communications should reach us not later than Tuesday, in order to insure publication in current issue.

A number of autos from Washington paid our town a visit on Sunday last.

Among the graduates from St. Joseph's Hospital, Baltimore, was Miss Helen May Johnson, of Morgantown.

Italy has entered the European War, and with her 1,700,000 men will add considerably to the devastation.

Sunday, May 30, being Decoration Day, the banks and post-offices will be closed the following Monday, May 31.

The Mechanicsville Second Team lost their first game of the season on Saturday last to Trent Hall by a score of 14 to 9.

Mr. W. C. Lynch, of Washington, who has been visiting his father, Dr. Thos. Lynch, of Leonardtown, has returned to that city.

We have on file several communications and mortuary notices which were received too late for this issue. They will appear in our next.

The colored Dramatic Club of St. Francisville will give a performance at St. George's Hall, Valley Lee, on Monday, May 31, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Herbert LaRock, of Chicago, who has been visiting Mr. William Wadsworth, of Baltimore, left on Thursday last to take up his duties as Civil Engineer in the Canal Zone.

The Commissioners' Court was in session on Tuesday last and, among other business, let the contracts for the two bridges in the Eighth district. Mr. H. B. Lack was the successful bidder.

The Southern Maryland Fair will be held at Upper Marlboro', Md., from June 1 to 5. Many new features have been added to this great event, among which is the aeroplane flights at 1 p. m., each day.

We are requested by Mr. Gough, Clerk to the County Commissioners, to state that all road accounts received later than the Monday preceding the regular meeting of the board will be held for consideration at the meeting following.

Died at the residence of her husband, near Scotland, Mrs. William Froshack Longmore, on Monday last. Mrs. Longmore had been ill but a short time, and her death was a great shock to her many friends. We extend our sincere sympathy to her bereaved family. May she rest in peace.

On Saturday last Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Raley, of St. Inge, entertained at dinner an automobile party from Roland Park, Baltimore. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. Louis Gough and Master Walter Gough, Mr. and Mrs. Spire, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tippett, Mr. Henry Richards and Mr. Hale Blair.

Farmers' Day May 29

The annual Farmers' Day will be held at the Maryland Agricultural College and Experiment Station May 29. An invitation is extended to all farmers of Maryland and others interested in agriculture to visit the institution that day.

There will be special train service and arrangements for entertainment, as well as various demonstrations and educational features, which will be of interest to those who attend. Program of the day will be ready for distribution a little later on and will be sent upon request.

Try to come yourself and mention it to your friends. We want a large number of Maryland farmers to visit their Agricultural College and see what is being done to promote agriculture in the State.

Your county agents will be there to welcome and "look after" the visitors from St. Mary's who are interested in observing the different experiments and demonstrations in progress and to introduce you to the men who are devoting their energies to improving our agricultural conditions.

Chamberlain's Liniment

This preparation is indicated especially for rheumatism, lame back, sprains and like ailments. It is a favorite with people who are well acquainted with its special qualities. Mrs. Charles Tanner, Wash., Ind., says of it: "I have found Chamberlain's Liniment the best thing for lame back and sprains. I have ever used. It works like a charm and relieves in an hour. It has been used by others of my family as well as myself for upwards of twenty years." 25¢ and 50¢ bottles. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Mary Alston Hayden.

Died at the residence of her husband, Mrs. Mary Alston Hayden, beloved wife of Charles Vincent Hayden, of Leonardtown, in the 70th year of her age.

Mrs. Hayden was an everyday Christian. The beautiful influences of a pure religiosity were spread over a life and character as spotless and charming as was ever possessed by any of the noble women of the age that has passed. As such a life was a blessing and a benediction to all within its influence so is the death of such a one a public misfortune as well as an irreparable loss to the home circle made desolate by her departure. It is difficult to pay a fitting tribute to the memory of so noble a woman—one whose every-day life was embellished by the most charming and lovable attributes of her sex. No one was more willing to aid the suffering, cheer the desponding, sustain the weak and to throw over the frailties of our race the mantle of Christian charity.

She is survived by her husband and two sons, Dr. Chas. V. Hayden and St. Paul Hayden, of Leonardtown. She was buried from St. Aloysius' Church on Wednesday evening and awaits the final summons in the new St. Aloysius Cemetery. May she rest in peace!

Lecture Course.

Mr. F. X. Doyle, S.J., gave a most interesting lecture on "The Short Story" last week. If our ambitious young story-writers will but follow the simple and easy rules of the art laid down by the Reverend lecturer, we shall have a large crop of first class fiction for our local weeklies and our big national magazines.

Father La Farge will give a lecture on Belgium Friday evening of this week at the Academy at 8 p. m. It will be beautifully illustrated. Admission by season ticket or 25 cents at the door.

Entertainment at St. Joseph's.

The public are reminded of the entertainment to be held at St. Joseph's Hall this evening for the benefit of the church, which was recently wrecked by a storm.

Funds are needed to continue the work, which is progressing nicely, and contributions, no matter how small, are gratefully received. The congregation are fully aware of the fact that they face a grave financial problem, one which will cost no little effort to solve, but in the midst of their trial they are most grateful for having a kind and considerate pastor whose zeal and solicitude in this work, is an aspiration to all.

Whooping Cough.

"About a year ago my three boys had whooping cough and I found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only one that would relieve their coughing and whooping spells. I continued this treatment and was surprised to find that it cured the disease in a very short time," writes Mrs. Archie Dairymple, Crooksville, Ohio. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

The May Procession.

The annual May procession at St. Aloysius' Church last Sunday afternoon was the largest and prettiest seen here for a long time. The floats representing sacred groups and characters, mostly in connection with the Blessed Mother of God, were strikingly beautiful, and the children who were selected to portray the characters acted their parts in a most edifying manner. The route of the procession was from the Leonard grounds to the church; the main road had been cleared of nearly all vehicles for the occasion, thanks to the courtesy of the Town Commissioners and their aides. The order of procession was as follows: Sanctuaries boys with Angels' Sodalities; boys of Parish Sodality of the Angels; Holy Innocents; girls of Angels' Sodality; Angel Guardian and little children group; B. V. Sodality of Leonard Hall; Tabernacle of Blessed Virgin retaining little children with flowers; Sodality of St. Mary's Academy; Tabernacle of St. Dominic and St. Catherine of Siena receiving the Rosary from the Blessed Virgin; B. V. Sodality of St. Aloysius' Parish; Tabernacle of the Annunciation, one of the most impressive in the procession; Academy Choir; six attendants of the May Queen with garlands; four little boys bearing crown for Our Lady; the May Queen, Miss Elizabeth Edwards, Prolet of the Academy Sodality; four students of Leonard Hall, leading statue of the Blessed Virgin. The choir added their sweet voices in the chanting of the Litany, and nature vied with art in honoring her Holy the Almighty had so exceedingly honored.

News from the Seventh.

Notwithstanding that there were two dances off Friday night to lead many away, quite a large representative and enthusiastic audience greeted the speakers at our meeting held by our Local Option Committee at Oakley Hall last Friday evening. Rev. Father Kelly presided.

Rev. Father Cunningham was the first speaker, and after a most forcible address, was followed by Rev. Frank T. Cady, Judge Joseph H. Key and Camillus Howard. These gentlemen spoke very forcibly and told that the crimes threatening this section, dishonestly, impudently, sins against humanity of religion, etc., are all caused by whiskey; and every man at the meeting pledged himself to do his share to abolish these crimes by working to abolish this demon from our midst.

Our next meeting will be held at Holy Angels' Hall. Due notice will be given and we expect and will appreciate a large attendance. Ladies please take notice and don't fail to come.

Every man should have a graveyard of his own. In it he should bury his mean thoughts, his hatreds, his animosities and evil aspirations and bury them deep, so that there can be no resurrection. If you hear a bit of malicious gossip, bury it deep; if you have been nursing a feeling of hatred towards some body for years, bury it, and when you have finally buried your graveyard with the worst that was in you, you will find the world and all that goes to make it a much better place than ever before. Remember the words of Riley: "When a man ain't got a cent, And he's feeling kind of blue, And the clouds hang dark and heavy And won't let the sunshine through, It's a great thing, O my brethren, For a fellow just to lay His hand upon your shoulder— In a friendly sort of way. It makes a man feel curious— It makes the tear drops start, And you sort of feel a flutter In the regions of your heart. You can't look up and meet his eyes, You don't know what to say. When his hand is on your shoulder— In a friendly sort of way. (Oh, the world's a curious compound With its honey and its gall, With its cares and bitter crosses— But a good word must after all. And a good God must have made it, Lestways, that is what I say, When a hand is on my shoulder— In a friendly sort of way. GABRIEL.

