Miss Pauletta Smith, of Washington, is visiting Miss Philo Morgan, Leonardtown.

The schooner Chase recently unloaded 90 tons of coal at the Leonardtown dock.

Mr. Charles Fenwick, of Philadelphia, was a guest of Hotel St. Mary's, during the week.

The Public Schools of the County closed for the summer vacation on Wednesday, June 21st.

"The Buzzard's Shadow," a drama in five acts, featuring Harold Lockwood, will be the D. D. Movie Company's program for Sunday next.

The Second District Farmers' Club will meet at Valley Lee on Saturday, June 24, at 3 p. m. A full attendance is requested.

The California Farmers' Club will meet at the residence of J. Bernard Goodwin on Saturday, June 24.

Rev. C. S. Lancaster, S. J., of Gonzaga College, visited the Jesuit Fathers at the Leonardtown Mission during the week.

Dr. W. B. Burch's excellent illustrated lecture was well attended and proved a source of interest and instruction to the many who were present.

Mr. James Lanahan and daughter, Miss Mary Lanahan, of Pittsburgh, are visiting relatives in Leonardtown and Britton.

Mr. Oliver Claxton, of Philadelphia, is visiting his Uncle, Rev. Fr. La Farge, at the Villa, St. Inigoes.

We were unable to secure an account of the commencement exercises of Leonard Hall for this issue. We trust to have the full account for our next paper.

There will not be the usual spiritual retreat for the Alumnae and teachers this year, but instead a mission will be given in most of the County Churches next month.

See the notice of Independence Day Celebration in the advertisement columns. Get out and boost the carnival.

The Novena to the Sacred Heart will begin in St. Aloysius' Church this (Thursday) evening and continue until the feast, Friday, June 30th.

The feast of St. Aloysius will be celebrated in the local parish church next Sunday. General Communion of the children at 7 o'clock. High Mass at 10 o'clock.

The commencement exercises of Leonard Hall and St. Mary's Academy were more largely attended than at any time during the existence of the schools.

Judge N. Charles Burke and family, of Baltimore, were guests in Leonardtown during commencement week. The Judge delivered the address to the graduates of Leonard Hall.

Leonardtown will organize a base ball team this week to take the honors from the La Plata team when they meet on the Leonard Hall diamond on July 4th. Don't miss this game.

The Alumnae-Alumni Ball on Tuesday night last proved to be a real home-coming affair. Many of our boys and girls came from far off points to enjoy the association of their old college chums and Academy classmates.

Ex-Governor Brown, of Baltimore, paid Leonardtown a brief visit on Wednesday last. His Excellency expressed his pleasure at noting the advancement this section of the State has made in the short period since his previous visit.

Among the gardeners who will enter service in the Fifth Maryland are Messrs. Frank Duke, of Leonardtown; Stewart Reeder, of Morganza, and Richard Hebb, of Valley Lee. All are members of Company B.

The many friends of Mr. W. Wallace Dunbar will sympathize with him in the loss of his handsome dwelling, which was totally destroyed by fire on last Tuesday night. The origin of the blaze is not known. We understand that the building had just been put in shape for the reception of summer boarders, many of whom were scheduled to arrive on Sunday next. We understand that the building was insured.

Officer C. E. Nikirk, of the State Automobile Commissioner's office, paid an unappreciated visit to Southern Maryland recently and pounced upon auto drivers. At Charlotte Hall, as the guest were arriving for the annual student's ball, he held up nearly every car to inspect them for license cards and driver's permits. Much indignation was expressed by autoists that they should be held up at night and in the rain. Several have taken up the case with the Maryland Automobile Club.

The colored festival at St. Nicholas Church will be held Wednesday, July 19. It will be a glorious event, with all kinds of fun and refreshments. The great brass band will be there with its thundering music to make the people feel so fine and bright and keep the dance going day and night.

The white festival at St. Nicholas' will take place on Wednesday, August 2.

News From the Seventh.

The stork visited Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Stone, of Cobrum's, recently and left a delightful bouncing baby girl. Father Cud is now wearing the smile that won't come off. Our congratulations.

