The first exercises of the Alumnae and Ladies' Retreat at the Academy will be 8 p. m., on Sunday. Those who are to remain at the Academy during retreat should try to be in for this exercise. Mass will be at 7 a. m., every morning for those in or near town who are making the retreat.

The Alumnae Ball at Hotel St. Mary's on Tuesday evening was a fitting conclusion and crown of our Academic year in Leonardtown. Clarke's Band from La Plata arrived a little late but soon made up for lost time; nearly every number on the program was encored and thus prolonged the all too short hours of the evening's social pleasure and merriment.

The closing exercises at St. Mary's Seminary held on Thursday last were most impressive and instructive. There was so large a gathering that a number were forced to stand on the outside of the hall. The music and essays were especially fine and the able address to the graduates by Prof. Geo. W. Joy will long be remembered by those who attended. After the exercises a luncheon was served in the refectory.

Back to the Farm Movement. The firm of J. Bolgiano & Son established this year in connection with their seed business quite a novel plan to promote the back to the farm movement. This is what they term their Free Employment Department under the management of Mr. Claude B. Ramsay.

Several hundred people have already found profitable and healthful employment through the mediums of this department with absolutely no cost either to the employer or the employee.

The firm is spending large sums of money in advertising in order to bring the unemployed back to the healthful farm life.

Mr. Ramsey stated he finds among the applicants, mostly men who have been born and reared on the farm, are from ties of the wealth that could so easily be acquired in the big cities, they had been lured from a good livelihood in the country to the city in search of some of the so easily gotten wealth. With the majority, it takes but a very limited time for them to find out their mistake and they are more than glad to have another opportunity in the country.

Every applicant's past record is carefully searched and only those who are found to be honest, reliable, sober, capable men of good character are given consideration.

With the employer, it has been found to be a mighty great help; as by simply applying to this department, they are furnished with help that can be relied upon and are thereby relieved of the trouble, worry and annoyance occasioned in order to get help of this character and, besides, without any cost to them.

St. Mary's Academy Commencement, 1914.

The 28th Annual Commencement of St. Mary's Academy, Leonardtown, Md., was held on Tuesday morning in the Academy Hall. The program opened with a Welcome Chorus from Pinsuti, rendered by the entire school with choral effects. The Seniors' Grand Floral March elicited continuous applause.

The dominating theme of the exercises was "Duty," illustrated by choral singing and tableaux vivants, of St. Cecilia and Blessed Joan of Arc, as types of Duty tried and proven. Miss Elsie Collins, '14, sustained the main roll in the recitation, assisted by the Misses Mary Burch, Edith Ching, Elizabeth Edwards and Pauline Greenwell.

In the first tableau, Miss Mary Lawler impersonated St. Cecilia. She was surrounded by a chorus of christian maidens and choir of invisible angels could be heard in the distance chanting a welcome to that charming christian martyr.

Miss Sallie Greenwell impersonated the second type of duty. Blessed Joan of Arc, the angel voices, now so famous could be heard calling to the sweet Maid of Orleans. Somber and maidens chanted her dirge and hushed for a time the merry song of the little maids of Rouen.

The final tableau was strikingly beautiful and majestic: It was a vision of religion, characterized by Miss Jeannette Bowling, crowning the two Heroines of Duty. About the trio were grouped the angels, the christian maidens, the villagers of Domremy and the little maids of Rouen. The scenic and choral climax came with the triumphant Hymn of Praise from Benedict's St. Cecilia.

Miss Elsie Collins delivered a noble and touching Valedictory on "Ideals," in harmony with the theme of the day, "Duty." The closing chorus was Wilkins' "Jubilant Deo." The unusually large school this year brought a large audience from outside the county, and from the District of Columbia.

Rev. L. J. Kelly, S. J., conferred the honors and medals and Rev. Jas. I. Moakley, S. J., of St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, made the address of the day. He congratulated the people of Southern Maryland for having in their midst such an institution as the Academy with its peerless training of mind and heart and soul. The exercises of the day were abundant evidence of that training even if there were no others such as can be seen wherever the graduates and pupils of the Academy have exerted their influence and followed their ideals. While not denying the ability to vote intelligently the Reverend Speaker hoped our women would never forget that their Kingdom was at home and that they would never descend from that height to the oft times degrading field of politics. He exhorted the people of St. Mary's to do in their measure for the Academy what the wealthy patrons of Smith, Bryn Mawr and other women's Colleges are doing for them.