The Thread of Destiny.

One of the biggest theatrical successes of the year was scored Tuesday night, when the Sacred Heart Dramatic Society presented on the Academy stage "The Thread of Destiny," a thrilling and pathetic drama of Civil War times. Some of the characterizations could hardly have been surpassed by professionals, while the general excellence of the expression, elocution and action reflected in a most flattering manner on the society that can attempt a drama so difficult and artistic and make such a signal success.

It is most creditable to a community to be able to boast of such a Dramatic Society, and it is no less creditable to the community that can enjoy so thoroughly an elevated and refined drama and patronize it so heartily. To both players and patrons the St. Mary's Alumnae are deeply grateful, as both the one and the other have united to further the cause that is so dear to the society—a larger Academy and especially a larger auditorium. Nor is it a word of congratulation superfluous to the management of the Dramatic Society which has added still another dramatic triumph to the notable successes successes already achieved.

The drama is laid in Virginia, near Richmond, at the outbreak of the Civil War, and the action is continued almost to the end of the war. The hero is Peyton Bailey (Mr. Willie Herbert) and the heroine is Virginia Montgomery (Miss Marie Mattingly). Their love is sorely tried, found true and happily crowned in the same good old way just before the curtain falls in the war.

During the three hours required to stage the play the attention of the large audience was held almost without a single pause by the prospect of wedding bells and orange blossoms, sometimes saddened by the stern fortunes of war, while there was the plot of the villain and the light play of plantation comedy—the thread of destiny that would unite the true lovers being woven throughout.

Criticism of the Princess Chrysanthemum.

"The Princess Chrysanthemum," an opera in three acts, as interpreted by the young ladies of St. Mary's Seminary last Saturday night, was a joy to all lovers of music and the stage. A large and representative audience attended.

The score was very beautiful; in fact, it contained an unusual number of pleasing melodies. The plot is laid in Japan and the action required a thorough understanding of the customs of the Orient.

The cast was excellent throughout. Miss Maud Calloway, as Princess Chrysanthemum, was very pleasing to the audience. Her voice is remarkably pure and sweet in tone and she sings with delightful taste and fine authority. It was a privilege to hear singing of this kind. Miss Martini, as Prince So-Tsu, in duet with Miss Calloway, was received with applause. Miss Marjorie Maddox made the most important and difficult role of Saucy-Eyes, the Wizard Cat. Miss Violet Shoop, as Fairy Moonbeam and Miss Mary Strong, as the Court Chamberlain, both in their respective roles deserve much credit. Mrs. Meyer, Jr., as the Emperor, What-Poo-Whi, and Miss Virginia Maddox, as Prince So-Sil, together in trying roles, maintained the plot and played with finesse and appreciation and a spirit of high comedy.

The sprites, courtiers, attendants and fairies all seemed to be at home on the stage. The action at no time lagged and many of the numbers had to be repeated.

Too much credit cannot be given Mrs. Maddox and her assistants. The play was attractively staged and the cast was well costumed. The voices, actors and dancers showed that they had been trained by one having the highest appreciation of what the professional stage should give to the public.

Arrangements Nearly Complete For The Prairie Schooner Expedition.

The great prairie schooner of the Just Government League, which is being fitted up for the pilgrimage to the home of Margaret Brent, will cover 350 miles before its first return to Baltimore. Miss Lola C. Trax, who has organized the expedition which leaves Baltimore May 31 with five "Pilgrims" takes great pride in announcing that the schooner is 12 feet long and the two horses weigh 320 pounds. The wide-curved canvas top gives much room and comfort; and the suffrage flag and the Stars and Stripes float bravely at the front. A courageous and energetic party it will be, made up of Mrs. Frank H. Snell, Miss Mary O'Toole, Miss Lola C. Trax and Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Ramey.

Arrangements are now complete for the farewell dinner and dance to be given at St. Holly Inn May 28 in honor of the caravan. The menu has been planned, the music secured, the tickets printed, and everything ready but the guests, and these promise to be many. Mrs. Donald R. Hooker and the five caravanners will be the speakers.

