FRESH AIR CAMPS.

One of the greatest of the many wonderful institutions of the Salvation Army, because it touches the future citizen, is the Fresh Air Camp. These breathing spots are for weary mothers and the city-bound youngsters of the tenements.

No joy life ever brings can mean quite so much as the first vision and first breath of the country to the child whose eyes and ears have known anything but cobblestones and forbidding sun stretches of brick walls.

One little girl on the journey to the country remarked disdainfully as the train passed a city park with its perfection of clipped lawns and non-touchable shrubbery.

"That's man's woods—I want God's woods!"

Last year in the United States 6,000 worn out, heat-faded mothers, and 33,366 poor children were given from a week to two weeks at the seaside or in the country by the Salvation Army.

Think what such a treat means to children who have never before had green grass to walk, roll or sit upon, trees to climb, or the chance to wade and play in the sand, to say nothing of the wholesome food and pure air.

In Maryland, a Fresh Air Camp was conducted at Jackson Grove, near Odenton, for several years, where each week from fifty to sixty city youngsters were sent for a week during the period from July to September, to revel in the delights of the country. However, a lack of funds, forced the discontinuance of this regular camp, and the substitution of day's outings at nearby river resorts.

Droves of a thousand to fifteen hundred children have spent glorious days in this manner.

Rescue Home Beacons Of Hope

Sixty-eight thousand girls, eight women disappeared from the streets of our cities last year. Six thousand from New York alone. Where are they?

Everywhere throughout the country the great problem of illegitimacy is confronting those who interest themselves in welfare work, but nowhere perhaps has it been met with the practical Christianity shown by The Salvation Army, which through its twenty-six Rescue and Maternity Homes in the United States returns to health, hope and sanity every year, approximately 2,000 unfortunate girls.

A Salvation Army Rescue Home is open to any girl who needs its protection and who otherwise would be forced along the paths to which only heartbreak, despair and disgrace can point. Once admitted, the past is closed behind her, the future thrown open with hope and courage, while besides the best of physical care she receives the spiritual and mental regeneration necessary if that physical care is to have its best effect.

Besides the best of prenatal and maternity care, the girl receives adequate opportunity for convalescence and assistance in finding work, which in many cases will not separate her from her child, on the path to which only this responsibility is part of the blessing so is it part of the cure. In these new opportunities for work the girl's history is forgotten and the future thrown open with such hope and courage that the bitterness and resentment brought into the Home are replaced by a steady hope and courage not only to be carried away with her but to be transfused in her influence among those whom she meets.

Hollow Horn

Saturday at the Star Hill Vas Zeke Moody came with cattle that he'd brought to dip; but one cow shy And when I asked the reason why He sagely stroked his chin unshorn And said: She's got the hollow horn, The worse case that I ever saw, Her horn is hollow to the core.

I sure did work on that old cow, But I have got her restored now. There was no fun in it at all, I had to use a harness awl.

In both her horns a hole I bored, In which the medicine I poured; The best remedy that's been found For hollow horns is a compound.

To make the same is rather hard, Take quack pine tar and cup of lard, Cook on slow fire 'till near a boil Then add a cup of linseed oil.

Keep stirring well until it's cool, (I never overlook this rule); And one thing more, I most forgot, Add a crushed garlic while it's hot.

I filled her horns plumb to the top And plugged them with a wooden stop, Then washed them well with clove wine, Wrapped them up with cloth and twine.

Hollow horns can't be cured, folks say; But then you's got to know the way; And I have doctored quite a few, I reckon I'll cure this one, too."

Wednesday passing Zeke's plantation I noticed something of a row, And saw, upon investigation, Buzzards feasting on Zeke's cow.

An Artistic Roof for Your Home—

The possibilities for artistic treatment afforded by Johns-Manville Transite Asbestos Shingles have thus far been but partially developed. The different colors, shapes, sizes and thicknesses of this modern roofing and the opportunities to vary methods of laying to obtain distinct and attractive roof effects, prove this a rich field for study.

Nor is it difficult to foresee the time when inflammable roofings will be generally prohibited by law, as evidenced by many recent city ordinances.

In Johns-Manville Transite Asbestos Shingles you can have a distinctive roof, free from the threat of communicated fire. It will neither burn, rust, rot, nor demand periodic and costly repairs.

Johns-Manville Transite Asbestos Shingles are examined, approved, and labeled by the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., under the direction of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.
