

THE SHERMAN TROUBLES.

The full facts of the trouble between the General and Mrs. S., and Tom's espousal of the priesthood, their present estrangement.

[Columbus, O., Letter to Toledo Journal] So many conflicting stories have been going the rounds of the press concerning the reported difficulties between Gen. Sherman and his wife, growing out of the announcement of Tom's determination to enter the priesthood, that we feel it nothing but right that the public should know the facts in the case, as they come to us from the most reliable sources.

Gen. Sherman's ambition was that his son should enter the legal profession; Mrs. Sherman, from his early childhood, had consecrated him to the priesthood. At eight years old he began, under his mother's guidance and counsel, to prepare for his vocation. But all this was carefully kept from the general, who, Mrs. Sherman had every reason to believe, would be violently opposed to the project.

Last Summer, in accordance with his long-formed intention, General Sherman entered into negotiations with a St. Louis firm, whereby upon the payment of $7,000 or $8,000, he secured a desirable legal connection for his son. The step was taken with the full knowledge of Mrs. Sherman and his son, neither of them interposing an objection although knowing all the time the plan would inevitably fail.

Then came the blow to the general's dearest prospects, from which he will never recover while life lasts, and which during the months past has created a wide gulf between him and his immediate family.

Gen. Sherman charges his wife with systematic Jesuitism, with a deliberate plan of deception practiced upon him and his children, dating back to the infancy of his son. Mrs. Sherman denies that this has been the case, but those familiar with her entire course feel that the denial is but a part of her scheme. It is widely known that in all matters pertaining to her religion she is wildly fanatical, and an extremist upon every point and dogma; but the general, until now, has been quite willing to take his own course, leaving his wife to go her way, taking her children with her.

When Mrs. Sherman was making her warfare on dancing the general perpetually shocked her by skipping at every soiree and reception at Washington; and when she went to the confessional he was tearing down the avenue behind the lightest stepping horses in the city. He ought not to complain if, ignoring family affairs so long, he finds them taken from him altogether.

Mrs. Sherman believes there is no salvation outside the Catholic church, and in accordance with this belief seeks to anchor all her friends to it. When the mighty intellect of her venerable father, Hon. Thomas Ewing, Sr., was tottering and he groped like a child in his dotage, she had him baptized into the church; and when her youngest child was born nine years ago—she being in difficult labor and his life in danger—she sent for a priest and had him baptized before he came into the world.

But to the trouble. When Tom informed his father that he was about to become a priest, the father tried to induce him to break his determination. It then first dawned upon his mind that he had been deceived and duped in the whole matter. His anger knew no bounds, and resolved to keep aloof from his wife and family, he rented his furnished house in St. Louis, which they had vacated temporarily for a visit at Lancaster, O., for the following year. Upon learning this, Mrs. Sherman sent her daughter Ellen to intercede with her father, who was peremptorily returned to her mother. Rachel then went with no better success. In sending her back the general told her to inform her mother that he wanted to see no more of them. After that he communicated in no way with his family, saving once by telegraph during Mrs. Sherman's illness, saying he hoped she was better. Mrs. Sherman and her youngest children have remained at Lancaster, and the breach between her and the general is as wide as ever.

Gen. Crook says: "An Indian whose whole life is given to the problem of how to live and how to protect himself from the aggressions of others, wants something more than mere assurance of the benefits arising from adopting our religion. It is hard to get an Indian to adopt our religion on an empty stomach. An Indian would have a poor opinion of a God who would not keep his belly full."

Truth in a Nut Shell.

On one occasion at a council of Umatilla chiefs Bruno said that the white man loves the Indians, whereupon Chief Umpine slowly arose and said:

When the white man says he loves the Indian he lies, and when the Indian says he loves the white man he lies.

Prospective Indian War.

True to the statement published last summer after the editor of this paper had made a trip to the Yakima country there is a good prospect for an Indian war as soon as the snow begins to fly.

According to our best advices, it will require a garrison of troops in the Yakima country to prevent the whites from breaking out, if opportunity offers by which they can wage a brief war of extermination. The whites believe that necessity compels such action. They fear the result of allowing the Indians to winter over their stolen stock for another Summer's campaign. There is no reasonable doubt existing in our mind that there are assembled on the Upper Columbia, within a day's ride of the Kittitas and Yakima valleys, several hundred renegade Indians, who would rather steal, murder and pillage than act honestly. The whites think it is positively necessary to rid the country of those fiends as soon as winter fairly begins. They are preparing to do so. It is feared, however, that others and more peaceful Indians may be induced to take a hand against the whites, if hostilities are begun. There is one way to prevent an outbreak, and that would be the immediate establishment of a military post in the Yakima country. We trust that Gen. Howard can now see the necessity of the case, and that he will take the necessary steps to remedy the evil.—Tacoma Herald.

The sentiment of the people of Yakima and Kittitas valleys evidently does not tally with that of Gen. Howard in regard to prospects of an Indian conflict.

Mad Moses.

That an Indian outbreak will occur in the Spring is almost certain. A correspondent writing from Yakima says: "At this writing there are large numbers of savages collected just across the Columbia from here, killing cattle, boldly, and with impunity; and that a general Indian war will take place here early in the coming Spring is manifest by too many evidences here to state. We, accordingly, are preparing for the work, and that without the counsel of Gov. Ferry. Since his contemptuous manner of treating our appeals last Summer, we have coluded to let him out, and direct our appeals to more willing agencies." The Klickitat Sun proposes: "It is well known that Moses intends to fight next Summer and that he is preparing for this. Now wouldn't it be better for the whites to form a society and 'When the snow falls break out.'—P. Standard.

The scarcity of Diamonds, Gold and silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value.

This is with a valuable medicine. Dr. Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the Sun, sweep back the Ocean with a broom or put out a prairie fire with a tear.

For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections, it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your druggist, J. Q. Moxley for it. The genuine bears the Prussian Coat of Arms, the fac-simile signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown on every 75 cent bottle. Trial bottle 25 cents.

Idaho Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Delegate Fenn introduced a bill for the improvement of Clearwater. He also introduced one repealing the law which authorizes the purchase by the Indian bureau of certain improvements on the Nez Perce reservation; also one fixing the fees of marshal and district attorney in Idaho the same as they are in Oregon.

The above we copy from dispatches to the W. W. Statesman. Mr. Fenn has a good basis in the report of Eastwick upon which to urge an appropriation.
