

YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rockland, Maine.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged, and thought I should never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thought I would try it. After taking three bottles I was cured, and never felt so well in all my life. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—Mrs. WILL YOUNG, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.

"Dignity is What We Use To Conceal Our Ignorance"

is Elbert Hubbard's definition of the word dignity. Unquestionably Elbert is correct, and every thinking person will agree with him. Think of the people with dignity and count those having it naturally. He who has it a naturally combined with ability, is a great success in life. These with assumed dignity are well, they are understood and discounted by the public. We've no dignity, natural or assumed, and if its use was attempted by us the public would discount it. Let the public estimate us correctly; give us credit for a thorough knowledge of the photograph business; for doing work at reasonable prices. Years of experience in this business exclusively entitles us to it. LAUGHTON BROS., Photographers Main Street Opposite Norwich Savings Society. at 21d

WHEN you want to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

VOICES

Masculine Voice from the Kitchen—"Do you begin to count the three minutes from the time you put the eggs in or from the time the water begins to boil?" Feminine Voice from the Bedroom—"Do you who—Oh, you don't put the eggs in until the water begins to boil, dear?" Bedroom—"You don't? Well, I did." Kitchen—"Is the water nearly boiling?" Kitchen—"Nearly boiling! Why, I just put it on!" Bedroom—"And it isn't very hot?" Kitchen—"Of course, it isn't." Bedroom—"Well, then just take the eggs out until it starts boiling." Kitchen—"What shall I take 'em out with?" Bedroom—"There's a big iron spoon hanging over the sink." Kitchen—"Oh." Bedroom—"Where shall I put them?" Kitchen—"Why, on the kitchen table, dear." Kitchen—"But they keep rolling off if I don't hold 'em on." Bedroom—"Then put them on a saucer." Kitchen—"Where's the saucer?" Bedroom—"In the china closet." Kitchen—"Which one shall I take?" Bedroom—"Don't take 'em. Oh, never mind. Take just any of them." Kitchen—"Dear, isn't that water boiling?" Kitchen—"None." Kitchen—"A thing with a handle." Bedroom—"Is it the handle on top or on the side, the side. A long one." Bedroom—"Oh, you're not a saucer. That's all right. Is the cover on it?" Kitchen—"Where's the cover?" Bedroom—"Why, it's—It's on the shelf over the sink." Kitchen—"This cover goes clear down into the water." Bedroom—"Then take a large one, dear." Kitchen—"Well, this cover goes clear down into the water, too." Bedroom—"With emphasis!" "Charles, what saucer are you using?" Kitchen—"I don't know." Bedroom—"How big is it?" Kitchen—"Why, it's about as big as—the pot your fern is in." Bedroom—"Oh! The very biggest one there is—and for two eggs! Charles, have you much water in it?" Kitchen—"Full." Bedroom—"Well, never mind. It must be nearly boiling by this time." Kitchen—"Faint even lukewarm." Bedroom—"Not lukewarm! You—Charles—you didn't fill it with cold water?" Kitchen—"Of course, why not?" Bedroom—"Charles, dear, I'm sorry to make you so much trouble, but—but it never will boil that way. Just pour it out and put in only a little out of the hot-water faucet." Kitchen—"How did I know you

BIG SNAKESKIN

Seven Feet Long and Has Twelve Rattles and a Button. Capt. Bill Tuttle of Stratford recently received the largest and handsomest snakeskin ever seen in this vicinity. The hide is seven feet long without the head and terminates in 12 rattles and a button. It is a genuine diamond back and has been carefully tanned. It was a present from Captain Bill's friend, Capt. L. E. Johnson of Swifton, Florida, who is mayor, postmaster, justice of the peace, sheriff and weather observer, chief of the fire department and good father to all the children within 30 miles of his home. Captain Johnson is a noted hunter of bears and alligators and has sent many fine specimens, both dead and alive, to friends in this state.

The Wide Awakes of 1860.

A survivor of the Wide Awakes, an organization which was a potent force in the first election of Abraham Lincoln, contributes to the Springfield Republican some interesting reminiscences of that enthusiastic body which had its branches in almost every city and big town of the north. This form consisted of a cap and large cape of enameled cloth with the name of the organization stamped in large letters thereon. The torch was a small tin fount with a burner and wick for kerosene attached to the end of a stick about the length of a broom handle. It was not simply an occasional corps, but did more or less constant drilling and marching through the campaign. In that experience was born, no doubt, the spirit that a few months later prompted so many enthusiastic young men to offer themselves for the elective franchise. In these reminiscences is included a speech that was made to a great gathering of Wide Awakes in New Hampshire by Senator Henry Wilson. At that time it was a common prediction that even if Lincoln were elected he would never take his seat, for with party passions running so high he would certainly be murdered before inauguration. Wilson referred to this auguration, and his comment was the following: "The wide awake and the hundred thousand Cornishmen."

Wants a House to Fit Executive.

Governor Marshall of Indiana, who is a democrat, protests against the proposal that the state build a $150,000 governor's house, because a house costing $15,000 or $20,000 is good enough for a governor. The man usually elected has not enough money or money of his own. In the governor's opinion, to run a $150,000 house, he does not see any demand of dignity to appropriate the extra amount to enable him to do so. This straight way of putting it is an improvement on the usual way of falling back upon Jefferson or Jackson.

Rot for Children.

The New York Evening Post does well to call attention to the intrusion of money worship on the sphere of books for children. Thus, the heroine of "Joanna's Journal" is introduced by one of her friends as daughter of "the great iron king." She learns from her brother that "his money makes the world go round" and she is properly "glad Daddy has a lot" of course, she wishes "girls could have their malds at school." Could there be worse rot for children?

More Inconsistency.

The peanut growers of Southampton, New York, and the state of West Virginia are still clinging to the free trade, praying for republican protection and demanding a tariff on their product. Such is the result of Bryan teachings.—Virginia Republican.

A Suspicious Circumstance.

The fact that the Pullman company's surplus is in the neighborhood of $30,000,000 looks suspiciously like the profits were being required to return the lips.—Atlanta Georgian.

KIDNEYS FIRST WEAR OUT WITH AGE.

Few Elderly People Know What To Do In These Cases. The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 years begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney trouble and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that torturous disease, rheumatism, which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged function of the kidneys, which have become clogged and sluggish, falling in their duty of sifting and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, settling about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering. The bladder, however, causes less old folks the most annoyance, especially at night and early morning. Hundreds of readers who suffer will find the following, which is known as the Dandelion mixture, the most harmless and effective treatment to clean the system of rheumatic poisons, relieve urinary difficulties of the old people. It is a true vitalizing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary structure, relieving the entire system. The Dandelion mixture consists of the following simple prescription, the ingredients of which can be obtained from any good pharmacy at small cost: Compound Karsone, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and upon going to bed, also drink plenty of water. This prescription, though simple, is decidedly the best in the treatment of ailments of the kidneys and bladder and rheumatism.

Soothing Air Wanted.

Suggest that it is near time for the announcement of Mr. Taft's favorite air. Hardly do we go through a safe and sane four years to the swashbuckling strains of "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."—New York Herald.

Sentiment and Business.

In taking the lead in prompt recognition of China's forward effort as the forecast of a material progress, the United States might achieve a sentimental foundation for a very practical foothold in China.—Boston Advertiser.

A Hopeless Case.

About the only bad thing that can be said of the Hon. Theodore E. Burton, who is to succeed Senator Foraker, is that he is a bad thing. He is, in fact, evidently a hopeless case.—Knockville Journal and Tribune.

An Accommodating State.

"Pennsylvania bushes for Penrose," says an enemy of that eminent statesman. Very accommodating of the commonwealth, as Mr. Penrose never does any of his own bushing.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Waking Always Good.

Even though Cannon and Sherman may not get carriages at the public expense, it is consoling to reflect that street car service in Washington is excellent.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Taft Self-Control.

The president-elect shows commendable self-control in limiting himself to two meals a day, when he might eat a dozen by accepting all the invitations extended.—Boston Transcript.

Thoughtless, Misguided Children.

Texas school children have asked Mr. Roosevelt not to shoot any wild animals while he is in Africa. Only children could be so thoughtless.—Buffalo Express.

Chance to Get Even.

Senator Tillman might score one on the president by mounting his high horse and roaring for 18 hours straight.—Chicago Journal.

A Cheap Commodity.

For the first time in his life E. H. Harriman is dealing in a cheap commodity. He is passing out advice.—Washington Post.

FORGOT LICENSE.

East Hampton Groom Had to Scoury to Town Clerk's. Miss Lena Starr, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Starr, and Harley Avery, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Avery, were married Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the Congressional parsonage at East Hampton, by the Rev. H. E. Brown. Mrs. Karl Closon of Middletown, a sister of the groom, and husband, stood up for the couple. Mr. Avery was so much taken up with the event that he forgot all about the marriage license until asked for it by the minister, whereupon he beat it for the town clerk's office.

In Hard Training.

Senator Knox is still in training for the real work of being secretary of state and his recent exhibition of keeping silent shows that he is almost in perfect trim.—Washington Post.

A Charitable View.

It is the charitable conclusion of the Charleston News and Courier that Senator Tillman is innocent but that he ought not to have done it.—Chicago Tribune.

Peerless Runner Hopes So.

The south takes to President-elect Taft very warmly; nevertheless, it may prefer to vote for Bryan a while longer.—Philadelphia Press.

Never Unpopular.

"It rombles to be a bad year for demagogues," says the Atlanta Constitution. The Georgia prospects for the campaign, however, are all right.—Houston Post.

Will Have to Go Some.

Senator Tillman says he is going to keep right after the president. He'll be lucky if he can keep two jumps ahead of him.—Detroit Free Press.

Chance for Ade.

George Ade approves of Berlin. This will make the kaiser feel better.—Chicago News.

Has Cold Feet.

This horrid war goes on, and no one thinks to ask "Where's Loeb?"—New York World.

WANTS MONEY BACK.

Property Belonged to the Late G. B. Webster. Deprived by law of certain land on Meadow street, Waterbury, and the price which he paid for it, Attilio Menichino has begun an action in the superior court to recover his money, $7,000. The defendant is Sanford Proctor of Sperry street, who sold the land to Menichino for $23,000, giving him a warranty deed for it. It was this mortgage that caused all the trouble, because by it Proctor guaranteed to Menichino that the property was free of all encumbrances but one for $16,000, held by Ralph H. Smith, president and treasurer of the Smith & Griggs Co. Menichino now sets up that Proctor had no claim whatsoever to the property.

Would Be Uninteresting.

It is true that the king's speech is framed by the ministers themselves, which it must be admitted makes a difference. How different the presidential messages would be if they were drafted by a congressional committee.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Paradox.

When it is known that this country consumes as much as 7,000,000,000 pounds of sugar in a year, one wonders why there are not more sweet-tempers than there are.—Knockville Journal and Tribune.

No Longer Leap Year.

The girls who get married this year will be able to hold their heads up proudly, knowing that they are free from suspicion.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Good Cause for Wabbling.

Dr. Wiley says he is examining 20 or 25 samples of whiskey. No wonder the good doctor wabbles a little.—Washington Post.

Ben Tillman's Honesty.

Senator Tillman thinks it isn't necessary for him to prove that he is an honest man. He admits it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Winning a People.

Perhaps Mr. Taft doesn't really like "possum" but he is eating his way into the south.—New York Herald.

STATEN ISLAND MAN IS STRONG FOR COOPER Had Been In a Precarious Condition For Long Time.

George W. Tucker, of Grantville, Staten Island, is among those who have become strong believers in L. T. Cooper. On Wednesday, when interviewed at Cooper's headquarters, he said: "A month ago I was a chronic dyspeptic, caused by catarrh of the stomach. Now I am a well man. I came here a month ago, saw this man Cooper, got his New Discovery medicine and started taking it. At that time everything I ate caused gas to form in my stomach immediately. For an hour or so after meals I would be in pain, which would not leave me altogether until nearly time for the next meal. I had to be extremely careful in what I ate, as I could only digest the simplest food. My appetite was very poor and I was nervous and ill nourished, due to the failure of my food to digest properly. I felt tired and run down and lacked vitality. I did not sleep well, only getting about four hours sleep a night, and tossing about even when asleep. I would wake in the morning just as worn out as when I went to bed. I have been in this condition for a long time and have tried in every way to find something that would help me. I have been discouraged during the past year to such an extent that I no longer believe I would ever be well again. I started to take this medicine with very little faith in it but I thought perhaps it would do me some good for a while at any rate. It has done more for me than I ever hoped it would. I now have a fine appetite and eat anything I choose. I have no longer any gas in my stomach and I sleep well at night. I have gained weight and strength, and no longer have the dull, tired feeling that troubled me constantly for several years. There is no question but that Cooper has a medicine that will work wonders for stomach trouble. It is the only thing I have found that helped me in the slightest." Cooper's New Discovery is now on sale at leading druggists everywhere. We will send to anyone upon request Mr. Cooper's booklet, in which he tells the reason for most chronic ill-health. The Cooper Medicine Co., Dayton, O.

Why Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

The Kind You Have Always Bought and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment. GENUINE CASTORIA Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Letters from Prominent Physicians Addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher. Dr. W. L. Leister, of Rogers, Ark., says: "As a practicing physician I use Castoria and like it very much." Dr. W. F. Wallace, of Bradford, N. H., says: "I use your Castoria in my practice, and in my family." Dr. Wm. J. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice, found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home." Dr. Howard James, of New York City, says: "It is with great pleasure that I desire to testify to the medicinal virtue of your Castoria. I have used it with marked benefit in the case of my own daughter, and have obtained excellent results from its administration to other children in my practice." Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy." Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice and find it very satisfactory." Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place." Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's." Dr. Channing H. Cook, of Saint Louis, Mo., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years past in my own family and have always found it thoroughly efficient and never objected to by children, which is a great consideration in view of the fact that most medicines of this character are obnoxious and therefore difficult of administration. As a laxative I consider it the peer of anything that I ever prescribed." Dr. L. O. Morgan, of So. Amboy, N. J., says: "I prescribe your Castoria every day for children who are suffering from constipation, with better effect than I receive from any other combination of drugs." Dr. H. J. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent." Dr. Wm. L. Boserman, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I am pleased to speak a good word for your Castoria. I think so highly of it that I not only recommend it to others, but have used it in my own family." Dr. F. H. Kyle, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "It affords me pleasure to add my name to the long list of those who have used and now endorse your Castoria. The fact of the ingredients being known through the printing of the formula on the wrapper is one good and sufficient reason for the recommendation of any physician. I know of its good qualities and recommend it cheerfully."
