COUNTY NEWS

Localwise and Otherwise

Communications should reach us not later than Tuesday, in order to insure publication in current issue.

Don't forget the duck supper at Hotel St. Mary's on Jan. 28. See ad.

Mr. W. A. Fenwick, of Hotel St. Mary's, is spending a few days in Washington.

Mr. J. T. Swann, of Piney Point, who has been quite ill, is we are pleased to learn, convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Fluery, of Baltimore county, who, together with their little daughter, Alice, have been visiting relatives in Leonardtown, returned on Sunday's steamer.

On Tuesday last at St. Aloysius' Church, Leonardtown, Miss Florence Gertrude Latham and Mr. James Francis Guy, both of Clements, were married by Rev. L. J. Kelly, S. J.

Messrs. James Greenwell, of Beauve, and James Burch, of Piney Point, two of St. Mary's most progressive young farmers, have entered the Agricultural Class at M. A. C.

Mr. Golden Bullock, aged 25 years, died at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Bernard Bowles, Lovellville, on Wednesday last. Mr. Bullock was a bright young man and deep regret is felt at his demise. May he rest in peace!

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. N. Sterling, of Cape Charles, Va., who have been visiting their son, Mr. L. J. Sterling, Leonardtown, have returned to their home. They were accompanied by their granddaughter, Miss Mary Catharine Sterling.

The death of "Aunt" Sarah Anne Brooks, which occurred recently in Baltimore, marked the passing of the last of the servants of the late Capt. William Floyd, of Patuxent. Aunt Sara was one of the old time colored folks and her loyalty and devotion to her friends was characteristic.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the M. E. Parsonage, Leonardtown, on Tuesday morning last when Miss Elizabeth Bennett became the bride of Capt. John Foxwell. Both the contracting parties are residents of this town and both have a host of friends with whom we join in wishing them many years of happiness.

Mr. Jas. Heard, a Union veteran, died at his residence near Compton, on Sunday last. Mr. Heard was a successful farmer and a good neighbor. His many friends and relatives have sincere sympathy. His funeral took place on Tuesday last at Newtown. He is survived by five sons and two daughters. May he rest in peace!

In these times of European strife, a most interesting feature for the closing of the festive season should be the production of the musical extravaganza the Congress of Nations, which is to be staged by the St. Aloysius' Choral Club at the Town Hall, Leonardtown, on the evening of February 12. You really can't afford to miss this affair. It's due to be a great hit.

The attractive drama, "A Noble Outcast," will be given at the Town Hall, Leonardtown, on the night of February 5 for the benefit of the Leonardtown Camp Modern Woodmen of America. This drama is one of the strongest ever attempted by an amateur troupe and as the very best talent that the section boasts has been secured to portray it, the performance should be most enjoyable.

There will be an important farmers' meeting at the Morganza Hall on Saturday next, at which the tobacco situation will be discussed. As this all important question of our staple crop from a financial view point is to be gone into, all are urged to attend. In reference hereto, the letter of Mr. G. F. Wathen, Jr., on this question should be carefully read. It appears in another column.

On Sunday night last the handsome dwelling of Mr. E. E. Burch, of St. Inigoos, was destroyed by fire, which is supposed to have originated from the stove. The fire was discovered at 10:45 p. m., and had gained so great headway that nothing could be saved. Mr. Burch's home was one of the most attractive in that section, and although the house was insured, his loss is very great. We extend to him our sincere sympathy.

Death of Henry W. Yates in Omaha, Neb. Henry Winslow Yates, a leading banker of Nebraska, known as the Henry Clews of the West, died last week at his home in Omaha. Mr. Yates was a successful son of Maryland, having been born in Leonardtown, St. Mary's county, January 1, 1837. In his youth he went to Washington, was educated there and when he became of age struck out for the West. In 1858 he went to Omaha, organized the Nebraska National Bank and was its president at the time of his death. He was formerly president of the American Bankers' Association, was one of the organizers of the Nebraska Telephone Company and the Omaha Electric Light and Power Company, the Interstate Railway and Bridge Company and the Carter White Lead Company.

