Another Version.

Under date of Aug. 26th, a corresponding writing from The Dalles sends the following:
I herewith send you a statement regarding the shooting affray which has been telegraphed the Oregonian ere this. The following seems to be the facts: While the steamer Spokane was on her down trip yesterday one of the crew, named Pat Whalen, got into a dispute with the Chinese cook regarding a piece of soap, when Whalen knocked him down. Capt. Baughman hearing the noise while he was in the pilot house, requested some one to go below and inquire what the trouble was. The person upon returning reported the facts, and when Capt. Baughman heard the same he ran the steamer ashore on the Washington Territory side, and ordered the mate and pilot to put Whalen ashore. In a few minutes these persons returned and reported that Whalen refused to go. Baughman then went down and ordered Whalen to leave the boat, which he still refused to do unless he was paid off. A few words passed between them, when the powerful man and Baughman tore himself loose, and going up to his room, loaded a gun and came down again.
In the meantime Whalen had armed himself with a capstan bar and went aft, when the friends of Whalen persuaded him to drop the bar and leave the boat, which he started to do. It was necessary for him to go forward for that purpose, and in nearing the gang plank, he saw the Captain standing on the stairs with his gun in his hands. The Captain thinking that Whalen intended to again renew the contest raised the gun, when it went off instantly killing Whalen. The Captain claims that the gun was cocked, and that while he was in the act of raising it the weapon went off accidentally. Friends of Whalen assert that he raised the gun and fired. You cannot imagine the excitement here, it being found necessary to swear in a posse of deputy sheriffs, as the friends of Whalen wanted to lynch him. Capt. Baughman is in the county jail which is guarded at present by ten men armed to the teeth. At the inquest the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter against Capt. Baughman. The notes given you are from the evidence given at the inquest.

The Beginning of the End.

Sixty-seven Putes surrendered August 15th. The Indians are a sorry-looking lot, with but few horses, fewer arms, and clothing reduced to rags. From the small number of guns surrendered, it was supposed that the Putes had concealed the greater number for future use, but from information gleaned from prisoners, it seems upon parting from the Bannocks a quarrel arose about the division of acquired plunder, the Bannocks gaining the victory and carrying off all the valuable firearms and horses. The surrendered Indians say that the Bannocks did all the murdering and the Snakes the stealing. What they did they failed to state. Col. John Green is in hot pursuit of the hostiles and there is but little daylight between him and the Indians. He is now either at Fort Hall or Lemhi. The troops under their respective commanders, are hunting their foe, as they would hunt deer, and from now on, until Spring time comes again, we expect to hear of nothing but surrenders, big "pow-wows," the showing of good hearts, and the distribution of blankets—both red and white striped—and when camas and young onions raise their tender heads again, Mr. Indian will relax into his old habits and will be found raising scalp and "cane."—Watchman.

The Great Pow-Wow.

Pursuant to previous arrangements, a council met last Monday at the Umatilla agency, for the purpose of investigating certain charges brought against the Indians there, and allay if possible the bitter feeling existing between the white settlers and the reservation Indians. The following gentlemen participated in the council, Gen. O. O. Howard and staff, Gov. Chadwick, of Ogn., the Mayor of this city, James McAuliff, also Dr. J. H. Boyd and H. B. Cook, who were requested by the Governor of this Territory to be present at the council. Maj. Conroy, the agent, and three principal chiefs, were also on the ground. Gen. Howard stated the object of the council, after which all the chiefs spoke and firmly declared that their hearts were "canaway cockwa," or very good toward the whites, that they, as a people, were loyal and true. When asked how many of their tribe were absent during the late Indian war with the Bannocks, Snakes and Putes, they said about five. After considerable talk the General took three Indians as hostages, to be confined in the guard house, until the absentees are produced by the chiefs. Among the hostages was Cut Mouth John, in full uniform. This seemed to be satisfactory to all concerned. In fact what else could be done? Gen. Howard with five companies of infantry is now on his way to chief Moses' camp. No doubt he will find their hearts also very good, loyal and true, but let justice be done, though the heavens fall and crush every red skin into the sweet by and by.—Watchman.

Small Means.

We think that the power of money is on the whole, over-estimated. The greatest things which were done for the world have not been accomplished by rich men, or by subscription lists, but by men generally of small pecuniary means. The greatest thinkers, discoverers, inventors, and artists have been men of moderate wealth, many of them little raised above the condition of manual laborers in point of worldly circumstances. And it will always be so. Riches are often an impediment than a stimulus of action; and in many cases they are quite as much a misfortune as a blessing. The youth who inherits wealth is apt to have life made too easy for him, and so grows sated with it because he has nothing left to desire. Having no special object to struggle for, he finds time too heavy on his hands; remains mentally and morally asleep; and his position in society is often no higher than that of a polytup over which the tide floats.—Dispatch.

Council.

WALLA WALLA, Aug. 28th, 1878
Gen. Howard was at Umatilla, the other day and demanded the "murderous Umatillas"; but he could not get them. So he took three or four of their chiefs and stuck them in jail to hold them as hostages for the murderers and intends to let them lay in jail until the other Indians feign in the murderers. Howard started in the morning with six companies of soldiers to Moses' camp. The government say they can't stand another year's siege. So they want to end it all this year.

Constitution of the State of Washington.

