To the Voters in North Idaho.
The tickets provided by all parties in the counties of Nez Perce, Idaho and Shoshone have appended to them the questions connected with the Constitution for the State of Washington. Every voter should vote upon these questions. The manner of voting is explained at the top of the appended portion of the ticket. If the voter desires to vote "for" the Constitution, he should erase or scratch out the word "against" before the word Constitution, or if he chooses he may scratch out that whole line which reads as follows: "Against Constitution." If he desires to vote against the Constitution, let him scratch out the word "for" before Constitution, or if he chooses scratch out the whole line which reads "for Constitution." He should pursue a similar course on the question of each separate article. Separate article No. 1 has reference to woman suffrage; Separate article No. 2 has reference to both woman suffrage and eligibility to hold office. Separate article No. 3 has reference to the right of a town, county or district, by a majority vote, to forbid license to persons to sell intoxicating liquors in small quantities. These separate articles should be examined as found attached to the Constitution as printed so that the voter can vote intelligently upon them. After the ballots are received and before the count, the judges should sever that part of ballot which relates to the Constitution and Separate articles, and place the Constitution and Separate article part in a separate box from that part of the ballots which relate to officers, and count them separately, and make their returns of the Constitution and Separate article vote to the commissioners at Lewiston, I. T., within ten days after the election. The commissioners are, Wm. Ewing, Hazen Squier, F. A. Fenner, J. M. Crooks and R. M. G. Bradley. The above ought to be sufficient direction to enable all to comprehend the duty of all.

In a Bad Fix.
The Idahoan has appeared under new auspices with J. R. Pyle as publisher and J. B. Foster as editor, the latter we are informed is a Baptist minister. In the first number under the new arrangement we find the following complimentary notice of the TELLER under the caption
GIVE US A REST:
The Lewiston TELLER comes to us each week burdened down with its old song of division, annexation &c. It is strange that some men never tire of a subject, even when it is threadbare. We have had that division question served up in all its variations and yet it continues to be hashed anew, served at each meal and given a prominent place on the table. It reminds us of our early experience in Oregon, when we were only a boy, and before the conveniences and luxuries of life could be obtained in that then new and sparsely settled region. Our morning meal would consist of bread, salmon and potatoes, and dinner for a change would be salmon, potatoes and bread, while supper consisted of potatoes, bread and salmon. To most men this state of affairs soon becomes very monotonous but occasionally we found one who really seemed to grow fat on it.
We sympathize with our neighbor in his change of position, that he has to feed upon "bread, salmon and potatoes." We suggest to him that by going back to his old calling, he may be able to feed on "yellow legged chickens."
DON'T FORGET IT.
If you are troubled with nervousness or pishatened tired of life, fear death or feel out of sorts as the saying is, you may safely conclude that you have the Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint. The liver is very apt to become torpid this season of the year as poisons arising from stagnant water or decaying vegetation are more numerous and are through inhalation taken into the blood. Unless the liver is strong and active, and furnishes a supply of fresh red pure blood to drive out the impurities, the above mentioned systems surely follow, and if not heeded, end in more terrible diseases and death. White's Prairie Flower proves itself the Great Liver Panacea. Its action on the liver is different from any medicine ever compounded. Its cures are truly wonderful. Try it. Price twenty-five cents and seventy-five cents. 43-3mo.

The Separate Articles.
Several persons have asked us to explain the separate articles to be voted on in connection with the constitution vote. The following are the articles, which, if adopted by a majority vote of the whole state, will become a part of the constitution, but if not adopted will form no part of the constitution. Or if either one of them is adopted it will form a part, but if not adopted it will not. The word "for" adopts, and the word "against" rejects.
Separate Article No. 1.—No person, who is otherwise a qualified elector, shall be denied the right to vote in this State, on account of sex, anything in this Constitution to the contrary notwithstanding.
Separate Article No. 2.—No person shall be denied the right, on account of sex, to vote or hold office in this state; nor shall such right be, in any manner, abridged on account of sex.
Separate Article No. 3.—It shall be lawful for the electors of any county, municipal corporation or precinct not included within the corporate limits of any municipality, at any general election, to prohibit, by a majority vote, the sale or disposal of spirituous liquors in less quantities than one gallon, except for medicinal or mechanical purposes. And the legislature shall pass, at its first session, such laws as will carry into effect this article, if adopted.
Political.