The Anne Arundel County League is planning a royal welcome for the Pilgrims upon their arrival in Annapolis June 1. They will reach the State Capital at 12 noon, when an opening meeting will be held in front of the Court House. A committee composed of Mrs. Angelo Hall, Mrs. Ralph Root and Mrs. W. J. King are arranging a luncheon at 1 o'clock at local suffrage headquarters. There will be a meeting at Eastport at 5:15 p. m., and at 8 p. m., in Annapolis, at Main and Conduit streets. All the Pilgrims will speak. Mrs. Robert Moss will entertain them over night, and in the morning they will leave for Edgewater, Serablottown and Galesville, on their way to St. Mary's City, which place they will reach on June 8.

They will be entertained by Mrs. Broome at "White House." The people of St. Mary's City are arranging a picnic and festival to last all that day. A number of suffragists from Baltimore will join the pilgrims, some coming by boat and others coming by automobile, to participate in the meeting to be held at 3 p. m. The speakers will not only present woman suffrage arguments, but will also commemorate the part that Margaret Brent played in Colonial history.

In writing of the pilgrimage to Miss Trax, the Hon. James H. Preston, Mayor of Baltimore, says: "I know of no pleasanter experience than to drive through an open country of budding trees, green fields and balmy spring airs, in company with agreeable companions, with a patriotic and high-minded purpose at the journey's end."

The present trip promises to bear out these words. There is the green out-of-doors, the zest of working for a worthy cause, and the joy of meeting and knowing the people who live in "God's own country," as lower Maryland has been called. Friends along their route are extending invitations of entertainment to the suffrage party; and while there can be no way to gauge the degree of suffrage sentiment it is already possible for the caravanners to glimpse the widely heralded hospitality of the South. And so it is an "Ag Revoir" to the old friends and a "Hall" to the new.

For a Torpid Liver.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets off and on for the past six years when ever my liver shows signs of being in a disordered condition. They have always acted quickly and given me the desired relief," writes Mrs. F. H. Trubus, Springville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

THINNING FRUIT IS A PAYING PROPOSITION.

Should Be Done Early in the Season. Extra Cost is Little.

HERMAN BECKENSTRATER, Maryland Agricultural College.

Present indications point to a heavy fruit crop the coming season. Culls will be plentiful and worthless. Therefore, prevent culls by thinning now. You will not then have to pick them this fall, when the good fruit should receive all your attention. Although the increase in the current year's crop is ample reason for thinning, it is not the only benefit to be derived. By reducing the tree crop this year, there is more likelihood of a good crop next year. Much of the so-called habit of alternate bearing in apple trees is due to their overbearing one year and recuperating the next. Many broken limbs could be averted by proper thinning, and much labor saved in propping.

For the best results the thinning should commence immediately after the June drop. It is natural to expect that the sooner the remaining fruit has the entire support of the tree, the better the results will be. Broken limbs may be prevented if the thinning is done in August, but the other benefits will not be so pronounced. In other words, less of the tree's energies will be thrown away and more turned to the remaining fruit if the thinning is done early in the season.

As to what extent the fruit should actually be thinned is very largely a local problem. It depends upon such conditions as soil, age of trees, varieties, cultivation and pruning. Generally thinning the fruit to a minimum distance of 4 to 6 inches, gives satisfactory results. Thinned fruit is larger and usually better colored and flavored than unthinned fruit, and the yield is just as large in bulk and sells at a higher price. The fruit must all be picked some time, and the culls are more quickly and more easily removed at thinning time than at harvesting time. The average cost of thinning is about 10c per tree.

Why He Preferred the Moon. Two negroes got into a discussion concerning the relative values of the moon and the sun to the world. After listening to the advocate of the sun the other proceeded to demolish his argument with the following logic: "The sun is all right, but the moon is worth two or three times as much as the sun. When we need it, but the sun does shine only in the day when we get light enough without it."

On or after May 1, my Storehouse, better known as Henry Abell's old stand, situated at Ridge, Md., will be for rent. It has four living rooms attached. This is a fine opportunity for a live, energetic merchant. The merchant that occupies it at present did over $4,000 business last year. His reason for leaving is that he is going to open up his own place. For further particulars, apply to R. G. CLARKE, Ridge, Md.
FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER.
