

THE ARIZONIAN.

The Old Veteran.

'Twas on a Sabbath morn,
The bells had chimed for church:
The young and gay were gathering
Around the rustic porch;
There came an aged man,
In a soldier's garb was he,
And gazing on the group, he said—
Do none remember me? O, do none remember me?

The veteran had forgot,
His friends were changed and gone,
The faces all around him then,
As children, he knew none:
He pointed to the spot
Where his dwelling used to be,
And gave his name, and smiling said—
You'll now remember me? O, you'll now remember me.

Alas! none knew him then,
He pointed to a stone,
On which the name he bore was traced,
A name to them unknown,
'Twas then the old man wept,
I'm friendless, now, said he,
Where I had many friends in youth—
Not one remembers me? O, not one remembers me!

EXAMPLE OF USING THE ANNEXED TABLES.

340 lbs. avordupois of silver, at 992½ fine, what number of troy ounces are contained in it, and what is its value at the U. S. mints?

Find under lbs. 340 lbs. the sum of ounces, thence add the ounces corresponding to 40 lbs., which gives the whole amount of troy ounces.

Follow the same process with fineness and value as follows:

300 lbs. = 4375 ounces.
40 lbs. = 583.333

Total, 4958½ ounces.

900 fine is worth $1.16,363
90 " " " 0.11,6363
2 " " " 0.00,2585
½ " " " 0.00,0646

992½ fine worth $1.28,3224

Multiply the number of ounces found by the value found.

$1.28,3224 × 4958½ = $6362.65.

Result, value of the 340 lbs.

For the calculation of small amounts of silver, some of the decimals may be omitted in practice.

The foregoing will give the precise value of silver at the U. States mint; but as silver has become an article of commerce of late, principally for exportation to China, &c., it generally bears a premium of 5 per cent., or thereabout, at the seaports, according to demand.

I have calculated the foregoing tables for the use of our Company, but as Arizona will become eminently a mining country, it will be interesting and useful both to the miner and the merchants of the territory.

HERMAN EHRENBERG,

Of the Sonora Exploring & Mining Co.

The Mexicans calculate their silver by the mark, which is equal to 7.395 ounces troy, according to Webster. The mark is subdivided into 12 dineros. H. E.

The Warrior's Return.

A warrior came from the tattered field,
In the pride of his young renown,
He gazed awhile on his tattered shield,
As he flung his helmet down;
His dinted sword he laid aside,
And loosed his steel-linked vest,
Then gazed awhile with a warrior's pride,
On the scars that marked his breast;
Farewell, my sword, said the warrior, then
Thou hast served me well and long,
In the strife of iron-hearted men—
In the fierce and mingled throng:
And when thy blade did flash on high,
The red blood poured like wine,
On the sunny plains of Italy,
And the plains of Palestine.

Bright summer came, and the Sun God's eye,
Looked down on a quiet spot,
And silvered the stream that murmured by
A sweet, vine-covered cot;
That cot was the home of love and joy,
There the warrior clasped his bride,
And the father gazed on his fair-haired boy,
With all a father's pride;
Still hangs the shield on the golden bough,
The casque is flung beneath,
And he finds a purer pleasure now
Than he found on the field of death.
Fort Buchanan, April 9, 1859.

Miramón's forced loan of one per cent upon the capital of all persons residing in Mexico, meets with great opposition from the foreign residents. The American Consul had protested against it, and a British merchant had been compelled to pay $15,000, immediately before the arrival of a British man-of-war in the harbor. The commander at once demanding a return of the money, under the alternative of a bombardment, the money was returned. In San Louis Potosi it was openly and fairly acknowledged to be a forced loan, and the force to be used to compel compliance with the exactions, "fifty lashes!" The loan will produce at least $10,000,000 in the whole country. Already the loan has been made the subject of heavy speculation. Some capitalists have bought it up; and if Miramón gains the day, will assuredly make from six to eight millions out of the business.

They would especially dwell upon the fact that THEY DO THEIR OWN WORK, and manufacture all utensils used by them, for which they received a premium at the late State Fair. In every department none but the best of talent is employed.

As vouchers for the correctness of their Assays, they refer with permission to the following Bankers, who, for nearly three years, have shipped bars assayed by them, to the Eastern States and Europe:
