett mine of the Copper King Company, taken sixty feet from the surface, was assayed by a New York firm this week. It returned $2 gold, 80 cents silver and 43⅓ per cent. copper.

The Copper Coin group, Morgan county, Utah, according to the enthusiastic report of an expert, is one of the richest propositions in the country. He talks of ores containing 67 per cent. copper and showing native silver at the grass roots and continuing to over forty feet in depth on an incline. He predicts a rush to the district, and evidently framed his report to precipitate it.

Another wonderful Utah story comes from Eureka, where it is said the Star Consolidated has broken into a large cave, showing immense bodies of ore carrying values of $6 gold, 100 to 500 ounces silver, and 16 per cent. lead. The cave, whose walls and roof are covered with limestone stalactites, behind which the rich ore is found, is about 600 feet from the old Gundry Tunnel. Fifty tons of ore have been broken down, and three shifts have been started on stoping operations.

Writing from Zaragoza, Colombia, Superintendent Stokes of the Santa Barbara Gold Placer Company of this city says: "I am setting a string of seven sluice boxes and have put a force of men to work washing gravel. This is the first actual work in the way of producing gold dust. I have a dam laid out that will double the water supply. I propose to strengthen the old sluice gate and add three feet to the height of the dam. This water added to that lifted by the pump will enable me to wash considerable gravel between now and Christmas, when the dry weather comes on."

Mining men of British Columbia are opposed to the booming methods employed in the East. More than one protest has been issued about the manner in which mining companies are sometimes exploited, and the press of the province has been prompt to expose anything that savored of exaggeration or what has been termed "speculative staking." Now comes the News-Advertiser of Vancouver with the following item: "It is noted that 'boom' reports of certain properties are being sent out from Victoria and Rossland. It is hoped that this will cease, as nothing but harm to the province can result from this method. For instance, the annual meeting of the Fontenoy Gold Mining Company was held in Victoria on Wednesday, and the Eastern press has been informed that this Camp McKinney property is 'rapidly acquiring a reputation as an early bonanza.' This is far from the truth. Everybody hopes that the Fontenoy will turn out a good mine, but at present it can only be a prospect."

MINING MACHINERY.—FRASER & CHALMERS, 80 Broadway, New York, manufacturers of mining and smelting machinery. Estimates on mining, milling and smelting supplies promptly furnished.