In 1862 Mr. Yates married Miss Eliza Barr Samuel, daughter of a banker of Savannah and granddaughter of Judge David Todd, of Columbia, a cousin of the family into which President Lincoln married. Mr. and Mrs. Yates celebrated their golden wedding April 25, 1912. Their children are Henry W. Yates, Jr., cashier of the Nebraska National, and Mrs. Rebe Morgan, Mrs. Florence Voss, of Omaha; Mrs. Edward Smith, of Kansas City; Mrs. Allen, wife of Capt. C. G. Allen, U. S. A., their grandchildren, Mrs. George Froudfin, of Lincoln, and Miss Dorothy Morgan, of Omaha, and great grandchild, Dorothy Alice Froudfin.—Baltimore American.

Methodist Church Entertainment

A very delightful entertainment was given and enjoyed last Sunday morning in the Methodist church. The occasion was the reception of the banner offered last Spring by the Pastor, Rev. F. K. Sebring, to the winner in a Sunday School attendance contest between Ebenezer and Cedar Point. Ebenezer won out, and naturally celebrated. The papers prepared and read by Mrs. Alexander Stevens and Miss Helen Sherman were high class and wonderfully forceful. Miss Sherman rendered in faultless presentation, while Mr. and Miss Dean duetted, (new coinage), one of the favorite hymns. Four boys appeared in a dialogue and did just splendidly.

Then Misses Audrey and Joyce Barnes recited selections and we wished to applaud—but it was in a church service. Miss Lillian Stevens won pleasing comment by reciting in good manner. Then the Pastor presented the banner, a silk national and a silk conquest emblem, which the Superintendent, Mr. Fred Wiley, pinned to the wall.

The audience was large and appreciative, and Ebenezer will strive this season to outdo her record of last year by getting a new high record. Last year the average attendance was 78 per cent. of those on roll, which is splendid. Letters of commendation and encouragement were received and read by the Superintendent from Miss Margaret Wilson, one of the President's daughters, Rev. J. C. Nicholas, one of the former District Superintendents, Rev. Hays, the present District Superintendent, and a former Pastor, Rev. Dr. James. A rising vote of thanks and encouragement was given Mr. Wiley for his activities, and Mrs. Frank Long was elected to write to the oldest pupil, Mr. J. B. Sherman, a letter of remembrance, who was absent from the meeting, visiting in Baltimore—a north side suburb. Any school desiring a live up-to-date Sunday School Superintendent apply at Ebenezer.

A very delightful wedding was solemnized last Thursday afternoon at the residence of Hon. Alfred Saner, at Wynne, when his daughter Ethel, agreed to write her name Olson, when Mr. Harry Olson made his plea. Just the immediate family, and bridegroom's chum, Mr. Allen Fish were present. The bride and groom left for Baltimore at once, the beginning of an extended trip. Mr. Olson has his habitation in New York, and takes with him one of the best of St. Mary's county young ladies, she was graduated not long since from St. Mary's Seminary. The ceremony was solemnized by the pastor, Rev. F. K. Sebring. It is not everyone who feels the call to get ready to go, and then finds the "boathman pale" is not on hand, but we have heard that our friend Mr. Craddock, gathered up his valuables to take with him last week, when the great wind storm came and toppled over the front porch roof. It was some storm, and quite a number of our citizens lost sleep while the wind was playing havoc with buildings and trees.

The Potomac Thespians will appear at Ridge in the Friendship Methodist church, Saturday night, January 29, at 7:30, in the comedy drama entitled "The Country Minister." The prices are 25 and 15 cent admission. Ice cream will be sold by the ladies of the church. This play was given not long ago on St. Georges Island and not a dissatisfied hearer found, but creditable comments voiced by all present. The play will be given in St. Nicholas, hall, Cedar Point, Saturday, January 30th. Same prices prevailing. These young people are actors of high type and a great future is before them. They have not yet decided to appear in New York City.

Our Literary and Debating Society is one grand enterprise, finding among its audience some who come 8 and 10 miles to be present.

Instruction, amusement and experience are meted out at each meeting, and large crowds attend at each meeting. T. U. S. Navy question comes up for debate at the next meeting, and will be settled too. Who knows that ere long this society will erect a hall and thus furnish a much needed community social hall. Perhaps the county seat can find two of her oratorical grandnephews who would be willing to get trimmed in debate by two of our members. 'Twould help to enliven interest in quiet times.

New Farmers' Club. The farmers of the Eight district met on Thursday last and organized a farmers' club for that section with a charter membership of 20 members. Mr. J. Alex. Stevens was elected president; J. Penner Lee, vice-president, and J. Frank Dent, secretary. The fourth Saturday of each month was selected as the regular meeting day at 2 p. m. Their next regular meeting will be held on Jan. 30, at which the new organization will perfect their organization by the adoption of by-laws and at which will be discussed important matters relating to the farm and the farmer.