The Lewiston TELLER—whose editor was a member of the Constitutional Convention—rather censures the press of the Territory because, thus far, little has been said, by them, relative to the proposed Constitution. We can only speak for ourselves. We have said but little, as yet, chiefly because we have not had a copy of the Constitution entire, until quite recently. The first and entire copy which we have seen is in the Olympia Courier of August 9th; and even now it is by no means certain that it is authentic. We shall publish the Constitution entire, although it is quite lengthy; for it contains questions for decisions by the qualified voters of the Territory, of the greatest importance. Nor shall we remain silent ourselves. Every editor in the Territory should express his views frankly on all the questions of any moment involved in the proposed Constitution. If, as a whole, its provisions are wise and good, they should be adopted; but if, as a whole, its provisions are unwise and inexpedient, it should be rejected.—Dayton News.

Colorado Quartz.

The Denver News says:
At the present time eighteen quartz mills, with nearly five hundred stamps, are in active operation in Gilpin county, and this number will soon be largely increased. These mills crushed eighty thousand tons of ore during the past seven months, yielding $670,384 worth of gold retort. During the same time the Boston & Colorado Smelting Works have turned out over half as much gold and nearly seven hundred thousand dollars in silver. This famous institution (its headquarters will soon be established near Denver) has been doing more business this season than in the corresponding months of and previous year, draws its ore supply from nearly all parts of Colorado, while an occasional shipment comes from far off Montana and Utah. Besides the above, the Golden Smelting Company have an ore buying agent at Black Hawk. The agent of this company shipped one hundred and fourteen car loads (about nine hundred and twelve tons) of ore and mill tailings to Golden during the six months ending July 1, 1878. The value of these shipments was probably about fifty thousand dollars.

Joe Jefferson's Nap.

While Joe Jefferson was playing Rip Van Winkle, at Chicago, last Spring, he went to the theatre very much exhausted by a long day's fishing on the Lake. When the curtain rose on the third act it disclosed the white haired "Rip" still immersed in his twenty years nap. Five, ten, or twenty minutes elapsed, and still he did not waken. The audience began to grow impatient and the prompter uneasy. The great actor doubtless knew what he was about, but this was carrying the "realistic" sort of thing entirely too far. The fact was that all the time Jefferson was really sleeping the sleep of the just, or, rather, of the fisherman, who had sat eight hours in the sun without getting a single bite. Finally the gallery got to be so uproarious that one of the "gods" wanted to know if there "was going to be nineteen years more of this snooze business?" Here Jefferson began to snore. This decided the prompter, who opened a small trap beneath the stage and began to prod "Rip" from behind. The much-travelled tragedian began to fumble in his pockets for an imaginary ticket, and muttered, drowsily: "Going clean through, 'ductor." The audience was transfixed with amazement at this entirely new reading, when, suddenly, Jefferson sat up, with a loud shriek. The exasperated prompter had "jabbed" him with a pin. The play went on then—with a rush.—Ec.

Pursuing Indian Raiders.

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont., Aug. 26.—The ranchman from whom the Indians stole stock from at a ranch, on the Montana road a week ago, followed them with a party of citizens till found. They had joined a larger party and were too strong, when the pursuers returned. It is supposed that they are congregated near Henry Lake. Capt. Egan, with a company of 2d Cavalry, would reach Henry Lake yesterday. Small parties of soldiers are also in the National Park from Fort Ellis. Some of them will undoubtedly strike the Indians in a day or two.

Adopt the Constitution.

The Lewiston TELLER complains because the press of Eastern Washington does not discuss the State Constitution, and intimates as a reason of this neglect that those papers are awaiting to ascertain the popular feeling of the people, then join the multitude in advocating or denouncing it, as seems best to gain a public favor. We have seen no reason for discussing the Constitution; but that we may be plainly understood, and not accused of the despicable principle of catering approbation, let us inform the TELLER that the Gazette is anxious for the annexation of Northern Idaho to Washington and the adoption of the State Constitution. If the question was as to the immediate admission of the Territory into the Union, we would oppose it. Or if the adoption of the Constitution was to hasten it, our better judgement would be compelled to oppose it.
But a Constitution has been framed at a cost of nearly seven thousand dollars; the people can adopt this, and Congress will judge when Washington has the necessary population to entitle her to admission.—P. Gazette.
Even the above kind of support is far better than total apathy, for it furnishes something to consider. No one expects admission for two years at least. But the people should be prepared for the change in that time in case Congress should deem us competent to maintain a State government, for that is the only objection that that body can Constitutionally urge.

YELLOW FEVER.

Report from Various Places.
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 24.—New cases, 193; deaths, 42.
Hugh Irvine, chief operator of the Western Union telegraph office, this city, died this morning of yellow fever after six days illness.
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25.—New cases, 163; deaths, 33.
HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss, Aug. 25.—Six cases of yellow fever here; all refugees.
VICKSBURG, Aug. 25.—Sixty-eight new cases and sixteen deaths for the past twenty-four hours.
This fatal disease seems to be alarmingly on the increase in southern cities. The long dry and hot season has enhanced its virulence.

DON'T FORGET IT.

If you are troubled with nervousness or disheartened tired of life, fear death or feel out of sorts as the saying is, you may safely conclude that you have the Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint. The liver is very apt to become torpid this season of the year as poisons arising from stagnant water or decaying vegetation are more numerous and are through inhalation taken into the blood. Unless the liver is strong and active, and furnishes a supply of fresh and pure blood to drive out the impurities, the above mentioned symptoms surely follow, and if not heeded, end in more terrible diseases and death. White's Prairie Flower proves itself the Great Liver Panacea. Its action on the liver is different from any medicine ever compounded. Its cures are truly wonderful. Try it. Price twenty-five cents and seventy-five cents. 43-3mo.
