DAILY WORK.

BY CHARLES MAURY.

Who lags from dread of daily work,
And his appointed task would shirk,
Commits a folly and a crime;
A soulless slave—
A paltry knave—
A clog upon the wheels of time.
With work to do and store of health,
The man's unworthy to be free,
Who will not give,
That he may live,
His daily toil for daily fee.

No! let us work! We only ask
Reward proportioned to our task:
We have no quarrel with the great—
No feud with rank—
With mill or bank—
No envy of a lord's estate
If we can earn sufficient store
To satisfy our daily need,
And can retain,
For age and pain,
A fraction, we are rich indeed.

No dread of toil have we or ours,
We know our worth and weigh our powers;
The more we work the more we win;
Success to trade!
Success to trade!
And to the corn that's coming in!
And joy to him, who, o'er his task,
Remembers toil in nature's plan;
Who, working thinks,
And never sinks
His independence as a man!

Who only asks for humblest wealth,
Enough for competence and health;
And leisure when his work is done
To read his book,
By chimney nook,
Or stroll at setting of the sun;
Who toils as every man should toil,
For fair reward, sweat or free,
These are the men—
The best of men—
These are the men we mean to be.

WURSE AND WURSER.—Dick Laxybones was the owner of a large dog, which cost as much to keep as two pigs would have done; and the dog, besides, was useless, nay, worse than useless, for, in addition to his keep, he took up house room, and greatly annoyed Dick's wife in the cleaning department—not to mention abundance of fleas.

"Plague take the dog!" said she; "Mr. Laxybones, I do wish you would sell him, or kill him, or do something or other with him. He is more plague than his neck is worth, always lying in the chimney corner, and eating more than it would take to maintain three children. I wonder you will keep such a useless animal about us."

"Well, my dear," replied Dick, "say no more about it. I'll certainly get rid of him some of these days."

This was intended as a mere put-off on the part of Dick, but as his wife kept daily dining in his ears about the dog, he was at length compelled to take some action on the subject.

"Well, wife," said he, one day, as he came in, "I've sold Jowler."

"Ah! have you, indeed?" said she, brightening up at the news; "I am glad of it. How much did you sell him for, my dear?"

"Fifty dollars."

"Fifty dollars! What! fifty dollars for that dog? How glad I am! That will buy us a good cow. But where's the money, my love?"

"Money?" quoth Dick, shrugging his vulgarly ferocious side of his chin to the other;—"money! Oh, well, do you see—that is—money—why, I didn't get up to my eye-balls in two pappies, at twenty-five dollars apiece."

Here Dick proceeded to demonstrate the fact by emptying his several pockets of his bag.

A small boy was caught stealing dried berries in front of a store, and was locked up in a dark closet by the grocer. The boy commenced begging most piteously to be released, and after using all the persuasion that his young mind could invent, proposed—"Now, if you'll let me out, and send for my daddy, he'll pay you for them, and lick me besides." The grocer man could not withstand this appeal, and released the urchin.

A witness before Judge M— of Mississippi, in answer to a question replied, "Yes, sir, Bob!" "Here clerk," said the Judge, "fine Mr. Colley Jones five dollars for the record, and five for the Bob!" Colley looked blue, but, in consideration of his being a printer, and not the most able to pay such a fine, he was let off with a reprimand.

We have all heard of asking for bread and receiving a stone, but a young gentleman may be considered as still worse treated when he asks for a young lady's hand and gets her father's foot!

Harris & Marchand, ASSAYERS.

No. 102 Sacramento street, SAN FRANCISCO.
No. 73 J street, SACRAMENTO.
No. 27 E street, MARYSVILLE.

H. & M. have established, in addition to their well-known offices in the interior, a Branch Office at No. 102 Sacramento Street, San Francisco, where they will carry on the business of Assaying in a manner to give satisfaction to all who may favor them with their orders.

GOLD, SILVER AND ORES of every description, promptly and faithfully assayed and returns made within six hours.

Having been established for a period of upwards of three years, during which they have transacted all the business entrusted to them in a manner to please their depositors, they feel at liberty to refer to the correctness and liberality which have characterized all their dealings as some guarantee for what they will do in the future.

They would especially dwell upon the fact that they do their own work, and manufacture all utensils used by them, for which they received a premium at the late State Fair. In every department none but the best of talent is employed.

As vouchers for the correctness of their Assays, they refer with permission to the following Bankers, who, for nearly three years, have shipped bars assayed by them, to the Eastern States and Europe;
