

THE EDITOR.

Allegorically speaking the editor is a happy medium between a soupstone and a porter-house steak.

Whenever a girl with a face like a cream puff marries a youth who never earned a dime outside the shooting gallery, the editor has to paint the bride as a radiant vision of blushing beauty.

It has been libelously reported that the editor's diet is confined mainly to eight drafts and summer squashes taken on subscription, but he appears to be as resigned to his lot as a man whose wife has gone to the seashore.

A Fair For Negroes.

Prominent negroes in Greensboro are enthusiastic over the project for a negro fair association with headquarters in the city and fair grounds near the Colored A. & M. College.

It is the hope of those interested in the plan to hold the first fair this fall. Stock in the company has been sold here, in Durham, Winston Salem and elsewhere.

The Bristow Amendment

Most of the Southern States favor election of Senators by the people but cannot accept it with the Bristow amendment on it, as it went from the House to the Senate, which takes from states the right to control their elections.

"Why don't you give your money an allowance?" "I did, once, and I spent it before I could get it back."—Washington Post.

Ages of the Candidates.

Governor Harmon is the oldest of the men prominently mentioned in the presidential race His age is 66, and Speaker Champ Clark is just four years his junior.

Governor Wilson is 56, and President Taft a year younger. Colonel Roosevelt is 54 years old and Mr. Underwood is the baby of the lot with fifty milestones to his credit.

Senator La Follette, who is a native of Wisconsin, is the only candidate from a State which has not furnished at least one President for the Nation.

Forest Conservation Important.

The matter of the preservation of our forests should concern every citizen. Of this important question the Progressive Farmer says:

Conservation of the forests in the Appalachians and on the far off slopes of the Rockies might not have prevented the floods in the Mississippi Valley this spring but it certainly would have lessened the damage done by them.

H. Waggoner, Alva, W. Va., says that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is the best medicine for coughs and colds he has ever known.

New Girl—Please, mum, the fires out and the cook wants to know where the kerosene. Mistress—We don't keep kerosene, but if you are in a hurry, you will find a small keg of powder in my husband's room.—Life.

"Young man, how do you expect to marry my daughter if you are in debt?" "Well sir, opinion it's the only square thing to do. The longer I am engaged to her the worse off I will be."—Life.

The Doctor—Hark! Whence comes cries of agony? The Lawyer—They come from the office of the dentist. Last week the chiropodist operated on the dentist, agreeing to take his bill out in trade and now the dentist is taking it out.—Satire.

Current Fiction. Kidnapper—That fellow makes a living writing light fiction. Kiddee—He doesn't look like a literary chap Kidder—He's not He makes out statements for the electric light company.—Judge.

It is said that opportunity knocks at every man's door at some time. Many men are away from home when the knocking is done.

Youth lives in the future; old age in the past. That's why youth should build for a contented old age.—Ex.

Your real friends are the ones who kindly point out your faults—after which you do not count them friends.

Whether a thing is right or wrong may depend upon who does it—you or the other fellow.

Twenty Rules For the Married.

Don't forget and leave your lithe courtesies and general kindness at some hotel on your wedding trip. You will need them on the rest of life's journey.

Don't unbosom yourself about your family troubles.

Don't arrange for your second marriage before your first wife is dead.

Don't support the wife and children of the saloon keeper at the expense of your own wife and children.

Don't have nervous prostration when your wife asks you to go out with her for an evening. It is hard on a woman to be a grass widow all the time.

Don't make your wife a stranger to your check book. She is not a hired servant. She is a partner in the business.

Don't make your wife a pack horse. The eight hour man with the sixteen hour wife needs to unionize his home.

Don't carry all your religion in your wife's name.

Don't overlook the fact that the decalogue of Moses is still on the statute books and that it is written for husbands as well as for wives.

Don't forget that the happiest spot on earth is your home.

Don't marry for a bank account or even to escape being an old maid.

After marriage do not put on an old wrapper and leave your hair on the bureau and wear slippers run down at the heels.

Don't be a slave of fashions making yourself a spectacle for the bystanders on the street.

Don't be a gossip.

Do not break down the no license laws by serving liquor at parties ever if you can't purchase and give you entrance in to the best set.

Do not forget the age of your children in the street car or other places.

Do not let loose on your husband on your sons or on your daughters or on your father or mother on ironing day or wish day or in housecleaning time.

