HALF A MILLION LOSS BY SHANNON BUILDING FIRE

Five Story Structure Leveled to the Ground and Adjoining Property Badly Damaged—Mr. Shannon will Erect New Building—Tenants Had Close Call from Horrible Death—Firemen Did Long and Faithful Service—$100 Gift to Department.

"Just as was expected," seemed to be the general verdict of the people after viewing the destroyed Shannon building on Tuesday, showing that many had figured out in their minds about what would happen if the building ever burned. It was considered by Chief Stanton to be one of the worst places to fight a fire in the city and for that reason much study had been given in anticipation of just what happened. "The fire was fought," said Chief Stanton, "just as it had been planned, and I am satisfied that the department did all that possibly could be expected of it. Each company knew what to do for a fire in that building, and they did it, and the results are no more than were anticipated, as it was always marked as a doomed building should a fire ever get a headway." After being on the ground nineteen hours, Chief Stanton left the ruins with six men to guard them for the night at 9 o'clock and two streams of water were then being played on the burning debris. The escaping compressed air from a broken pipe in the ruins gave forth a sound like escaping steam throughout the afternoon and evening, it being impossible to get to the value to shut it off. It is estimated that the loss will be between $400,000 and $500,000, it being the bottom of the ruins now. Mrs. Beetham was aroused either by the noise of the flames or by shouting, she cannot tell which, but upon opening the door a sheet of flames filled the doorway and she at once gave the alarm to Dr. Harris and his wife. Her son was not at home, being at his grandmother's in Preston. Mrs. Harris got out first in her night clothes and barefooted and in walking around in back of the building cut and bruised her feet badly before getting to the Wauregan house. The doctor had little clothing and was loaned an overcoat when he struck the ground. Mrs. Beetham and Mrs. Cogswell came down the fire escape at that time. Dr. Harris states that he carried but about $2,500 insurance, which will not cover his loss by a half. He was able to save nothing. Dr. and Mrs. Harris are now stopping with Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers. Miss Fannie Gibson, whose room was on the second floor, was aroused by the fire, and upon opening the door realized the situation, and securing a dressing gown and bathrobe, besides her shoes, she hurried into the hall, and being directed by C. C. Eldredge's aid, she reached the stairway and hurried to the rooms of her father.

RUINS OF SHANNON BUILDING AS SEEN FROM FRONT OF WAUREGAN HOUSE AFTER THE WALLS WERE DOWN.

impossible to tell anywhere near a close amount. The Shannon building is a mass of ruins, nothing being left but the walls after the fire had been gotten under control. A hearing will be held in the capitol, Wednesday, February 17.

The cause of the fire is still as much of a mystery as ever. Dr. Harris is of the opinion that it was caused by rats chewing off the insulation of electric wires near the elevator and air shafts, there having been several small fires of an unexplainable nature there.

There was considerable excitement after the upper floors had fallen in and some of those acquainted with the building began to recall that they had not seen Mrs. Ann C. Cogswell and the report was current that she was in the fire. This was soon disproved, as she had been seen to come down the rear fire escape and had gone to the home of William H. Cardwell on Main street. She was aroused by the fire and managed to save some of her clothing.

But for her maid, Mrs. Lydia Beetham, arising from her room, Dr. Harris says that he and his wife might be saved.

When J. C. McPherson arrived at the fire he took in the situation at a glance. Hastening into the store he secured his books and a few articles and locked up again. He then crossed to the Wauregan house, where he at once secured the vacant store in the Wauregan building and had the quarters secured within an hour after the fire started. His entire stock of new spring hats was entirely consumed, and his loss will be $5,000.

Had New Store in an Hour. When J. C. McPherson arrived at the fire he took in the situation at a glance. Hastening into the store he secured his books and a few articles and locked up again. He then crossed to the Wauregan house, where he at once secured the vacant store in the Wauregan building and had the quarters secured within an hour after the fire started. His entire stock of new spring hats was entirely consumed, and his loss will be $5,000.

Appreciated Their Work. Having called on the firemen several times to throw a stream onto the Wauregan house when the cornice was almost ablaze and blistering, Manager Davenport was pleased at the occasion to call attention to the good work of the building and which prevented it catching fire, and during the day sent to Chief Stanton the following letter and a check for $100:

Enclosed please find our check for one hundred dollars ($100), which you will please accept as a token of our appreciation of the excellent work done by them in handling the fire this morning.

Stairs Were Redhot. The heat was so intense that the marble stairway at the Shetucket street entrance was redhot and the windows in the store of John Moran and in the Wauregan house were cracked by the heat. It was impossible to hold one's hand on the windows in the house of Frank Plummer, corner of Laurel Hill avenue and Summer street, so that the heat was given to the shower of sparks kept the householders busy on that side of the river watching their roofs. On one there were four men.

