Some Cold Winters
 The wine frosts in Flanders in 1668 and the soldiers to whom it was distributed had to cut it in pieces with hatchets.
 The River Sebelt was frozen over sufficiently hard for three months in 1865 to bear the traffic of loaded wagons.
 All the rivers of Europe were frozen over and the Venetian fleet was frozen up in the lagoons of the Adriatic at Venice in 1621 and 1622.
 The winter of 1658 was a hard one in Europe. Charles X. of Sweden, crossed on the ice the Little Belt, the strait between Fuenen and the peninsula of Jutland, with his entire army, foot, horse, baggage and artillery. The rivers in Italy bore heavy carriages.
 There was a coating of ice 61 inches thick on the Thames in England in 1664, and in 1684 the ice was again thick enough on the Thames to support coaches which were driven across it.
 The winters of 1691 and 1693 were so severe in Austria that the wolves entered Vienna and attacked men and beasts in the streets.
 The winter of 1709 is called by distinction "the cold winter." All the rivers and lakes of Europe were frozen over and so was the sea for several miles from the shore. In England the ground was frozen nine feet deep. Birds and beasts died in the fields and men perished by thousands in their houses. In the south of France the olive trees were killed and wine plantations destroyed. The Adriatic Sea was frozen and even the Mediterranean—about Genoa. The citron and orange groves suffered in Italy.
 Fairs were held on the ice on the River Thames in the winter of 1716.
 And travelers crossed on the ice from Copenhagen to Sweden.
 Multitudes of cattle and sheep were buried in the snow in Scotland in the winter of 1728.
 In January, 1737, the ground was frozen to a depth of four feet in New England.—Selected.

Queer Brushes And Combs How animals make their toilets and keep themselves neat and tidy is an interesting study. Most of them are by nature cleanly and each has its own peculiar way of keeping so.
 The cat carries her clothes-brush in her mouth, for with her rough tongue she cleanses her glossy coat as a boy brushes off his clothes.
 She licks one of her front paws and rubs it over her face, and she is ready for her breakfast.
 Foxes, dogs, and wolves do not use their mouths when they need to wash and brush, but scratch themselves vigorously with their hind paws, and are as fresh as ever.
 The cow, with her long, rough tongue, combs her coat of hair until it is clean and curly. The horse, more than any other animal, depends on his owner to keep his coat in proper condition, but often he will roll on the green grass or rub himself down against a tree or fence.
 Field mice comb their hair with their hind legs, and the fur-seal in a similar manner spends as much time as a woman in making herself look smart.
 Although the elephant appears to be thick-skinned and callous, he takes great care of his skin. He often gives himself a shower bath by drawing water into his long trunk and blowing it on the different parts of his body. After the bath he sometimes rolls himself in a toilet preparation of dust to keep off the flies.
How Good News Spreads.
 "I am 70 years old and travel most of the time," writes B. F. Tolson, of Elizabethtown, Ky. "Everywhere I go I recommend Electric Bitters, because I owe my excellent health and vitality to them. They effect a cure every time." They never fail to tone the stomach, regulate the kidneys and bowels, stimulate the liver, invigorate the nerves and purify the blood. They work wonders for weak, run-down men and women, restoring strength, vigor and health that's a daily joy.
 Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction

A Little Tongue-Tied.
 A well-dressed man entered a florist's shop, threw down a sov-eign, and said he wanted some flowers to take home. He was very unsteady, and had evidently been looking on the wine when it was red.
 The florist apparently was intended as a domestic peace offering.
 The florist picked out a dozen chrysanthemums, and the customer started to leave.
 At the door he hesitated.
 "I say," he said, thickly, "wash these flowers called?"
 "Chrysanthemums."
 The customer shook his head.
 "Got to have something easier than that," he said. "Gimme a dozen pinks."—Tit-Bits.
Saved By His Cats.
 A merchant who once resided at Messina had two favorite cats, and their manner previous to an earthquake saved his life. Before the shock occurred, these animals were anxiously endeavoring to work their way through the floor. Their master, observing their fruitless labors, opened the door for them. At a second and third floor they repeated their efforts; and on being set completely at liberty they ran straight along the street and out of the gate of the town.
 The merchant, whose curiosity was excited by this strange conduct, followed the animals out of the town into the fields, and there saw them scratching and burrowing in the earth. Soon after there was a violent shock of an earthquake, and many of the houses in the city, of which the merchant's was one, fell down, so that he was indebted for his life to the singular forebodings of these animals.—Young Folks' Catholic Weekly.
An Awful Eruption
 of a volcano excites brief interest, and your interest in skin eruptions will be as short, if you use Bucklen's Arnica Salve, their quickest cure. Even the worst boils, ulcers, or fever sores are soon healed by
 it. Best for Pores, Cuts, Bruises, Sores Lips, Chapped Hands, Chilblains and Piles. It gives instant relief. 25c at J. J. Norris, Leonard-town, Md.

Strengthening His Last Hops.
 The best tale of the challenging of jurors comes from Ireland, by the way of the London Chronicle.
 The prisoner was hard to satisfy, and juryman after juryman was asked to leave the box. However, all things come to an end, even in Ireland, and at last the swearing of the jury was completed. Then the prisoner leaned over the dock and sought the ear of his solicitor.
 "The jury's all right now, I think," he whispered, "but ye must challenge the judge. I've been convicted under him several times already, and maybe he's beginnin' to have a prejudice."
Give Them Away.
 There are a lot of old magazines and books that you might give away.
 In these days of cheap reading the average house is pretty well cumbered with them. No one gets time to keep up with the current issue, so there is small danger of their getting a chance at the back numbers. And yet they are saved and moved about until they become a reproach to good order and cleanliness. Even the ones which were put by for some special article are kept until the one who saved could not tell what it was all about to save her life. And yet there are so many homes where magazines are a luxury where the old year's numbers would mean evenings of delight, entertainment and instruction. Why not give them to such people? They have fulfilled their mission in your home.
Military Arithmetic.
 "About how many rebels are there in the field, Mr. President?" inquired an anxious friend of President Lincoln, during the War Between the States.
 "Twelve hundred thousand," answered the President. Impressively, "Good heavens!" gasped the visitor.
 "Yes, sir, twelve hundred thousand at least—not a doubt of it. You see we have only four hundred thousand men, and whenever any of our generals get whipped good and hard they report that the enemy outnumbered us three or five to one. Yes, sir, twelve hundred thousand men at least—not a doubt of it."