MR. EDITOR:—We are apt to overlook our most important duty and to forget our chief object as citizens, in allowing ourselves to be influenced from that choice of a candidate, who has the ability, to represent and adopt our immediate interest, in this approaching November election. That man not competent in any sense to perform the duties of the office he seeks, may attempt to demand of us support upon purely grounds of friendship. But must we as citizens disregard our higher duties in voting for efficient candidates, to carry out the budding interests of this rich and new developing country, by voting for a friend who has neither the energy or ability to execute an official trust? We have to-day greater interests at stake than any State of the Union, and these prospective advantages so important to our future citizenship rest with the men whom we clothe with official honor. Ever keeping in view the adoption of the recently framed State Constitution, our union with the great prospective State of Washington and wise enactments in our Legislative halls for these advancements. In every new country so prolific of fortunes, at almost the whim or caprice of settlers there is always an unjust encroachment by some portion or clique of the community to the great detriment and discouragement of present settlers and forthcoming emigration. The true guardians of our interests will labor to correct these evils and by enhancing individual rights and privileges will ensure the public good. The man who trades his dearest rights, that to him they may appear small, for position or emolument, cannot be entrusted with the right of an other, much less a trust from public hands. Mark then the men who ask office by your vote, if they have been treacherous in the least of your gifts, how can important duties be entrusted to them? As a people of Idaho we are in our infancy, but the natural richness around us proclaims for us a rapid growth. It is then on account of this rapid transition that we need be the more cautious; lest an unhealthy body politic may be cured. The right man then in the right place in our first efforts will obviate this at the coming election.
THE CONSTITUTION.—Although few newspapers have discussed the Constitution, it is our opinion that it should be adopted. Even if it does not suit all can we do better? It will involve the people in a still greater expense to necessitate the calling of another convention; and the admittance of our Territory as a State will soon be a positive necessity. The people need not fear that capital will appear to build our railroads when the population will justify any article in the proposed Constitution to the contrary, notwithstanding.—Dayton Chronicle.

A Consistent Course.
There is this much about Mr. Caton—a fact which argues immensely in his favor—that having once defied his position full and candidly upon the issues of the present campaign, in his opening address at Colfax over five weeks ago; he has never deviated from it in the least. What he said to the citizens of Seattle on last Saturday evening he has said all over the Territory; as we observe from the published reports of his speeches in our exchanges.
In the outset he took a decided stand against any further continuance of the railroad land monopoly in this Territory; declared himself in favor of a further extension of time for the completion of the road only under the restriction that the railroad lands should at once be opened up to settlement. He was equally as pronounced in the beginning, in favor of the State movement, and the adoption of the Constitution.
He has in no wise recanted to the common political device of playing at cross purposes; for the purpose of catching votes, or carrying favor in certain localities. There has been no political hair splitting or quibbling with him; no minding the matter; no beating about the bush of pending issues. He has plainly and unmistakably declared his honest convictions, irrespective of consequences, and in a manner not to be mistaken.
Whatever objections may have been urged against the Vancouver platform, through a misconstruction of the natural import of the same, certainly there can be no opposition from the masses against the position which Mr. Caton has clearly and unmistakably taken upon it. He has declared himself unequivocally in favor of the State movement not only on Puget Sound, but wherever he has appeared during this campaign. He has advocated the adoption of the Constitution as earnestly.—We notice by our exchanges—in those sections where it is supposed to have encountered the greatest opposition, as on Puget Sound. He has set his face sternly and unflinchingly against all monopoly or legislation, as opposed to the best interest of the people of this Territory. He, however, justly favors an extension of time for the N. P. R. R.; but only under proper and necessary restrictions. These restrictions are that there shall be no further continuance of the present land monopoly, and that the railroad lands shall be immediately opened up to settlement.
Mr. Caton has shown himself throughout the campaign a plain-spoken, honest and earnest advocate of the interests of the people; a champion of their cause; a master of the present situation; an uncompromising enemy of every sort of injustice; and has assured us as thoroughly as any man can, under any circumstances that if elected he will labor zealously for the advancement of the interests of this Territory as a whole, and that he will in no wise allow himself to be influenced by other considerations than these.
What more can be asked for, or expected of the candidate, and it is to the candidate—to the man alone to whom we are to look for the furtherance of our interests as a people, and not to the platform of any party. It is the man whom we choose to elect, and that upon his own individual merits—for what there is in him; and for what he can accomplish before Congress as a simple petitioner from this Territory—and not a party platform. Yet some would make it appear that the candidate himself does not rise above the distinction of a simple tail to this flimsy party kite; that he is a mere machine; a sort of necessary appendage to a few hastily improvised resolutions, which, at least as soon as the campaign is over, are effectually lost sight of.—Pacific Tribune.
Re-Opening a Thoroughfare.
