CLEAR UP RUINS

New Fireproof Shannon Building will Have Two Entrances and One Store May Occupy Entire Ground Floor--List of Losses and the Insurance--Wall of Chelsea Bank Building Fell--Mrs. Miner had Narrowest Escape

There were many fire adjusters in the city on Wednesday for the purpose of looking over the ruins of the Shannon building and adjusting the losses. There were not so many adjusters as it is understood that many more will be made today. J. B. Shannon has stated that he understood that the insurance on this building was ready to be adjusted for the full amount, but he had not had time to meet the adjusters and it is not known how much $50,000 will be turned over today. F. W. Lester received his full insurance, as did Charles D. Geer, the amount of the latter being $200,000.

The losses, approximately, of the owners and tenants, have been secured as far as possible and show that the total amount will be over $400,000. The losses of the several interested ones and their insurance as far as it could be determined are as follows:

* Unknown as yet. Mr. Shannon's insurance was carried through the agencies of John P. Parker, Dr. C. H. Perkins, and J. B. Shannon. There were many tenants who did not carry their own insurance. The amounts carried by the local agencies were as follows: James L. Case, $200; J. E. Fuller, $200; J. B. Shannon, $200; L. Lathrop & Sons, $5,000; Isaac S. Jones, $10,500; Nicholas Tarrant, $12,000; Charles E. Whitney, $14,200; Frank J. O'Connell, $14,000; J. Parker, $40,000; B. P. Learned & Co., $40,000; J. Milton Bartlett, $2,500; total, $230,900.

While an effort was being made to get down the portion of the wall of the Shannon building near the street which extended above the Chelsea bank building, the wall of the Chelsea bank building fell and fell into the ruins with a crash about 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. There are other portions which are being worked on, but the portion of the wall is probably held only by the three vaults which were in the Shannon building and which are believed to be the center of the wall.

The Chelsea bank building on the two upper floors is now entirely open to the street, and a large quantity of the brick fell into the Chelsea banking rooms. This will mean the reconstruction of the entire building, and the work will be done at least above the second floor, but the other on Shetucket street, which is the main entrance, will be made very soon. The bank will lose about $30,000 by the fire and it is well known that the loss is much more than that.

Called to Ruins This Morning. The firemen were called there in the afternoon when the fire broke out again. It was soon after the firemen had left that the wall fell. After midnight this morning it was necessary to put up a temporary wall of the debris under the north wall of the Chelsea building, which has been breaking and broke into a mass and burned briskly.

Will Clear Up Site Today. J. B. Shannon on Wednesday awarded the contract for clearing up the debris to A. D. Lathrop and the work of getting the site ready for the new stone away will be started today. This will be rushed along as fast as possible. Plans for the new building will be made by Architect Preston at once. The ground floor will be for store purposes, with offices above. The second and third floors, and because of its being fireproof the fourth and fifth floors will be arranged for apartments. It is probable that there will be but one store on the main floor. Mr. Shannon states that there are two parties at least who are interested in the site, but he has not given a name as yet. The Reid & Hughes company and a New London party are said to be the ones. Mr. Hughes states that he has no doubt as to certain about their wanting the entire floor, it being necessary first to know how it will be arranged.

There will be two entrances to the new building, one on Main street, where the stairway was to the cellar, and the other on Shetucket street, where the old entrance was. There will be but one elevator, and that will be located where the old one was. The main stairway will be but one flight hallways connecting them, and the Shetucket street stairway, or the elevator, to be used to reach the other floors. The cellar entrance will be near the Shetucket street stairway and from the inside. A coal chute will be constructed near the Main street entrance.

No One Jumped Upon Wires. Those who were at the fire and assisted in the rescue of the people in the building, took on the wires, but no one who jumped from any window up on wires and there was no one rescued from any pole. All who were rescued were taken from the windows. The Greek who lived in the building on the fourth floor was taken from the window of the fourth floor. He did not jump anywhere, but went down the ladder of the aerial truck. His room was on a window to the south on the floor above the main entrance. The Greek was taken out first on the Shetucket street side and the ladder dropped then to Mrs. Miner's window, and her position was considered. This Stanton the most perilous. She had the closest call, but was not burned or injured. She was taken from the man taken from the fourth floor. Mr. Miner was put out of the window by Chief Stanton and assisted down the ladder by Henry Tait and after that he thought he might get some of her valuables, out, but it was impossible.