Do not spell home as "debt" or "matinee" or "moving pictures" or even "church socials."

Do not make your attendance at worship a matter of thermometer and barometer.—The Chronicle.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it.

It is not a woman's place to care for the pigs and poultry, to chop wood or milk cows when there is a strong healthy man around. Keeping a home in good order is enough for any woman.

To The Unknown Many

I raise no glass to the man whose fame has spread from coast to coast—Whose talents have served to place his name With those men honor most.

My toast is not for the lady fair Whose grace and charming ways Have sent men marveling everywhere And won her kingly praise.

I raise no glass to the hero who has won deserved applause—Who has done as the brave alone may do In a daring, righteous cause.

I drink no health to the one whose voice Mankind shall never forget—Whose talent has made the world rejoice, And led her in her debt.

I raise my glass to the silent hero. Spread o'er the world's expanse—To the unknown many, who might have soared, But never had a chance.

—A. Edwin List in Simmons Magazine.

J. W. Jordan, a well known dentist of Hopkinsville, Ky., recently had an operation for his kidney kidney trouble, but he says: "The first real relief I got was after taking Foley Kidney Pills. They eased the pain in my back and accomplished more good than anything I had tried. I gladly recommend them." For sale by all dealers.

How Much Fresh Air.

Air, and especially fresh air, in bedrooms at night, has by dint of incessant warning and preaching at last become the goal of all thinking people.

Some people take the fresh air only as a timid bathers takes to the water. They have heard that it is good for them, and they think it is; but in reality they detest it and regard it as full of threat and peril.

Sometimes inquirers show by their question that they really desire to do right, hygienically, if only they know how to begin. For these there is a motto for their banner—"Be bold, be bold, and evermore be bold!"

What constitutes bad air in a bedroom? The answer to this is, any air that has been re-breathed.

To what extent should the window be kept open in cold weather for one in ordinary health? The answer to this is to the same extent that it should be kept open in all weather, and in all states of health—wide! Furthermore, when it can possibly be managed, windows should be spelled with an "s." Fortunate is the sleeper who has one on at least two sides of his room.

It is not wise to feel cold, neither is it necessary. It stands to reason that with wide-open windows in winter, warmer coverings will be needed. A properly ventilated bedroom will be of the temperature of the outside air, or very nearly so, and summer blankets will not avail.

The Chronicle cannot understand the logic of the minister, who on the last go round, asked Richeson if he was "willing to die for Jesus' sake." Richeson was not dying for Jesus' sake. He was paying the just penalty for the most dastardly crime that a man can commit, barring not even the unmentionable crime for which lynching is the usual result.

Mrs. Rose A. Freeman, Clifford, Va., says they have long used Foley's Remedies and want to say a good word for them. She writes: "Foley Kidney Pills cured my husband of a long-standing kidney trouble, after he had taken other medicines without relief. We would not be without Foley & Co's. medicines in our house in our house for many times their cost." For sale by all dealers.

Many a man will be disappointed when he tries to get into heaven on a promissory note.

Dr. J. T. R. Neal, Prop. Riverside Drug Co., Greenville, S. C., writes recently, "I have been a practicing physician for over 35 years and have sold and administered many kidney medicines but none equal to Foley Kidney Pills. They are superior to any I ever used and give the quickest permanent relief. For sale by all dealers.

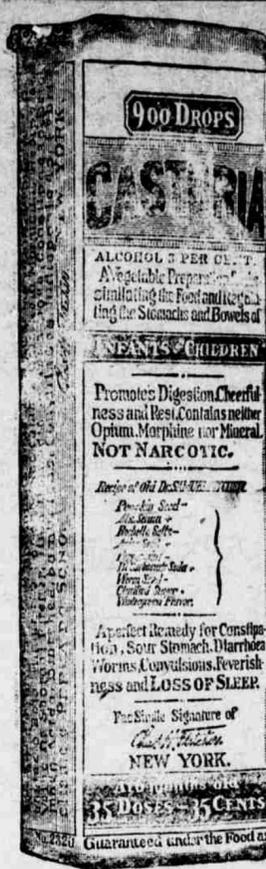

Every dollar should purchase a hundred cents' worth of life.

DEAFNESS CAN NOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflated you have a ringing sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out, and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent for circulars, free.
