

COTTONSEED MEAL IS ECONOMICAL DAIRY FOOD

Market Conditions Favorable To Use Of Cottonseed At This Time.

G. E. WOLCOTT, Maryland Agricultural Extension Service.

Owing to the conditions brought about by the war in Europe, a large part of the cottonseed cake hitherto shipped to foreign countries will be placed on the American market this winter. The large supply available has already reduced the price several dollars per ton.

Cottonseed meal is one of the richest protein feeds offered to the dairyman, containing as it does, 45 per cent of protein and 54 therms of energy. Ordinarily it is not advisable to feed more than 2 to 2.5 pounds per day.

As it is containing, some laxative feed should be used in the ration with cotton seed meal, such as bran, linseed meal, or the legume hay. Since cottonseed is rich in protein, it will be economy to supply a large part of the protein needed in the ration from this feed.

The following grain mixtures are suggested for grain production:

- 300 lb. corn or hominy chop
- 100 lb. wheat
- 100 lb. cottonseed meal

The above ration is calculated to be fed when the roughage is made up of silage and alfalfa or some other pasture hay such as timothy, cow peas, or soy beans. A part of the silage may be replaced by cut fodder. In case no legume hay can be had the following mixture will more nearly fill the requirements:

- 200 lb. corn or hominy chop
- 100 lb. bran
- 100 lb. cottonseed meal

The grain mixtures should be fed at the rate of one pound of grain to three pounds of milk produced. The cow should be given all the roughage she will consume without waste.

MARYLAND EXPERIMENT STATION ISSUES VALUABLE FREE BULLETIN ON THE HOG INDUSTRY.

It is common knowledge that the swine industry of Maryland is and has been for a number of years at a very low ebb in so far as the production of pork is concerned. Instead of raising our own farms enough hogs to supply the citizens of our towns and cities, we are actually importing every year from sister States vast quantities of pork and pork products to meet their demands. Yet in the face of this evidence practically every hog breeder within our borders will tell you that for the money invested there is no other animal on the farm which will yield so large a profit. If he merits this reputation, why is it that our farmers pay so little attention to him? To answer the question is difficult, but it is quite probable that the extension and spread of hog cholera and other diseases generally are largely responsible for existing conditions. Then again it is obvious that there are any number of farmers who actually do not realize the monetary possibilities of swine production, for even in localities where hog cholera has not been at all prevalent, many farmers that produce barely enough pork for home consumption. In many other instances not even this quantity is home grown.

It is the purpose of this bulletin to show that substantial improvement can be made in this industry in our State and to offer suggestions and plans for bringing about this desired end. Copies may be secured by writing to the Experiment Station, College Park, Md.

ROY H. WAITE, Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

Economy is one word that the average poultry keeper hasn't had much use for. I am glad, however, to note that he is beginning to have more use for it. One of the most flagrant violations of economy has been in house construction. Elaborate and expensive buildings have been built for housing poultry and unnecessary capital tied up. Expensive feeds have been used when much more simple ones would be just as efficacious. Plans have been so planned and laid out that a lot of extra labor has been expended in caring for the birds.

Nor has the violation of economical principles been all on the side of unnecessary expenditure. Houses have been too cheaply and ill-constructed or too many birds placed in them. Too simple feeds have been used. A maintenance ration fed to a flock that should be laying is very poor economy. Many farmers feed their hens all winter and get no returns from them, when by simply adding perhaps a little protein feed they would turn a loss into a profit. I often find this statement from persons whose hens are idle: "I can't afford to buy meat scraps," but the great question is: "How can they afford not to buy them?"

Why Shouldn't He Worry? Tucker—"Why do I look so troubled? Well, last night I dreamed I died and was buried. Parker, and I saw the tombstone at the head of my grave." Parker—"Saw your tombstone, eh? And what of it?" "Why, I'm trying to live up to the epitaph."

NOTICE TO Delinquent Taxpayers! All persons indebted to me for taxes for the years 1912 and 1913 must pay the same before JANUARY 1st, 1914, otherwise I will be compelled to serve the 30 days notice required by law, which will be an additional cost, which will be my account with the county. Pay your taxes and save the extra costs.

All communications regarding 1913 and 1914 taxes should be addressed to LEWIS R. SPRINGER, Late Treasurer, Valley Lee, Md.

GETTING RESULTS

By CLARA WEBER.

After the dinner dishes were done Mrs. Chumly came into the living room and sat down at the other side of the table. Chumly was deep in the evening paper.

"Fred," she began tentatively, "your cousin Will is going to be married, and you'll have to have a new suit. I want you to look nice."

Chumly was surprised, and much interested in his cousin, but he knew the signs well enough to be cautious. "Why, that's a little bit sudden, isn't it? He was here to dinner with your own cousin Susie not more than three weeks ago and he didn't say anything about it, at least not to me."

"Maybe he didn't know it himself," returned Mrs. Chumly, "and anyway men are not especially given to noticing things. And such news is usually supposed to be a surprise, even when it isn't. Your best suit is really getting too shabby to wear to any place at all. You'll just have to stop at the tailor's and get a new one. The wedding is to take place just a week from next Wednesday."

Chumly snorted. "Gosh! that is in a hurry. I'll venture the women in back of it—probably afraid he'll get away."

Mrs. Chumly flushed and seemed about to make a tart rejoinder, then evidently thought better of it and held her peace as Chumly continued: "You know very well that I have to make a big interest payment on the house this month, and my insurance policy is due for a premium payment week after next, and we've either got to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

Mrs. Chumly assumed an injured air. "Now, Fred," she demurred, sweetly, "you know just as well as I do, that you simply can't in that old suit. They'd talk about it for the next fifty years. You just must get a new one!"

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

"That's always the way," snapped Chumly gloomily, "eternally after me to spend money. Do you think I'm made of it? Not a bit, and I for one can't afford any new clothes."

WHERE THEFT IS UNKNOWN

No Need for Locks or Bars in the Land of the Tyrol, According to Traveler.

A land of almost Utopian simplicity is described by a writer in the Field, who a year ago started on foot from Innsbruck and went by way of Landeck to the Stelvio pass, and back across the Tyrol to Welschnofen. One of the joys of a walking trip in Tyrol, he said, is the friendship of these exceedingly simple, honorable and religious peasants.

They leave their agricultural implements lying all night in the field, covered with a heavy cloth, for the dew is as dishonest among these holy mountains as elsewhere. They have no locks on their barns. They lift a cross with a cry for prayers and the remembrance of God at every quarter of a mile. These crosses mark the spot where some poor soul has died during the wild storms of winter. How dreadful these tempests are can be judged from the fact that we found six such homely wooden monuments, not one more than ten years old, within half a mile.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they need so much."—Youth's Companion.

At Longarone—which is over the Italian border—we discovered that our chamber, the best in the inn, had its lock screwed on top-sy-turvy, so that it could not be fastened. Out in the hallway, I bellowed for Maria. She came, all surprised. "But the honorable herr cannot have another bedroom with a better lock, for that's the only lock in the hotel; the only one in the village. The landlord bought it because the foreigners insisted, but he had never seen a lock before. He thought the herr will wait until tomorrow, and—ah, but everyone in town knows the honorable travelers are here; every one knows that they go a long trip and must need much money, so no one could be wicked enough to attempt to deprive the honorable herr and his honorable train of a thing they