BRIDGE ISSUE UP TO VOTERS

West Waterway Span Project Goes to Ballot

The citizens of Seattle will approve or reject a bond issue of $1,500,000 for a new bridge across the West waterway, at Spokane st. at the municipal election on March 2.

The city council unanimously voted to submit the proposed bond issue to a popular vote when it met Monday afternoon.

The fate of the proposed bond issues of $500,000 for the purchase of an aviation field and $750,000 for the improvement of the municipal park and boulevard system, is not so certain.

Councilman John E. Carroll, sponsor for the aviation bond issue, learned Monday that one member of the council who voted in favor of the aviation program in the committee of the whole, intended to cast his vote against the proposition when it came to a vote in the regular council meeting. Moved by this information, Councilman Carroll moved that action on the aviation bond issue be deferred for one week.

The vote in the committee of the whole on the aviation program was so close that Councilman Carroll feared it would go by the board, if brought to a vote Monday.

Double Honeymoon Is Being Spent in Spokane's Prison

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Neilson and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Eremick are spending their honeymoons in the city jail here today, following a double wedding late yesterday.

The quartet is under arrest in connection with huge thefts of cocaine and silks. When brought in they averred they were married.

Later they admitted they weren't, but said they wanted to be.

"Go to it," said the cops.

Mrs. Neilson drew 30 days and was fined $100 in police court late yesterday. Neilson and Emerick face second degree burglary charges.

G. O. P. IS BUSY WITH PROGRAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, and regional leaders of that party today resumed the task of organization for the national campaign.

Declaring he is to referee the presidential contest in the national republican convention, Hays said he would see to it that it is a fair and square job.

"My business is to elect candidates and not to select them," he asserted. "There are no factions in the republican party. There are no yesterdays in our politics. We are together now because we have work to do for the good of the country and it takes us all to do it."

Indian Victim of White Man, Court Decides

The fast vanishing Indian is often the innocent victim of the white man's wiles. And generally he gets the worst of it. But when George Roger, Siwash Indian, and his squaw, Jennie, each carrying a child, appeared in Justice Otis W. Brinker's court Monday to answer to a charge of larceny, they pleaded their innocence so guilelessly that they succeeded in convincing the court they had been the victims of duplicity.

The property in question was a 60-fathom smelt drag seine. Roger pleaded he had purchased the seine from a white man and did not know it had been stolen.

"It was the white man who stole it and sold it to the innocent Indian," Attorney John J. Sullivan pleaded. And Justice Brinker believed him and dismissed the case against the Siwash.

Pioneer Is Dead

Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy Jane Esary, widely known pioneer of Seattle, who died at Camano last Sunday afternoon, will be held at the Bonney-Watson chapel at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Esary, who was 88 years old, is survived by six children, 21 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren. The surviving children are James D. Esary, president of the Island Transportation Co.; Thomas A. Esary and David Esary, of Mt. Vernon; Mrs. W. L. Thompson, of Seattle; Mrs. J. O. Garrison, of Camano, and Mrs. William Goodman, visiting in Los Angeles.

Highwayman With Roman Nose Rides to Work in Auto

All that E. R. Cox, 1712½ E. Galer st., can recall is that the gun was big and the highwayman had a Roman nose.

Anyway, Cox was stopped by an armed robber at 12th ave. and E. Boston st. shortly after 12 o'clock Tuesday morning.

"Hands up!" commanded the stickup artist. Cox complied and gave up $4, all he had.

"Now beat it," came the second command. Cox did, but not until he watched the highwayman hop into an automobile half a block away and putt-putt toward Eastlake ave.

HAD TOO MANY SUITS, SO COPS ARREST HIM

Charles Forrest, 52, is held in the city jail Tuesday after being arrested by Detectives A. A. Brown and L. C. Harris, who say they found him in possession of several suits, all too large for him.
