

Late from California.

Captain B. W. Johnson, U. S. A., had arrived at San Francisco from the North Pacific Coast. On alighting at the R. R. depot, he had his pocket picked of about one thousand dollars in money and as much more in treasury drafts.

The Indian war has commenced in North California. General Kibbe with fourteen men was attacked near Humboldt River by one hundred and fifty Indian warriors. The latter were repulsed with the loss of twenty killed and thirteen squaws and children made prisoners.

Of the volunteers under Kibbe, two were wounded; John Houck in the head and body, and Sam'l Everlander in both thighs. A second engagement followed a day afterwards, in which Calvin Guan was dangerously wounded and the Indians routed; Cen Pen Tem, their most noted chief, was among killed. Over one hundred prisoners from the Humboldt country had been marched to Uniontown by Captain Messick.

Charles Reed, a survivor of the Central America disaster, was burned to death in his cabin in Grass Valley.

Capt. Russell, who was shot by Gilman at the ball at the Sansone Hotel is dead.

Hon. Gilbert A. Brush, an old Texian Ranger, and one of the original Mier prisoners, was killed by the accidental discharge of his pistol near Los Angeles.

The Philadelphia Press condenses from the news by the latest steamer, the following personal news of the English royal family:

The Prince of Wales after residing a few months in Rome, (much to the holy horror of "my Lord Phylactery," and other eminent intolerants,) is to pay a visit to the King of Sarina, at Turin, in the spring. Lastly, Queen Victoria, who will not be forty until next May, has become intitled to the venerable title of "Grand-mama."

On the 27th of January precisely a year and a day after her marriage with Prince Frederick of Prussia, the Princess Royal of England became the mother of a boy. The news reached Windsor Castle, from Berlin, exactly six minutes after the event. Had the Atlantic cable been at work, America would have had the news some four to five hours before the noted time of its occurrence in Prussia! Where is De Sauty?

THE REVOLUTION IN HAYTI.—It is said that the revolution in Hayti, which has just resulted in the flight of the Emperor Solouque, and the proclamation of la Republique, was occasioned by the financial crisis which occurred about a year ago, and was brought about by the flight of the broker Reimbaud, who carried off a million of dollars, and plunged the island into commercial ruin. Solouque was freely charged with having aided his escape, owing it was said, to certain financial transactions of his own, in connection with Reimbaud or his friends. Certain it is the Emperor permitted Reimbaud to evade justice, and bring destruction upon nearly all the commercial prosperity of the empire. Since this event Solouque's subjects have been ripe for revolution.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Mr. Forsythe formally tendered to-day at the State Department, his resignation as Minister to Mexico. Mr. Cass assured him that his entire course has met with the entire approbation of this Government, which has yet come to no determination relative to Mexican affairs. The disposition of the President is to await further developments during which he is not prepared to recognize either of the Governments.

Mr. Forsythe's resignation was prompted by reasons of delicacy, he not being desirous to continue in a diplomatic capacity under the present circumstances, and while the actions of our government regarding Mexico remains undetermined.

ALMOST AN ESCAPE.—Bently, confined in the guard-house at Fort Buchanan, for desertion and horse stealing, made, a few evenings since, a daring attempt to escape. Being allowed to go to the door of the guard-house he suddenly sprang out, kicked off his irons (which had been previously filed apart) and started off on the full run. He was fired at by the sentry, but not injured, and was in a fair way to get clear, when suddenly turning a corner, he ran right into the stout arms of sergeant Morris, who happened to be at that particular locality. He was instantly seized by the sergeant and conducted back to the prison, since which time he has been supplied with stronger irons.

Gen. Miramon is believed to have sent emissaries to invite Santa Anna to Mexico.

The Special Message before the Senate.

After the discussion of a few private Pension bills, an important message was received from the President, in the Senate. A partial debate took place on the motion to refer the message to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Messrs. Clingman and Bigler spoke briefly in support of the message.

Mr. Seward considered that it was a sad sight to see the President of the United States asking Congress to confer upon him the war-making power, in order to assimilate his functions to those of European governments. The passage of a bill granting the President such power as he asks would be a virtual surrender of the powers of Congress, in opposition to the express precepts of the Constitution.

Mr. Fessenden expressed similar views, and cited the Paraguay expedition, which was to consist of a single ship, and is now an armada of twenty sails, as an instance of how the President now comes forward and asks for general powers.