First Literary Honors were conferred on the only graduate of this year, Miss Elsie R. Collins, of Richmond, Va. Gold Medals for Christian Doctrine were awarded as follows: First Class—Miss Edith Ching. Second Class—Miss Ula Hbari. Third Class—Miss Elsie Matthews. Fourth Class—Miss Catharine Greenwell.

Fifth Class—Miss Marie Greenwell. Sixth Class—Miss Ethel Grayson. Roll of Honor Gold Medal was drawn by Miss Thelma Graves. Forty-nine had qualified for this medal.

The Gold Medal for Fidelity was drawn by Miss Sallie Greenwell; for Astronomy, by Miss Elsie Collins; for Composition, by Miss Marie Greenwell; for Education, by Miss Mary W. Greenwell; for Mathematics, by Miss Catharine Wathen; for Boarders' Premium for General Education was awarded to Miss Regina Abell.

Class Medals were awarded as follows: Second Senior—Miss Edith Ching. Third Senior—Miss Sallie Greenwell. Fourth Senior—Miss Helene Greenwell.

In the Grammar Grades, from Eighth Grade down Class Medals and Premiums were awarded as follows: Eighth Grade—Miss Marguerite Hebb. Seventh Grade—Miss Mary B. Hamilton. Sixth Grade—Miss Madeline Russell. Fifth Grade—Miss Ethel Grayson. Fourth Grade—Master Benedict Druy.

In the Primary Grade, Miss Hope Greenwell won the Premium. The Gold Medal for Domestic Science was competed for by a large class and drawn by Miss Katie McLaughlin. Palmer Diplomas for Fidelity were awarded to Misses Catharine Mattingly and Ruth Waters.

Diplomas for Twentieth-Century Bookkeeping were awarded to Misses Etta E. Ewy and M. Jeannette Bowling. On July 3, 1913, the Atlantic Gold Medal for Penmanship was awarded to St. Mary's Academy over all the Academies of Delaware, Maryland and the South Atlantic States.

Corpus Christi Procession. The annual procession of the Sacred Heart League of St. Aloysius Parish and the two local schools took place on Sunday afternoon. About 300 were in line, including the students of Leonard Hall and St. Mary's Academy. The procession headed by a detail from the St. Mary's Industrial Junior Band, marched from the Academy to the Church Lawn, benediction being given at both places. Immediately in front of the Blessed Sacrament, in the place of honor were the little ones of this year's First Communion class; but not the full number, as the threatening rain kept many away. In the church, Father Moakley delivered a fervent discourse on this public act of homage to the Blessed Sacrament and on the honor of "Walking with God" enjoyed by all who took part in the procession. Before the closing act of Benediction, decorations were conferred on the six highest degrees of the Academy Apostleship of Study. Miss Elsie R. Collins received the highest or papal colors and to all was given the apostolic blessing. Promoters crosses and diplomas were also conferred on the officers of the Academy League of the Sacred Heart.

Religious Notices. Pentecostal Church of the Nazarene: Preaching as follows: Sunday, June 21, Hammett's Chapel at 10:30 a. m.; Hollywood at 3 p. m., and 7:30 p. m. D. W. SWENEY, Pastor.

Leonard Hall Commencement.

The commencement exercises at Leonard Hall, held on Monday last, was well up to the usual high standard of excellence maintained at this institution, and a large number of friends of the college were greatly pleased with the very creditable showings made by the students. The Band of St. Mary's Industrial School, Baltimore, furnished music and the choruses and declamations of the students were especially fine. The stage was attractively decorated with color pennants and draped with the fall colors. It was erected upon the campus in front of the main building and the shade afforded by the large trees that flanked the approach to the school afforded ample shade.

Mr. C. Henry Camiller and Mr. C. Combs Burch received diplomas. The special feature of the occasion, however, was undoubtedly the eloquent and scholarly address to the graduates delivered by the Rev. P. E. Conroy, of Bryantown, Md. Father Conroy showed how the history of St. Mary's county forms part of the history of the great work of the Catholic Church, her institutions and her sacred ministers in the social and educational uplift of mankind. The splendid history of this county is a witness to the age-long work, and as so also the present. The orator quoted notable educational authorities of our time to show how justified is the contention of Catholics for religious teaching in schools, in order that an education in the full meaning of the word be realized; and he showed how admirably such an education, at once practical and ideal, is provided by the skilled teachers of Leonard Hall, arguing briefly for the future of our county. We expect to reproduce Father Conroy's speech in full in next week's issue.

A Card From Scotland. I, the writer, wishes to ask in public if it is a matter of fact that the respectable citizens of our district has got to be deprived of their pleasure and rights by drunken men on Sundays laying around the public highways? Is there not a law to prohibit the rum shop doors from being thrown open to the public on Sundays? It seems to me that Sunday is their special day to sell the drink of which I pronounce a disgrace to our country, and, moreover, those who make a practice of selling liquor on Sunday, are the same disgrace to the community as those who drink it, as we all well know that Sunday, the Holy Sabbath, is and was a day set aside for better purposes than to be spent in a dirty rum shop.

Hoping I have some good friends who may be willing to take part with me on this subject, I am, for respect to the public, T. A. RIDGELL.

Dedication Services. The new Mt. Zion Methodist Episcopal church at Laurel Grove, will be dedicated June 28, 1914. Meetings will be held all day Sunday, June 28th, beginning with a Love Feast at 9:45 a. m. The pastor, Rev. Dr. W. Willberforce Costin, of Leonardtown, will be in charge of the services. High church officials, former pastors and neighboring ministers, of St. Mary's and adjoining counties, will be present. The Brotherhood Gospel Singers from Baltimore will be in charge of the singing.

The new Mt. Zion church is the finest of the denomination in Southern Maryland. The public is cordially invited to attend the dedicatory services.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is to be at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and curing the system, it thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. A Chapter From Southern Maryland History

It was Southern Maryland who gave to the world Roger Brooke Taney of Calvert county; Attorney General, Secretary of the Treasury, and Chief Justice of the United States; the only son of Maryland who ever held that exalted position, and whose decision in the Dred Scott case electrified the nation.

Other sons of Southern Maryland who have distinguished themselves by services at various times as Cabinet Officers, were Stoddard, Secretary of the Navy; the eloquent Pinckney of Anne Arundel, and that intellectual giant Beverly Johnson, born in Annapolis, was Attorney General, twice U. S. Senator, and Minister to the Court of St. James, and than whom Maryland has given the country no greater son.

There have been in the United States Senate from Southern Maryland, the great Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Richard Potts, born in Upper Marlboro, William Pinckney, Joseph Kent, Thomas C. Pratt, and the brilliant William D. Merriek of Charles.

At the close of the Revolution, Southern Maryland contained a scant fifth of the white population of the State, and a hundred years later had only a tenth, yet of the 39 Governors elected during that century, eleven were natives of Southern Maryland. They were Thomas Johnson and Joseph Kent of Calvert; George Plater, that brilliant lawyer and member of Congress, and James Thomas from St. Mary's; Charles sent John Hoskins Stone, and Prince George's gift to the State, were Thomas Sim Lee, Benjamin Ogle of Bel Air, son of a Colonial Governor, Samuel Sprigg or Northampton, Thomas C. Pratt, Robert Bowie, an officer of the Revolution, and Oden Bowie, whose gift of leadership, during the dark days of the Civil War held the Democratic party intact, and leading it to victory, received the largest majority ever given a candidate for Governor in this State.

Among that host of Southern Marylanders who have filled exalted positions can be mentioned, William Turner Wootton of Prince George's, Maryland's Secretary of State who narrowly missed being Governor; Judge Wm. G. D. Worthington, who was born in Anne Arundel, was the first Minister of the United States to Venezuela, Special Agent to Greece and first Territorial Governor of Florida; Richard I. Bowie, Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, member of Congress from the 5th District, and the last candidate nominated for Governor by the Whig party; and Judge Wm. M. Merriek of Charles, Member of Congress and Chief Justice of the District of Columbia.

Southern Maryland furnished a large portion of the militia which met the British in the war of 1812 at Bladensburg, and later helped to defeat them at North Point, where the old 15th Regiment of Baltimore so gallantly upheld the glory of the Maryland Line.

In the war with Mexico men from the lower counties fought at Monterey, and at Palo Alto under Edgely and Ringold, turned the tide of battle to victory.

The history of Southern Maryland during the titanic struggle of the Civil War is known to all. The formation of the Planters Guard in Prince George's, clad in all the panoply of waving plumes and gorgeous epaulets, commanded by Captain John Contee, was but a prelude to the grim reality. Many Southern Marylanders died on an hundred battle fields, while on the sea Raphael Semmes of Charles county commanded the Alabama, that terrible scourge to the shipping of the North.

The southern counties have furnished a gallant array of soldiers, lawyers and statesmen, but her sons who served the Prince of Peace were no less notable. The first Bishop of the Episcopal Church consecrated in America, and distinguished for his eloquence and lofty character, was Thomas John Claggett, born near Nottingham. The first Archbishop of the Catholic Church in America, was John Carroll, born in Upper Marlboro. He founded the University of Georgetown, D. C., and laid the corner stone of the Baltimore Cathedral. Benjamin Contee, soldier of the Revolution, Member of Congress and Episcopal Divine, who divided the votes for Bishop with Claggett, was born near Nottingham. Parson Weems, of Calvert, who wrote the life of Washington, and the Rev. Walter Dulany Adger, of Oxon Hill, intimate friend of Washington, were some of the eminent churchmen from Southern Maryland.

As warriors and statesmen, jurists, priests or masters in commerce and industry, the men of the southern counties in successive generations have led in thought and action. Their indomitable resolution and genius for leadership have left their impress on their country's history and have gloriously demonstrated the valor, worth and patriotism of the race cradled in the lower Peninsula.

IN MEMORIAM. Heaven retook now our treasure, Earth alone our casket kept; And the sunbeams left no linger, While my darling brother sleeps. We miss his kind and willing hand— Thy fond and earnest care; Our home is dark without him; We miss him everywhere.

The Lord took from me my dear brother It was His holy will; And left in my heart a vacancy, Which no one else can fill.

Oh, how hard we tried to save him! But our cares were all in vain; Angels came and took him from us, He is with the Saviour, free from pain.

My darling brother is missing— His loving smiles so sweet; But now my brother is kneeling At our Blessed Saviour's feet.

I never will forget him, It was on this earth I stay; I know that he will meet me, When God calls me away. By his loving brother, TAKE HALL'S FAMILY PILLS FOR CONSTIPATION. (Enterprise please copy).

In loving memory of ALMA E. BRADY.

One year ago the most precious one on earth to me was taken away to dwell with the Angels above, and only those who have passed through this trying ordeal can sympathize with those who have loved, and loved loved ones. Although everything within our means was done for her, but all in vain. His will, not ours, must be done. It may be fair, but Oh! how sad to her loving father! June 14, 1914.

One long year, my darling, Since you were called away, And my heart is still aching, Just as it did that day.

I never shall forget you, While in this world I stay; I hope that we will meet again, When He calls me away. —By Her Devoted Father.

In sad but loving remembrance of our darling, ALMA E. BRADY, who departed this life one year ago today, June 14, 1914.

In a casket as white as snow flakes, Nestled all among the flowers, Lies our darling, blue-eyed Alma, Who such a little while was ours.

Time cannot heal our broken hearts, Nor fill her vacant chair; We miss our darling Alma— We miss her everywhere. God called her home, it was His will, But in our hearts we love her still; Her memory is as dear today, As in the hour she passed away. —By Her Devoted Parents.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear brother, HERBERT PILKINGTON, who departed this life two months ago, April 19, 1914, aged eight years and eleven months. Gone, but not forgotten.

We never shall forget him, While on this earth we stay; We know that he will meet us, When God calls us away.

And as we tread the thorny way, Which brothers' feet have trod; Ever shall we feel his prayers, Leading us up to God.

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, MARY E. EVANS, who departed this life one year ago, June 24th, 1913, in the 98th year of her age. Gone but not forgotten.

God called her home, it was His will, But in our hearts we love her still; Her memory is as dear today, As in the hour she passed away.

Thy hands are crossed upon my breast, We have kissed thy loving brow, And in our hearts we know, We have no mother now.

Oh, how we loved our mother dear, No heart on earth can tell, But Jesus loved her better, And called her home to dwell.

In the grave yard softly sleeping, Where the flowers gently wave, Lies one we love so dearly, In her lone and silent grave. —By her son, Warren and only daughter Ella.

Not Patented. Co-operation is the keynote in successful accident prevention work. Many large manufacturers who have designed accident prevention devices for their own use have not patented them in order that others may utilize their ideas. A large railroad company which has designed all of the accident prevention apparatus in use in its machine shops is willing to furnish blue-prints of the devices to those who desire to install them in their plants.

From any point of view the 1914 Overland is the world's greatest automobile value. It has with its powerful, smooth running, 35 horse power motor; its 114 inch wheel base and 33x4 tires, the largest and most powerful motor; the wheel base, and largest tires of any car at this price in the world; the roomiest tonneau and the finest and best finished chassis.

Overland Model 79

In the 1914 OVERLAND you get "a quality car at a quantity price," because the Willis-Overland Company will build 50,000 cars or nearly 800 a day for this season, which is more than all the other manufacturers in their class put together. They employ 10,000 men 12 months in the year; occupy 96 acres of floor space and are backed by a $50,000,000 factory, which is the secret of the price and the value of the 1914 Overland. The smaller manufacturer must charge from $1250 to $1500 for a similar car.
