THE REUNION.

Owing to severe rains on Tuesday evening, and the prospects of a general failure of the people coming, on account of the unfavorable aspect of the weather, Maj. Harper of Lenoir, Commander, thought proper to postpone the encampment until some time in September. He telegraphed to Boone and other places that the postponement was agreed to by the committee at Lenoir and at Blowing Rock. News of the action was sent out as much as was possible in the short space of time given, but many people who had to travel a full day before reaching Blowing Rock had already started with their families, camp equipments, provisions etc., and in spite of rain and mud arrived at the encampment on Wednesday evening and Thursday morning. Quite a large crowd was at the speaker's stand Wednesday, and Maj. Harper explained the action of the committee in postponing the encampment and pled justification.

The Rev. Dr. Rumble, of Salisbury, was introduced and made a short, practical speech, giving some interesting incidents of the war. He said it was hard to make a speech on such an occasion, as it was neither political, agricultural, war nor a sermon, and really did not know what to say. But at the same time the Rev. gentleman interested the people.

Rev. G. W. Sanderlin, State Auditor, was the next speaker, and spoke for an hour. He was full of the reminiscences of the war, having served as a Capt. in the 33rd N. C. Infantry. He is a captivating orator, with full voice and dramatic jesticulations and is large, and fine looking. We would like to speak of his most excellent address in full, but we cannot do justice to his wonderful oratory and will have to refrain from the task. Many of his old comrades were present and shook him by the hand at the close of his speech with tears streaming down their faces. This ended the first day of the reunion, and a general handshaking among the old battle scarred veterans followed.

Friday, after the morning passed off, the weather was more favorable and the people kept pouring in, until the assembly would have numbered near 2000 people.

Col. G. N. Folk, of the 6th N. C. Cavalry, was next to address the people. All who are acquainted with his ability need not be told that he made a grand speech. His theme was, "The Southern Soldiers since the war, after they were disbanded and again resuming their duties as civil citizens." Stating that the true manhood of the South was the Confederate soldier. His eulogy upon the Southern women was masterly, during which time many tears were shed; and the Colonel often got so full of himself that he could not proceed without stopping to recover himself. His speech all through was classical and full of happy illustration and pathos.

The Rev. J. A. Weston, of Hickory, was then introduced. He too was an old veteran, and Maj. of the same regiment with Capt. Sanderlin. His eulogy upon the speakers who had preceded him, and more especially Capt. Sanderlin, was amusing, in some particulars, but grand and complimentary in other respects. He said that he and Sanderlin "had eaten together, slept together, fought together and sometimes run together." He spoke of Capt. S. as a second Vance in North Carolina.

He spoke of Col. Folk as a great lawyer, and would add down the Supreme bench in the State or United States Court.

He called himself a "rebel", and was full of sympathy for the Southern soldier, and advocated the building of the Soldiers' Home for disabled veterans. To say the least, the Maj. is a fine speaker and a man of high culture and intelligence.

At the close, other speakers were called for and a number of them responded with short but very interesting speeches. Capt. Sanderlin made a statement of the amendment pension law of N. C. for the benefit of disabled Confederates.

The meeting adjourned with good will and best wishes for all. We think it was a great success, considering the adverse circumstances under which it was held.

The Voice

Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such conditions, become not only painful but dangerous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of remedies, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."

"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an auctioneer any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c."—Wm. H. Quarty, Milton, Australia.

"In the spring of 1883, at Portsmouth, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George B. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.