Incidents in Society

Miss Christine Northrup of Beech drive was in Worcester on Tuesday.

Miss Falth E. Brown entertained the Wednesday sewing club this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Vaurhan of Warren street have been in Stonington.

The Wednesday Bridge club met yesterday afternoon with Miss Louise B. Meach.

Mrs. Grosvenor Ely and Mrs. Horatio Bigelow are spending a few days in New York.

Mrs. Charles A. Burnham, who has been spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Sheldon Peck of Newark, N. J., has returned to town.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. W. Tyler Gleason left town Wednesday to spend the remainder of the week in New York.

Miss Florence Northrup of Beech drive left town Tuesday to join a Raymond & Whitcomb party going to Rodlands, Cal., where she will remain several months.

Where Fire Caught. Chief Stanton believes that the fire started in the room of the janitor who keeps his belongings, next to the air shaft, to which there was access. This was on the second floor under the stairs. The air shaft next to it and through the roof, the fire first breaking out in the fourth and fifth floors, and gradually crept down story by story, the front of the building in which were the stores of Steiner and Lewis, being the last in the cur of the fire. Plenty of Water. There was all the water the fire department wanted, and 200 hydrants under 50 pounds pressure wouldn't have been used. The water has been six or eight inches to put the water under 140 pounds pressure, then something toward evening, when the building could have been done, but as it was, the attention had to be given the adjoining property. No more than an inch and a half were used. The big stream which threw water upon the Wauregan house included two streams from the steamer and one from a hydrant. Other streams were slamed from hydrants, but did not reach where the steamer stream did. The water was so abundant that the cellar took away the equal of twelve one-inch streams and it was also found that an inch and a half of water would have done the work. Strangers Compliment Work. There were many strangers here on Wednesday and looked over the ruins. Those who had a right to express an opinion on the work done here, said that it was hardly possible to do better. The work done here has done so well with the three engines of the type here. It would have required a dozen or more in big cities. There were many compliments and expressions regarding the efficiency of the department.

Dr. Louise Miner lost many valuable clothes and other things collected on her travels abroad. She saved hardly anything. By the middle of the month she expects to open her office in the Kenyon building.

As the leases of the tenants expire with the fire, they are seeking locations for their business in the city. The portion of Shetucket street opposite the Chelsea bank building was closed Wednesday afternoon after the wall fell, and the wall of the front wall falling. This blocked the Laurel Hill line.

The police did excellent work in keeping the crowds back, many super-numeraries being put to work. The new Shannon building and the new building on the first corner, bank and Plant-Cadden Co. will mean three new structures as the result of the fire.

To shut off the large gas main entering the building an employe of the gas department jumped into the cellar pipes to shut off the gas. He was then hustled home and into dry clothes.

Tenants Change. Tenants of the Shannon building and others who had been in the fire have been hustling in the last day or two to find other business locations. The offices of the Attawaugan and Totoket Mills Companies, temporarily occupying the desk room in the Board of Trade rooms, but will move to the third floor of the Thames bank building as soon as possible. Dr. F. J. J. Hill has written, as accommodations with Dentist Kinkaid on Broadway. The United States Dental company has secured quarters in the Bill block. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. is making a new building of rooms on the second floor of the Thames Loan and Trust company building, and B. P. Learned & company are making a temporary office of a room in the basement of the same building.

Money from the Ruins. The morning after the fire Newsdealer P. Lewis saved from the ruins of his store, on the Main street front of the Shannon building a wallet containing $9 in old bills, which he had been saving as souvenirs, and a leather handbag belonging to Mrs. Ada Wallace, and containing $5, was also found unharmed, except for water. The wallet had been left in a drawer and the packetbook was in a show case, which had not been reached by the fire.

Birthday Anniversary. Leslie Maynard celebrated the anniversary of his birth with a delightful party Friday evening at a handsome home on Grove place, when a number of friends were his guests for the evening. Games and music were enjoyed and refreshments were served. The party was given by Mrs. Dora Rich, Mrs. Sadie Greer, Dora Geer, Ruth Quinn, Margaret Brunley, Jennie Drake, and Henry Landolt, Bert Turner, William Johnson, Charles Duffer and George Kirby.

New London.—At the Methodist Episcopal church quarterly conference Monday evening a handsome vote was passed, instructing the official board to prevail upon the presiding bishop of the Southern New England conference to meet April 10, for the return of Rev. W. P. Buck to the pastorate of the Federal Street church.