Mr. Douglas was glad to see the President had called attention to this subject. He considered that the President ought to have power to keep open the transit routes to our citizens and commerce. Moreover, he ought to be invested with power to summarily enforce redress for any outrage on our flag, or our property wherever it may occur; the Executive of every other country has it. Mr. Douglas did not mean to give a special vote of confidence in the present Executive, but he was content to intrust that power to him and his successors in all time. Our policy is to make the Executive strong abroad and to make the American name respected, but not unduly to increase the Executive power within the United States. He hoped that this message would originate a more vigorous and efficient foreign policy.

Mr. Davis could not concur in the doctrine of the Senator from Illinois (Mr. Douglas) to its full extent. There is no foreseeing to what limit it might not extend, if urged by ambition or by any other feeling. That we want to invest the executive with more power than our fore-fathers gave, only marks the decadence of the American people. Mr. Davis would prefer the delay of Congressional action to the surrender of great constitutional principle; but he did not understand the President as asking for undue or irresponsible powers. The Transit Route was constructed by American citizens, with American capital, and is therefore an exceptional case. Mr. Davis would allow the executive the power he asked, but would limit to the special case that is known to exist.

WARLIKE PREPARATION OF FRANCE.—France continues her warlike preparations. It is rumored that Pelissier will soon return, to be succeeded as Minister to London by the Duke De Montibello. Great anxiety was felt regarding the speech of the Emperor of France which is to be delivered at the opening of the Legislature on the 7th inst. It was rumored that he is preparing a surprise for the world, and that war was a certainty. The Minister of the Colonies had decided that the emigration of Africans shall be superseded by Chinese.

Rumors were current in England of extensive warlike preparations by France, including an addition of three thousand men to the force of the navy.

The marriage of Prince Napoleon was celebrated at Turin on the 20th ult. The bridal party forthwith started for Paris.

The Cuba Bill Defeated.

In the Senate, on the 21st, the hour of half past one o'clock having arrived, a debate ensued as to the order of business, the Vice President submitting to the Senate whether the consideration of the appropriation bill should be considered, or the bill for the acquisition of Cuba be taken up.

Mr. Slidell said that if the Cuba bill was postponed he would consider it an evasion of a direct vote on the bill. He had been informed by his opponents that they intended to prevent a vote upon it this session. After some other remarks a vote was taken on the question of postponing, and it was agreed to. Yeas 33, nays 32.

WOODMAN, SPARE THAT TREE.—In order to make both ends meet, the Committee on Military Affairs, it seems, are thinking of reducing the expenses of the Army; and the reduction, so we are told, will cut off the paltry $5,000 brevet pay from the veteran Gen. Scott.

There is something in this proceeding, as it strikes us, so ineffably mean, that it is to be hoped Congress will not consent. If the Government is reduced to so miserable a plight, as to be forced thus to rob an old soldier, we will undertake to raise $5,000 for Mr. Cobb, at a meeting of the citizens of New York, any night in the week, provided we are spared the national disgrace, and the national shame, of thus taking back, from the glorious old hero the beggarly pittance that accompanied his brevet.

The Pinal Apaches.

On the 18th inst., Captain Ewell will leave Fort Buchanan for Canon del Oro, near Tucson, to meet the Pinal Apaches, taking about one hundred dragoons. On the 20th a "talk" will be held and some provisions distributed.—Probably an arrangement may be made by which the Pinals will refrain from plundering Americans for a few weeks, or until some unusually good opportunity offers. The remarkable immunity which the inhabitants hereabouts have enjoyed from Indian depredations for two weeks past, is doubtless owing to the proposed meeting at Canon del Oro.

Returning to the fort, Captain Ewell will pass through Tubac on the 22d or 23d instant, with his command.

FLOUR MILLS.—A mill for grinding wheat and corn, will soon be erected at Tubac, on the Santa Cruz River. Also a mill of the same description on the Sonoita, near Findlay's Rancho. It is expected that with both these attributes of civilization in full operation breadstuffs will not be quite so high as at present. Flour ought to be afforded at six cents per pound, and corn meal at four cents, instead of the high rates now charged.

BEANS WANTED.—The Santa Fe Gazette contains an official advertisement for one hundred bushels of beans, to be delivered at Fort Buchanan.

THE MARICOPAS.—Col. Walker, agent of the Pimos and Maricopas, has lately been on a visit to the Indian country, distributing presents.—A party of Maricopas, passed Tubac a few days since, ostensibly on their way to Fort Buchanan, on a begging expedition. It is seldom that these Indians visit this portion of the country.

Joseph Walker, a mountaineer, had come into Los Angeles and reported that fifteen men had been cut off on the Colorado, by the Mohave Indians; they are believed to have been a party of men from Albuquerque.