The grass near the railroad bridge caught fire and burned, while sparks floated into Pequotanah. After the electric light and electric car currents had been shut off for safety, Superintendent Bogie of the street car line could be given to the fire department as a token of our appreciation of the excellent work done by them in handling the fire this morning.

Only One Injury. A remarkable fact in connection with the fire was that no one was injured seriously. The only accident of any consequence occurred to Captain Donald C. O'Brien, company No. 1, who was coming down a ladder when a lineman with spurs followed him.

When it was evident that the services of the Tautle steamer would be required, Captain Linson was asked to call W. T. Williams and ask for his services. He called his house, but Mrs. Williams stated that Mr. Williams is out of town, but she stated that if the engine is really needed I will do my best to get it started. She had the men assembled and the steamer was on its way to the city, where it did effective service, being stationed in Franklin square, taking water from the cistern, as did Engine No. 1 of the city. Ending No. 3 of Greenfield took water from the hydrant in front of the Metropolitan hotel. All three engines of effective frames. The Tautle steamer was sent home about 7.30 and the front wheels were a mass of ice.

Chief Stanton stated that in the plans for fighting the fire in that building the order was for the engines to take water from the square. They obeyed the orders and the measurement of the reservoir in the middle of the forenoon showed that the draught on that body of water did not lower it over a quarter of an inch. The firemen were furnished hot coffee and sandwiches by the Parker Davenport Co. and George Driscoll and the De-Hoff Hotel and others furnished hot coffee.

Field & Hughes' Loss. G. P. Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hughes of Waterbury arrived here on Tuesday having been informed of the fire by telephone. Mr. Hughes stated in the evening that it was impossible to give any idea of the loss they had sustained. The stock in the annex is of considerable value, destroyed. The fire swept through a hole where the cash system ran from the annex into the main building, and then for a distance of 25 feet in the side department burned considerably but otherwise there was but little fire in the main building. The portion leased from the Plaut-Cadden Co. went down with the Shannon building wall and all is gone there. In the main building the stock was badly wet down, but there was little fire there. The heater was kept going all the time and the broken windows had all been boarded up by night. It will be a case of wait for the insurance adjusters now, said Mr. Hughes, and until we can get at the value and get the inventory papers it will be impossible to tell what the loss will be. The millinery department had been made into the annex. It is estimated that the company's loss will be about $150,000, which is mostly covered by insurance. We have been in such situations before, stated Mr. Hughes, and this time the loss was as soon as possible. In Waterbury we were entirely burned out in the big fire there.

In Chelsea Bank Building. The fire made a clean sweep through the offices of the Attitash company, Toket Mills Co., Falls and Shetucket companies, burned out the room formerly occupied by Jerome Williams and the floor of that with the other debris fell into the office of B. P. Learned & Co. These offices were reached from the Shannon building stairway, a fire door being between the buildings. In the Chelsea bank the damage is only from water. The offices have taken temporary quarters elsewhere and the Chelsea bank is doing business at the Norwich Savings society building.

In the Shannon building, J. F. Parker's loss will be about $50, which is covered by insurance. Most of the valuable papers are in the safe, which is now in the cellar. Many papers, however, were destroyed. Charles P. Cogswell and Gilbert L. Hewitt had their desks there and they lost their furniture and papers.

Indigestion Goes In Five Minutes

IF YOU WOULD TAKE SOME NOW ALL STOMACH MISERY WOULD GO.

REGULATE THE STOMACH

It Seems Strange That You Will Continue a Stomach Sufferer When Certain Relief is so Handy—Eat Your Favorite Foods Then.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion and stomach trouble is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking Diapiesin.

If your stomach is lacking in digestive power why not help the stomach to do its work not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak stomachs should eat Diapiesin after meals, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach, Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Vomiting, and, besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after eating one Triangulo of Diapiesin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Paper's Diapiesin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and restives will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

The spur struck Captain Connell in one of his knees, inflicting a painful wound which laid him up Tuesday night.

There is general thanksgiving that there was no loss of life in the fire, and considering the big hands the big hands of escapes were all the more remarkable.

Lost His Bankroll. Prof. Loweth was aroused soon after the alarm was given, the police and firemen going about and opening all the doors possible and breaking in those which were locked. Prof. Loweth was staggered by the smoke for a minute and going out into the hall to learn the trouble became confused and was unable thereafter to locate his vest. In one of the pockets he states that he had a roll of bills containing $500 which went up in smoke. He was for saving some of the paintings in his studio at the start, but quickly abandoned that and considers that he got out none too soon himself, as he would have been overcome in a few minutes more.

J. B. Shannon Will Rebuild Immediately. As previously stated, Mr. Shannon was at the fire early. He felt the loss of his building greatly and thought that a steamer should have been stationed at the rear and thought that
