NOT ATTEMPTING TO GET TWO SALARIES.

Congressman Higgins was right when he said on the floor of congress that he thought Congressman Lilley had resigned.

This furry in congress to prevent the governor of Connecticut from capturing two salaries is just about equal to being frightened by a snow-man at night.

To save to the taxpayers the cost of a special election at a cost of from $25,000 to $50,000, Governor Woodruff says that he refused to accept Mr. Lilley's resignation offered in writing on December 11, 1908.

With such a backing as this, Governor Lilley is all right when he declares that he will not resign to himself or Speaker Cannon; and that he has no idea of collecting mileage on the salary for the unexpired term, will be accepted by the people of Connecticut as true.

It would be interesting to know who is prompting Congressman Gaines of Tennessee in his part of the performance.

This is wholly the business of Connecticut. In this state at the present moment all the people are applauding his resolution to stand pat.

The New Haven Leader puts it right when it says:

"It is possible, moreover, that if this congress employ itself about something useful, it would forget about such a petty matter as the absence of the member from Connecticut."

"Mr. Lilley was present at the last session, the members undoubtedly remember without difficulty. He succeeded in making that session memorable for some of them, and had he been given justice, there would have been more resignations than his. It is hardly surprising that some of the members notice acutely his absence from this session. Perhaps that has something to do with the prominence they give to it."

AMONG THE THIRTY-FIVE OPPOSERS.

Representative Henry is one of the thirty-five congressmen who do not believe in quarreling with President Roosevelt, and in consequence he is receiving many letters of commendation from his constituents.

The brain-storm created is because of a difference of interpretation of the president's message, and an interpretation stuck to after the president has declared that it is not a fair interpretation of his words; that he did not intend to do what he has not arranged congress as a whole for its discomfiture.

The brain-storm created is because of a difference of interpretation of the president's message, and an interpretation stuck to after the president has declared that it is not a fair interpretation of his words; that he did not intend to do what he has not arranged congress as a whole for its discomfiture.

It is strange that congress should find itself just now at odds with the president and the people over such a trivial matter.

Washington who used to foresee the popularity of certain movements and guide along amid the plaudits of the people, appear to have all gone out of public life; and obstructionists who pay no heed to the popular will seem to be in their places. What the people would like to see done in Washington is good work in their interests.

The story of the secret service, as told by the president, has made a deep impression upon the people, and to say that they are surprised over the situation is like to see what congress must be familiar with what happens to people who fool with a buzz-saw. What has always happened as the result of such rashness is likely to continue to happen.

The thirty-five opposed to the resolution have the people with them.

A SINGULAR CASE OF LEGERDEMAIN.

When a bottle of whiskey on the desk of the Branford town court in this state was discovered to have turned to ginger ale the court was surprised.

It was in the case of the state against Timothy J. McCarthy of the Hillside hotel. It is alleged that when he came into court Prosecutor Harry W. Doolittle had with him a half-pint bottle of whiskey, which was sold illegally by McCarthy, as alleged. This bottle was laid on the stenographer's desk, duly marked and labeled as an exhibit in the case.

While the hunt was on for the interpreter, Court Stenographer Harry W. Doolittle, at the bottle, noticed that its contents were acting peculiarly for whiskey, and he so informed the prosecutor, saying that it was the first whiskey he had ever seen bubble and fizz.

Prosecutor Doolittle found that the bottle containing the whiskey had been spirited away and that a similar bottle had been put on the table. This contained ginger ale.

The court and even the lawyer for the defense refused to look upon this as a case of legerdmain, and the lawyer left the case because his client would not restore the alleged whiskey. He denied all knowledge of any trickery and went ahead with a new lawyer, but the case went against him, and he was fined $200 and sentenced to six months in jail.

This shows that it is better to let "the little joker" that has fallen in to the hands of the court alone, as no other "joker" can hope to gain favor by any evidence of shrewdness he may furnish.

The one child mother in New York who has petitioned for a divorce because of the inhumanity of the servitude in caring for a dozen or so, besides being cook, housekeeper and nurse, might have added dressmaker and spanker.

Men are not always looking for burdens. The woman with a farm and a bank account had a thousand applications for marriage as soon as she announced herself in the field.

President-elect Taft says that the Constitution of the country is good enough for him. So say we all of us!

Under the present circumstances, the secret service of the government has come to be a public affair.

AS CHRIST WOULD DO.

The fact that 1,500 young people of Cleveland, O., have resolved during 1909 to live Christian lives has made the whole country sit up and take notice. This is not strange for the religion proposed is not popularly regarded as being practical, although there can be no doubt that it is practical to live by the principles laid down by Christ.

Since this has been announced a young woman said she could not live as Christ would because the requirements of the mercantile firm for whom she worked would not permit her; she would have to lose her employment, when Christ would not have recognized any employment which conflicted with correct living.

Now another paragraph says that although in need of work, a young man, a member of a Baptist church, threw up her place as stenographer because her employer dictated a letter to her, arranging for the advertisement of a liquor dealer—this because she was trying to live as Christ would live. Her explanation is that if every day a stenographer I should on receiving my weekly salary accept money that might have been the price of a lost soul.

Her piety was commended, but her common sense has been questioned. The Christ-life is not of the imagination of the heart—a life of self-denial and self-sacrifice—or doing good for good's sake.

The Waterbury Republican says "it would be interesting to know what change would be experienced if for a year all corporation officers carried the principles of the Christian religion into their business, according to the best of their ability, both as to their employes and the public at large; and if all employes did likewise, bent upon giving honest value in their occupations. The interminable confusion of government and private prosecutions would vanish and labor and capital would enter upon a new era of blessed peace."

Under present conditions it does not appear to be easy to imitate the pure life of the Saviour. Along business lines such a life does not seem to be in demand.

FIRES OF 1908.

There is no country under the sun which suffers such large losses from fire as does this country; and last year the total loss, according to The Insurance Press, was $190,000,000.

Net losses were $190,000,000 per capita losses rounded against them. Mobile heads the list with a per capita loss of $8.47. The others, with their respective per capita losses are: Tacoma $3.34, San Francisco $2.79, Portland, Me., $3.42, Cumberland, Md., $7.59, Boston $3.84, Chelsea $3.32, Gloucester $7.81, Detroit $4.17, Manhattan and Bronx borough $2.69, Utica $4.21, Wilmington, N. C., $3.38, Cincinnati $5.79, Youngstown, O., $7.52, Portland, Ore., $3.88, Chattanooga $3.32, Memphis $7.61, Nashville $3.13, Fort Worth $4.32.

About half of the 497 cities and towns in which fires occurred had no fire alarm telegraph system, and the fire departments do not show up well for efficiency or equipment.

There is nothing which tells more for prevention of fires than good regulations thoroughly enforced by a fire marshal. It is the ounce of prevention which is so well applied here in Norwich that keeps the fire losses down. We not only have a good water service, but an active chief engineer who as fire marshal sees that every precaution is taken throughout the business district to prevent fires.

Pardon Refused Preston. The board of pardons at Carson has denied the application of M. E. Preston for pardon for the two men convicted of the murder of John Silva, a restaurant keeper of Goldfield, March 20, 1907. Preston was convicted of murder and Smith of manslaughter.

Preston gained national notoriety last summer when he was nominated for president of the United States on the socialist labor ticket. The shooting of Silva was the culmination of a strike of waiters and waitresses in a restaurant in Goldfield which followed Silva's refusal to refrain from boarding persons inimical to the interest of the Goldfield union of the industrial workers of the world.

Woman in Life and in the Kitchen.

Footwear Made Neat. To clean white kid slippers, wash them with benzine, using a soft brush; rinse well in fresh benzine, and while they are wet rub a little French chalk thoroughly into the kid. This helps to remove the black marks the slippers obtained by wearing.

Then put the slippers to dry, and they will look fresh and clean. Patent leather shoes should never be cleaned with blacking. They should first be wiped with a damp sponge and polished with a soft cloth.

A little olive oil may be used occasionally as a dressing. Cures Insomnia. Hot baths and hot water or milk taken at night will give relief from insomnia.

The temperature of the bath should be comfortably warm and gradually raised until hot. The patient should relax in the tub for ten to twenty minutes, according to her strength.

The bed linen should be warm upon retiring and the sleeping chamber should be well ventilated. Needlework Suggestions. Rich Dark Cake. Two cups sugar, 1 3-4 cups butter, 3 eggs, 2 3-4 cups pastry flour, 1 cup prepared flour, 2 teaspoons each of cloves, cinnamon and nutmegs, 1 cup muscatel raisins, 1 cup sultana raisins, 1 cup citron cut fine. Line pan with thick, strong paper and bake about 1-2 hours.

Collar of Figured Lace. Among the novel gumples is that whose sleeves and shoulders all in one are tucked not while the pointed V and collar are of figured lace. The cloth part of the gown does not cover the shoulders, but is bound with velvet fastened near the shoulder and trimmed with buttons.

Bay Rum Makes Curls. Small wisps of hair will stay 'n curl' much longer if just before the hair is curled with the heated iron the locks are dampened with bay rum. This often proves very helpful on damp days.

Design for outlet embroidery, to be transferred to a baby's cap of silk moulin, satin, batiste, Persian or Victoria lawn, thin cambric, nainsook or Jaconet, and worked with mercerized cotton or silk. Be particularly in white or some delicate shade, the cap being lined with silk or muslin of a similar shade when finished.

Wheat design, to be transferred to a shirt waist of sea-island, thin cambric, Victoria lawn, Indian-head cotton or any of the washable materials and embroidered with mercerized cotton or silk.

An embroidered handkerchief makes a pretty berth for a baby's frock and is generally cheaper than embroidery bought specially for the purpose.

Thin old blankets, put two together and then covered with cretonne on both sides, make a useful bedquilt, which is quite ornamental if the cretonne be pretty one. A trim all around makes a nice finish to the quilt.

A fold of cloth heading the top of a cloth jumper blouse was separated from the bodice proper with a dozen or more little pieces of narrow ribbon, attached to the upper portions with a small velvet button and upon the bodice with a button. The strapped effect across the front and back was unusual, but effective.

Many decry the use of the sewing machine for gathering ruffles, but why this should be not plain, neither is it reasonable, for the machine does beautiful work when properly adjusted for gathering dress material. You want to lengthen the stitches a little and tighten the tension. By doing this you will find that you can more easily adjust the gathers, drawing out or filling in more gathers in a certain space.

Learn to dance. Dancers are fine walkers. Dance 15 minutes every day. It will make you more limber in the unused muscles.

When you walk try to relax a little. Most walkers walk as if they were trying to walk a track. They walk stiffly.

Hats for Travelling. For travelling, both on ship and land, small hats are better than large ones, and which there have been eggs should not be chosen as trimming. Stiff quills or wings, with ribbon, are much better and look smarter at such times.

Washing Off Egg Stains. Everyone has experienced the annoyance of not being able to wash dishes on which there have been eggs without a great deal of trouble. When dishes on which there is egg are to be washed, rinse them well in cold water when piling them up ready for washing. Then wash in the usual way, and it will be found that the egg will not stick nearly so much and will be easier and more quickly removed than if the dishes are put directly in the warm water.

How to Prolong Life of Linen Sheets. Linen sheets, like others, wear first in the center, and it repays to slit them down the middle to get the edges in the place. This is done by tearing them in two lengthwise. The selvages are then overhauled to gether with very fine cotton, that a big seam shall not be made, and then the raw edges are hemmed.

The life of a sheet is generally prolonged if this is done in time. Tricorne Hat Stunners. Quite stunning is one of the new tricorne hats with a large buckle caught across over the front point and two heavy ostrich plumes rising from it. The crown is draped with velvet.

Seamstress' Little Trick. A seamstress who is noted for her splendid machine work says that she never puts the needle of the machine into a piece of work without first slipping a piece of paper under the material.

This prevents the thread slipping or becoming wound about the needle. Later the piece of paper can easily be pulled out.

HOME GARMENT MAKING. The Bulletin's Pattern Service.

Pork Cake Without Eggs.

One pound of all fat salt pork. Remove the rind and chop as fine as possible. Put pork in 1 pint of new milk and seal, then strain to remove lumps, should there be any. Two cups unsifted flour, 1 pound of seeded raisins, 1-2 pound currants, 3 cups brown sugar, 1 cup of molasses, 2 dessert-spoons of ground cloves, 2 grated nutmegs, 2 teaspoons of soda dissolved in hot water. Sift the flour and put the fruit and spices in part of it. The cake needs to be made quite stiff but should be 2 cups too much, leave some out. This cake is best made two or three weeks before using.

O'Brien Potatoes. Six raw potatoes, peeled, cut into dice and parboiled, but not broken; one green pepper, chopped very fine; one pint of sweet milk thickened with two tablespoons of flour stirred to a paste with a lump of butter the size of an egg. Grease a baking dish, put in the potatoes and green pepper, season with salt and pepper, add the thickened milk, acid, seasoned, and cover the top of the dish with a half-cup of grated cheese and bake slowly for an hour.

Paris Pattern No. 2737 - All Seams Allowed. This dainty little frock for the very small child should be developed in sheer white batiste or nainsook. The full body portion is gathered and attached to the round yoke and princess panel—cut in one piece—of the material, and the full sleeves, which may be long or short, according to taste, are gathered into narrow wristbands or armbands. The dress fastens at the center-back with very small pearl buttons, and the lower edge is finished with a simple hem. A pretty finish would be to feather-stitch either side of the yoke, as well as the hem, wristbands and collar. If desired, the yoke and panel may be embroidered with a conventional design of blossoms and leaves, worked with white mercerized cotton. For children who are not used to wearing dresses of this material during the winter months the model may be developed in fine cashmere, challis or albatross, in white or some light shade. The pattern is in four sizes—4 to 5 years. For a child of 2 years the dress