Our old familiar steamer, Wakefield, of the Chesapeake and Potomac Line, with about 60 passengers on board, struck submerged piling near Mathias Point, in the lower Potomac, Friday night and sank in about 10 feet of water. No one was injured. All of the crew and passengers were rescued by the steamer Majestic, which happened to be in the vicinity of the accident.

Mr. A. T. Wible is having an addition built on to his store at Capitol Hill. Messrs. Marion Gibson, Cleveland Gatto, Frank Nesbit and Edgar Simpson are doing the work. When completed this will be one of the largest and most commodious stores in this section.

Mr. J. M. Dent, Jr., of Oakley, hurt his back severely last Wednesday while operating his saw mill near Horry. He is now somewhat improved and expects to be on the job again in a few days.

Mr. Frank Bostwick, our well known bachelor of Mosley, while alighting from Mr. Harvey Bailey's automobile while it was still in motion, sustained painful lacerations about his face and was only by the rarest of good fortune that he did not break his neck, as his head was the first to strike the ground. Mr. Bostwick is now very much improved.

Master Alan Wible, of Capitol Hill, had his right wrist badly sprained last Sunday while cranking an auto, and has been unable to use it since.

Mr. Colin Burch, of Baltimore, visited his father, Mr. Edward Burch, of Riverview, Sunday.

Mr. Harold Herbert, accompanied by Misses Beatrice and Jeannette Wible, of Capitol Hill, visited Mrs. Webster B. Herbert, of St. Thomas Sunday.

Mr. Harry Warranch, of Oakville, visited his brother, Mr. Isaac Warranch, of Capitol Hill, Sunday.

Quite a large number of autos from Washington visited this section Sunday.

Procession of the Blessed Sacrament. Pretty as was the procession of the Blessed Sacrament held last year from the Academy Chapel to St. Aloysius' Church, the one just held was in many respects more perfect. The large parish League center was augmented by the apostleship of study branches of the league from Leonard Hall and St. Mary's Academy. The first communion class was given a place of honor near the Blessed Sacrament. They were preceded by Master Allie Fenwick, attired in the costume of St. Aloysius as the Saint was on the day of his first communion. Allie carried the banner of the Blessed Sacrament at the head of this division.

Nine of the Academy pupils, brightly costumed and representing the nine choirs of angels, walked in a circle about the canopy under which was carried the Blessed Sacrament.

Around this circle there was another guard of little girls carrying a continuous garland of roses and daisies; and when the procession halted before the altars this double circle took a picturesque position before the altars while the serried ranks of marchers knelt in regular position on the lawn like a small army of devout crusaders.

Father Cunningham officiated at the Academy altar, Father La Farge at the church lawn and Father Kelly at the church. Father Kelly and Rev. Mr. McDonald, S. J., were Masters of Ceremonies. Father La Farge's sermon before the last Benediction was fervent and inspiring.

To Raise Steamer Wakefield. Officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Steamboat Line last night announced plans for raising the steamer Wakefield, which struck piling off Mathias Point, Va., on Thursday night and sunk in shallow water. None of the fifty passengers aboard were injured.

At the present time, an unusually high tide, backed up by heavy south-east winds, makes inadvisable the work of raising the steamer, but as soon as water conditions return to normal the vessel will be floated.

The Wakefield was making her customary river run from here and Alexandria as far as Colonial Beach and Mattox Creek. The stern of the steamer collided with the submerged piles, which stove in plates on her bottom, admitting water too fast for the stem pumps to discharge it. Capt. A. W. Kelly, in command, felt the first impact and immediately lowered the ship's boats. The steamer Majestic rescued the passengers as they came over the side. The steamer Gratitude later arrived on the scene and took off what freight it was possible to save.—Washington Herald.

The steamer Wakefield formerly ran here.

St. Mary's Academy.

The thirtieth annual commencement of St. Mary's Academy was held Tuesday morning, June 20, in the auditorium in the presence of probably the largest crowd that ever assembled for these annual exercises. Half an hour before the opening, ten select artists from the Junior Band of St. Mary's Industrial School, Baltimore, gave an impromptu concert on the lawn. The lads were returning to Baltimore after performing at the Leonard Hall commencement.

