CAMPBELL'S CASE.

A Review of the Treatment and Death of the Girl.

The Testimony in the Case, the Drugs Used and the Binding Over of the Doctor—His Bondsmen.

The arrest of Dr. William Campbell, charged with manslaughter, has aroused more than usual local interest during the past week. The doctor is one of our oldest citizens, coming here in the winter of 1850, nearly forty-two years and during the past nine years has been totally blind.

Told in a connective form, the following seems to be the status of the case so far as the facts have been elicited:

Some weeks ago William Linton, a newcomer to the city, conveyed to Dr. Campbell the fact that he had a daughter about 14 years of age subject to epileptic fits, the paroxysms occurring once in three or four weeks. The doctor gave Mr. Linton assurances that the girl could be cured if she possessed sufficient vitality. Upon the girl's arrival from the east, the doctor was permitted to commence his treatment upon her. He commenced treating her September 22d. At that time her bodily condition was good, her weight being 135 pounds. His treatment during the first two weeks consisted of giving hot drops and a mixture, a teaspoonful of each three times a day. The mixture consisted of lobelia, capsicum, gum myrrh and whisky. At the end of two weeks she was put to bed and given a teaspoonful of lobelia, a teaspoonful of capsicum in a two-thirds teacupful of raspberry leaf tea. This was given five times on alternate days, the doses being at intervals of twelve minutes. Each five doses was called a course. These courses were to continue until there was a crisis. Accompanying the courses an injection of the same preparation was administered daily.

The testimony of Drs. Adams and Jento, as to the effect of these drugs, was given in detail at the examination before Justice Rathbun yesterday afternoon. Lobelia in from ten to fifteen drops is an expectorant; in from thirty to sixty drops is an emetic, with depressing effects. In doses of from seventy-five to one hundred grains of the powder it is poisonous. Capsicum in from two to five grains is a stimulant In doses of from twenty to sixty grains it causes congestion of the mucus membrane of the stomach. In larger doses it is followed by inflammation. An ordinary teaspoonful of either, contains about 60 grains. Dr. Jento was asked to state the effect upon a patient of a teaspoonful of each administered five times at intervals of twelve minutes on alternate days for a period of two weeks. His answer was: "That would be ten doses, with probably 60 grains to the dose, which would make 600 grains. A poisonous dose is 100 grains, but varies. I would consider the above dose as poisonous and would most probably be fatal."

Dr. Adams' testimony was similar and added that in case of an epileptic, the dose "would be of no benefit to the epilepsy."

The defense declined to put in any evidence and asked that the accused be admitted to bail.

In fixing the bail Justice Rathbun said it was proper to take into consideration the nature of the evidence, the ability of the accused to furnish bail and in this case he would consider the physical infirmities of the accused. The evidence is somewhat damaging; the defendant is a man of considerable means, but his enfeebled condition militates toward a low bond. The amount was fixed at $2000. The bond was shortly filed with Dr. A. B. Woodard and Mayor J. C. Horr as sureties.

The prosecution was conducted by Deputy County Attorney W. J. Milroy and the defense by Messrs. Baily and Church.

Upon what line the defense will be conducted at the trial was not given out further than that no statute exists explicitly defining the acts charged as a crime. The docter will also claim that his directions given were not followed by those caring for the girl.

The case will come up at the January term of the superior court.

"Incog" Tomorrow Night.

The company which will give the play of "Incog" at the Theater Wednesday night is one of the best in the country, and the farce is one of the most laughable ever seen here. There is nothing coarse or vulgar about it. Ellen Burg, the leading lady of the "Incog" company, was prior to this season considered one of the best actresses on the German stage. Of American birth but German descent, she spoke both languages equally well, and went to Europe when only 15 years old and studied at the famous school of the Deutsche Theatre, from whence she graduated with honors and immediately took a position as leading lady in one of the principal German stock companies, after which she started through Germany and Russia and supported Possert, the great tragedian. For the past two seasons she has been leading lady at Amburg's Theatre, New York City, and during that time created parts in plays, afterward translated by Augustin Daly and played by Ada Rehan.

Within the past two weeks a great change has come over the trees in our forests and they are at last putting on, and very rapidly, too, the red and yellow tints that it was feared they would not wear at all this season. The leaves are not as pretty as usual, however, and seem to be dropping rapidly, while on some varieties of trees the color has not changed much, but they are touched with cold and withered.

DO YOU DESIRE TO BUILD A HOME? If so, subscribe for stock in the Olympia Building & Loan Association, an organization confined exclusively to Thurston Co. Capital stock, $500,000; par value $200. Monthly payments, $1.

Trustees—T. C. Van Epps, J. R. Chaplin, Joseph Chilberg, John McClennan, E. W. Andrews, C. J. Lord, Homer C. Atwell, S. C. Woodruff and A. W. Wisner.

Let us see what it will cost you on the supposition that your stock will be worth par in seven years:

With five shares of stock and on approved security, you will be entitled to a loan of $1000. Your monthly dues will be $5 and your monthly interest will be $8, making a total monthly payment of $13. Your total monthly payments for seven years will be $1,092. To this we will add as the result of competitive bidding, a premium of say 15 per cent., or $150, making the total paid by you in seven years $1,242, from which deduct the amount you received, $1,000, and we have the total interest paid by you in seven years, $242. You will see that this is a trifle less than 3½ per cent. per annum.

No Building and Loan Association located outside of your own city and pretending to do business here can offer the same security and benefits that our local Association can give to investors, and we would request all persons intending to take stock in outside Associations to investigate our methods before investing.

Foreign Associations are generally operated not with the intention of making loans, but rather with the expectation that holders of stock away from the home office will forfeit their investments to a few managing members.

Our Trustees are all elected at home from among our our members, and each stockholder is entitled to one vote for every share owned by him.

Our officers are under proper bonds, and our books are always open for the inspection of all stockholders.

Further information will be furnished on application.