We congratulate the people of this section in joining in so meritorious a move for the uplift of the county. The result of the farmers' clubs that have been in operation throughout the county have already showed a marked advantage in the sections in which the members are active in their interest.

Lecture Course. Brother Gerard, of the Leonard Hall faculty, gave Van Dyke's famous beautiful story, "The Fourth Wise Man," as the latest of the popular course of lectures at the Academy Hall on Tuesday evening of this week. The illustrations were superb in their gorgeous oriental coloring, and touching as the story itself in conveying the sweet story Magian virtue and constancy. Brother Gerard was greeted with hearty applause at the close of the lecture.

Father John Scully, S. J., of Washington, D. C., will give the next lecture Tuesday evening, Jan. 28. His subject will be "Aurissville—an American Shrine in the Mohawk Valley." Father Scully is in charge of this shrine which is built on the site of the Myrtyrdom of Father Jogues and other missionaries to the Iroquois Indians.

(COMMUNICATED.)

The Tobacco Question.

The recent letters on the tobacco question and the proposed meeting at Morganza are of vital importance to the tobacco growers of St. Mary's county and I take this opportunity to urge every farmer that can be there to come and devote some of his energy to devising some plan for putting our principal money crop on a profitable basis.

There are only two questions to it—the cost of production, the other the selling price. If these are equal and cannot be remedied, it is foolish for anyone to suggest growing more tobacco. But this condition can be remedied by concerted action of the farmers themselves and by no other agency will it be remedied. Our farmers in the first place can greatly reduce the cost of producing tobacco, in many cases as much as half, by increasing the yield per acre, as well as the quality per plant through a more suitable rotation and economical and intelligent use of commercial fertilizers. This would add considerably to the profit side, as a dollar saved is a dollar made, and then, the grower to grow tobacco profitably must know the buyer and the market better than he does at present.

Our people are not sufficiently informed as to the needs of the trade. We have made the great mistake of expecting other people to look after our business men. Corporations and wise business men blame others for what we have neglected to do. It is a mistake to think we can hold our own while men in all other lines of business are working together for the ends they desire. Organization is necessary—through it let us get in closer touch with the trade, learn the best methods of handling and marketing the crop, learn the types of tobacco needed by the trade, then will we be in a position to grow tobacco economically and profitably. There are many causes that contribute to the expense of the crop under control of the grower, principal among these is the failure to grow the food for the men and farm. The principal of these, corn, wheat and hay, furnish the power for the production of our money crops, also the materials for the maintenance of the fertility of our soils. When we are producing these crops at a cost over the market price, as at present, it must reduce the profit from our money crop by increasing the cost of production. It is to remedy these conditions that the Department of Agriculture is urging a strong campaign for diversification on our southern farms. We cannot afford to buy high priced supplies with low priced tobacco.

Our condition is the natural result of a one crop system. History proves that it always results in a rundown soil and from that to a run down people. The error of a one crop system is especially manifest in the time of a crisis like the present. Many farmers have sold their tobacco at a loss. Some claim that conditions have improved. It should be the duty of our farmers to inform themselves upon this vital question. The safe plan is to grow less acres in tobacco, to improve the quality and grow all the food crops possible. Plan diversification for diversification on our southern farms. We cannot afford to buy high priced supplies with low priced tobacco.

Not alone is this question of increasing the farm profits of importance to the farmers but to all other vocations as well. The success of the business man, the banker, the professional men are dependent upon the profits derived from the farms of our county. Every one should be actively interested in producing in our county the necessary supplies for this year and keeping in the county the money that usually goes out for high priced food. We all agree that there is a lack of profit coming to the farmer. Just so far as he profits will country life be attractive. Let us organize, cooperate, find the cause and apply the remedy.