The program opened with a welcome tableau by the Senior and Grammar grades of the Academy, the graduates leading. Miss Louise Norris, of the class, delivered the Salutatory. Her theme was "Kindness"—according to the sacred legend: "And now there remain Faith, Hope and Charity; these three; but Charity, the greatest of these, remaineth forever." Miss Norris gave an admirable interpretation of the text; her expression was animated and her elocution faultless.

The next number was novel and interesting; viz: the singing in chorus of a patriotic song, the words and music of which were composed by Rev. J. F. X. O'Connor, S. J., of the Georgetown Postgraduate Department. The Reverend author, who was present in person, was delighted with the perfection of the singing.

Classic piano selections were rendered during the exercises by the Misses Sallie Greenwell, Anita Camalier, Richey Ching, Helene Greenwell and Elizabeth Dorsey, who had won highest distinction in the piano classes. Miss Jenny Greenwell was also of this number.

The Academy Orchestra of 19 pieces proved to be one of the wonders and delights of the occasion. In less than one short year it has come into existence and grown in numbers and excellence and its playing of the difficult selections from Strauss, and the melodies of Rubenstein and Englemann was worthy of professionals. The orchestra included the following:

Piano, Miss Sallie Greenwell; first violins, Katherine Burch, Mary McGuire, Helene Greenwell, Helen Byrne; second violins, Catherine Greenwell, Nancy Pyle, Elizabeth O'Brien; Cello, Miss Mary W. Greenwell; bass, Miss Edith Ching; guitar, Jennie Greenwell; Loretta Burch; Elizabeth Dorsey, Virginia Fagan; Mandolins, Anita Camalier, Richey Ching, Grace Greenwell, Mary Brent Hamilton, Elizabeth Matthews.

The two choral interludes by the Senior and Junior pupils of the vocal classes could not have been surpassed. There was ample evidence of the excellence in talent and training that has become a tradition of St. Mary's Academy.

The valedictory was delivered by Miss Jenny Abell Greenwell, who had been a faithful and successful pupil of the Academy from the earliest grammar grades up to graduation. Her theme was written in letters of gold above the procession arch: "Nunc deo ducimus; ubi salubrimus?" "Now we launch forth on the deep; what shall our harbor be?" With earnest words and serious mien she compared the happy day of graduation to the launching of some majestic mistress of the seas. Beyond this day of joy the unknown future lies: What shall be the fate of the Ship of State? In what port shall she finally rest and drop anchor? But the future of the graduate is never uncertain, if only faith and religion be her pilot and guide; she shall securely reach the haven of eternity and rest at last in the bosom of God.

Miss Greenwell's final words of adieu to her teachers, classmates and Alma Mater were full of affection and tender paths.

The graduates and senior pupils then rendered the concluding number of the program, the great Te Deum, with fervor and feeling. It was their farewell chant of gratitude for the end of a perfect year.

After the award of diplomas, medals and premiums, Rev. Father O'Connor addressed the graduates in the most complimentary terms, for he had been deeply impressed by the lessons of these exercises. He went on to point to duty as path of success and happiness, and to the religious training imparted in the Academy as the unerring guide to that path which, though marked by sacrifices, would lead to the Heart of God; then would these fair graduation crowns be replaced by unfolding crowns of life and light eternal.

The graduates who received crowns and diplomas were: Misses Jenny Greenwell, Louise Norris, Mary Wallace Greenwell, Sallie Greenwell, Loretta Burch.

Kathleen Cecil. Knights of Columbus Gold Medal for Literature—Drawn by Virginia Boykin. Certificates of Honor for Conduct, Diligence and Punctuality were awarded to thirty-seven distinguished pupils.

A large number of distinctions for Piano and Violin were also awarded. Palmer Diplomas for Penmanship were awarded to a large class of twenty-four pupils.