In order to guard against a further utter subversion of health, it is absolutely essential that the grand thoroughfare or avenue of the system; the bowels, should be re-opened as speedily as possible when they become obstructed. If they are not, the bile is misdirected into the blood; the liver becomes torpid; viscid bilious matter gets into the stomach, and produces indigestion, headache, neuralgia, and other symptoms are produced, which a protraction of the exciting cause only tends to aggravate. The aperient properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters constitute a most useful agent in overcoming constipation of the bowels, and promoting a regular habit of body. It is infinitely superior to the drastic cathartics frequently used for the purpose, since it does not, like them, act violently. But produces a natural, painless effect, which does not impair the tone of the evacuator, or organs, which it invigorates instead of weakening. The stomach and liver, also, indeed the entire system, is strengthened and regulated by it.

Lets Him Down Easy.
The Dayton News gives the following notice of the new daily of the Statesman:
NEW DAILY.
We have received several numbers of the Daily Statesman, published in Walla Walla by W. H. Newell. It is neatly printed, publishes late telegraphic dispatches, and is locally quite newsy. The citizens of Walla Walla should liberally patronize this enterprise; for we undertake to say it will benefit them more than its proprietor. It costs lots of money to run a daily; money down every Saturday night and no mistake. True, Mr. Newell is sometimes sarcastic and bitter. He had as his best friend his best friend, but he can't help it; he's constituted that way, and those who are subjected to his scolding knife ought to judge of him charitably. There is no question that he is a man of large brain as well as—abundant; and he advocates the interests of Walla Walla in a bold and trenchant manner. En passant—We see he is very ill, at this writing. We sincerely hope he will speedily recover. We hope he may live one thousand years, snapping and biting to the last, and then dry up, like an old Frenchman in Kaskaskia bottom, and blow away.
Letter from Waha Prairie.
WAHA PRAIRIE, Lake Precinct, Oct. 29th.
MR. EDITOR:—Changes play an important part in the main feature of this section of the country. The side hills and uplands are marked with Fall plowing, and as a contrast, new buildings are springing up on every side. The new county road is steadily tracing its way around the lake mountain to the timbered gulches, where many thousand calls are awaiting an outlet. The regular routine of our dough yeast life has been somewhat disturbed, on account of the arrival of five more ladies into this neighborhood. Walter Fee is being blessed by a visit from his two sisters, Andrew J. Glass rode in recently with his two daughters from the east, and Mr. Lambert has just received his wife from his former home in York State. The killed horse, the property of Jack Oliver, over which the event Jack is intending to raise a new flag on the liberty pole in the rear of his stable. Billy Stevens the best sick man in the country is again on his feet and bids fair to superintend another harvest. Between broods and blessings, Waha, at this writing, is certainly blessed.
COGGAN'S MURDERERS.—One of the hostiles that assisted in the murder of George Coggan and then turned states evidence, has gone crazy and stands in the Pendleton jail yard chained by one foot. Sufficient evidence has been obtained to justify the hanging up of several of them.—Bee.
THE CASCADE CANAL.—The contract for the construction of the Cascade canal was signed and completed by Colonel Wilson on Saturday October 19th, and the contractor, Mr. Ball, has left Portland with Mr. Bolton to commence preparations for the work.
COL. GILLESPIE IN CHARGE.—Colonel John M. Wilson transferred the charge of this engineering district to Col. Geo. L. Gillespie to-day. Col. Wilson will leave for Washington on the next trip of the Oregon, probably the 28th or 29th.—Oregonian.
Solemn's Additional Homestead Scrip can be located without settlement, upon any government lands subject to entry by Homestead or Pre-emption, and is the only paper that can be located without settlement on such lands. To all who desire to purchase I will sell the only first class scrip paper offered at $3.25 per acre for 80s and 120s; $3.75 per acre for 40s; fractions at special rates. Used can issue same day of location. Patent is issued to party holding the receipt. No other can supply a deed for the lands located direct from the original claimant to whom the scrip was issued, and as much of that class is now on the market, would advise caution in purchasing. Buy that only which will stand the strictest scrutiny and is guaranteed to the purchaser. The other class of Additional Homesteads known by its dealers "doats" can be supplied at $2.30 to $2.85 per acre. The class I sell can not be held at any such rate, and I will pay to any one in this section who is the original claimant, and desires to dispose of the same, $2.40 per acre, and in addition pay all fees. Do not fail to see my agents and investigate this matter fully, as this is the only way to be come convinced of the purity of the scrip offered, and its advantage in making location. My agent at Walla Walla is