Better Communication With

Baltimore Urgently Needed. We clip the following from the Baltimore Sun of January 17. "To the Editor of the Sun—Sir: I notice your editorial of January 17 ending with advice to Southern Maryland to discard tobacco growing. I am a Baltimorean now farming in St. Mary's county. Before I came here I thought as the Sun suggests to, discontinue tobacco growing and naturally looked around for a crop to replace it, one that was at least as lucrative. I found that our transportation facilities militated against many crops. For instance, we grow as fine tomatoes as can be grown, but when shipped, after paying charges, there is no net profit. And so it is with many things that are in the same category, classed as perishable. Tobacco is not perishable and can be shipped 800 to 900 pounds for $1.50 freight. There is nothing else we can ship in proportion as cheaply. Take, for instance, poultry farming. We have about 250 hens at present. Last winter the river was frozen four weeks and our communication was shut off when eggs were selling at the top prices. The same obtains with reference to cream and butter. Mr. Editor, Southern Maryland ought to be Baltimore's garden. Last fall we had a county fair, we exhibited from my farm fresh peas, cantaloupes, tomatoes, beans, cauliflower, potatoes, celery, lettuce, cabbage, lima beans, and, in fact, all that can be grown in a spring garden, yet we can't ship to Baltimore, the expense is too great and travel too uncertain. The State of Maryland is building a system of good roads, but what do they do for Southern Maryland? Baltimore pays 71 per cent. of the State road tax, yet our roads down are all built carrying us direct to Washington, and, therefore, compelling us to deal with a city that pays nothing for our benefits and obtains commercial advantages that should be Baltimore's. Yet no one in Baltimore has ever seemed to realize this. On the Eastern Shore all the State roads take business and travel to Philadelphia. Baltimore ought to awake to its own necessities and by benefiting herself benefit the people who naturally are her friends, the people of Southern Maryland.

Cedar Point Literary and Debating Society

The first meeting of the new year was called to order on the eighth. Loved by the attraction of the night a portly crowd was in attendance—but some were missing. Among that number we note the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard who have moved away since our last meeting; their going creates in us a vacuum, which we trust, they will soon return to fill.

We must tell you that the flash we saw across the way went home. The lot is found.

That night in chair, He called the words that we might hear To spell. Oh me! the bees did hum, And whir, and whir! Few lips were dumb.

We seemed to us that half the night We scolded and spelled with all our might; And surely thought with force and vim Some four or more had conquered him; Till, in his brain a door he shook, And, from a niche therein, he took A word—dear me! of such moment That to the seats the rest were sent!

The minutes left were given to the Constitution, its articles being read, and each in turn adopted by the house; so now we are all girdled over, done up in parliamentary lore. Mr. Sebring having resigned his office as permanent chairman of the Program Committee, the President will appoint a new committee from time to time to arrange the program for each consecutive meeting. The committee not having been appointed in advance of the previous meeting, the President has prepared to be delivered January 23d, the following: Call to order. Invocation. Singing, America. Roll call. Reading of minutes. Dialogue, Miss Miles' pupils. Reading, Miss Elber Magill. Talk on current topics. Recitation, Miss Mildred Hammett. Question for debate: Resolved, that the United States should increase its navy. Affirmative speakers, Mr. John Taylor and Mrs. R. W. Bell; negative, Mr. Harry Wise and Miss A. Jarboe. Decision of Judges. General Debate. Decision of House. Reading of Paper, Miss Graves. Adjournment. J.

Fireproof Garage. The completion of the spacious fireproof garage for Messrs. Coad and McKay, adds greatly to the up-to-dateness of Leonardtown. The need of expert attention has long been felt by the autoists of this section and now that the long felt want is filled the devotees of motordom are highly pleased. The building covers a space of 35x50 feet and has a capacity for storing 20 machines. There are also two attractive rooms flanking the front entrance, one the office, the other the supply room, in which is to be kept all that pertains to the auto.

We are informed that plans have been perfected for the installation of free air and that tire trouble will be taken care of at very moderate charges. The garage has a supply department, where high grade oils and greases are to be had. One feature is that when the new firm opens for business the service will continue both day and night. These enterprising young men have secured the agency for the "Maxwell Car" and are prepared to give demonstrations at any time. There is a movement on foot by the younger set to rent the upper floor as a club room, and if these plans materialize pool tables, a bowling alley and library will be at the disposal of the members.

Real Estate Activity.

Mr. Jos. B. Hansen, of Michigan Ave., Chicago, a very clever young business man of the West, has purchased a property on Flood Creek. We welcome the advent of such men in our midst, for this type of man tends to keep the old county in her proper place among the counties of the State.

Mr. Robt. D. Kyle, of Matthews, Va., has recently purchased a farm on the St. Mary's River. Mr. Kyle has engaged successfully in poultry farming and his white leghorns as egg producers have an enviable record.

Mr. James Thomas de Corse, of Chestertown, who recently purchased the Dudley Farm at Mechanicsville, is erecting a meat market, and within a short time will be ready to supply the want of Southern Maryland.