Premium for Punctuality in the Primary Department, won by Edith Wade, and premiums of honor for Conduct, Diligence and Punctuality in the same department, were awarded to Catharine Norris, Charity Greenwell, Adlie Russell and Goldie Deckelman.

An Alumnae Reunion was held after the exercises. The attendance was very large in spite of the fact that many were prevented from attending because of public school duties and final examinations.

In the evening, the Gym at Leonard Hall was a scene of rare beauty and brilliancy on the occasion of the grand annual Commencement Ball, held for the first time under the combined auspices of the Alumni and Alumnae of Leonard Hall and St. Mary's Academy.

Hollywood Community Club Meeting. A most instructive and interesting meeting was held by the Hollywood Community Club at St. John's Hall on Saturday last. The meeting was addressed by Prof. Talliferro and Dr. Buckley, of the Maryland State College of Agriculture. Prof. Talliferro explained means whereby soil could be built up and offered some very valuable suggestions as regards the raising of hay. Dr. Buckley's address was on the care of hogs.

It was pointed out that it is possible to maintain hogs in health by the use of serum, even though they might be subjected to any degree of exposure. Hog cholera serum is prepared at the laboratory at College Park, and is sold to the farmers of the State at cost of production.

This serum is used by injecting it with a syringe deep into the muscles of any part of the body. It is commonly injected into the muscles of the hams. The serum is prepared from the blood of hogs, which have been highly protected against cholera and in turn possess sufficient protecting powers to immunize other hogs which may be exposed naturally in an outbreak of cholera, such as commonly occurs during the summer months.

It was emphasized that this is not a nutritive procedure, and that it is a mistake for farmers to wait until cholera is actually in their herd before taking measures for protection. The value of a single shot is equal to the cost of serum which will protect a herd of twenty.

It is intended to equip County Agent G. F. Wathen, Jr., with proper instruments and methods which he will demonstrate to the farmers of the county. A dose of this serum ranges from 20 cubic centimeters for a pig at weaning time, costing about 40 cents, to 80 cubic centimeters for hogs weighing 300 to 400 pounds, costing about $1.00.

Dr. Buckley also spoke on the opportunities for the improvement of live stock in the county, and warned the farmers not to attempt to bring about improved conditions in the live stock situation through the purchase of expensive animals until they have learned the proper methods of feeding and management of such animals as already exist here. In discussing this subject he said "that greater knowledge could be gained in the matter of feeding the various classes of animals from birth to physical maturity and by so doing developing well balanced and well developed individuals than can be secured through improved feeding methods or mature imperfectly developed individuals."

The point was made, that all young animals which live will mature and their frame work will become definitely fixed at a certain age, regardless of feeding methods, but that with a proper system of feeding this frame work can be greatly extended and the uniformity of the animals improved so that at maturity the efficiency of such animals is greatly increased, whether this be for the production of milk, meat, wool or energy.

Information on the proper methods of feeding and management will be disseminated by the Animal Industry Extension Service of the State College through the County Agricultural Agent by a form letter, circulars and, where possible, practical demonstrations by farmers in the several districts of the county.

Charlotte Hall School Reunion.

As announced at the Commencement Ball at Charlotte Hall, Md., on June 15th instant, a reunion of the Alumni and former students of Charlotte Hall School will be held at Chesapeake Beach, Md., on July 4th next, at 4 p. m., Casino Hotel.

Dinner will be served at a cost not to exceed 75c per plate. The fare to the Beach from Washington is 50c, round trip.

This gathering is simply a social reunion and will be strictly informal. All of the old boys whether accompanied by ladies or not, may be sure of a hearty welcome.

This call to the colors, it is hoped, will meet with a hearty response by the veterans who are true to the orange and black. To most of those from Southern Maryland the most accessible way to the Beach is via Washington. All are requested to meet at the District Line station of the Chesapeake Beach Ry., not later than 2 p. m., on July 4th. This station is about 40 minutes ride from U. S. Treasury.

While not strictly necessary, it is requested that those who expect to attend this reunion, communicate with H. S. Morgan, 1211 13th St., N. W., Washington, D. C. Please wear a piece of black and orange ribbon to enable the boys to know you.
