Pay Little Heed to the Stiff Southeaster with Stinging Rain Prevailing in Hampton Roads

BATTLESHIP VERMONT IN QUARANTINE

Case of Smallpox on Board—Sick Man Taken to Naval Hospital—Officers and Men Vaccinated Anew—Large Number of Enlisted Men, whose Service Term Has Expired, Leave for Home.

Fort Monroe, Va., Feb. 23.—The bad weather which greeted the battleship Vermont as she sailed yesterday, the worst the sixteen ships have experienced in any port visited on their voyage around the world, continued today. Storm signals were hoisted on the beach and during the afternoon a stiff southeaster set in, driving a stinging rain across the water.

Roadstead Choked With Fighting Craft That part of the roadstead running west from the battleship Vermont was fairly choked with fighting craft today. The two long lines of the combined squadrons of Admirals Sperry and Aldrich stretched away from the dock, almost as far as the eye could reach, the gray ships of the star-at-home fleet fading away in the rain and mist which overspread the harbor.

Ships Begin Coaling. Nearly one-half of the ships began coaling today in spite of the weather. All of the vessels came in with bunkers nearly empty after the long and stormy run from Gibraltar.

First Shore Leave of the Men. A committee from Norfolk visited the battleship Vermont today to extend the shore leave of the men on Saturday, but Admiral Sperry, in company with about fifty other officers, had gone to Richmond to attend the luncheon there and did not return until late this afternoon.

Have Saved Considerable Money. A number of the sailors who left today were long enlistment men, who undoubtedly will come back into the service before three months have expired. They have saved considerable money on the trip and are anxious to go home and tell of their experiences.

Ball at the Chamberlin. A reception tendered in the Fort Monroe club by the military officers today, that the "top" invitation of the ball was accepted, however, and that several thousand men will be sent there. This will be the first shore leave the men will have since they were ordered aboard ship upon the departure of the battleship Vermont from the fleet.

MILITARY AFFAIRS

OF STATE OF CONNECTICUT. TO BE REPAIRED.

Adjutant General Cole Before Legislative Committee—Talk of an Investigation of Military Conditions.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 23.—If there seemed to be any thought that an investigation of the military conditions of the state was necessary, he wanted that there should be such investigation, said Adjutant General Cole this afternoon before the legislative committee on military affairs at the capitol. General Cole appeared to favor the bill providing for an investigation in the affairs of the adjutant general and his assistants. He said he would rather have had someone else than the adjutant general to investigate the military conditions of the state, would be proper and said:

"Gentlemen, if there is any thought that an investigation is necessary, I would like to see the military conditions of the state to find out the way for the state to find out the way the department is doing and of having the real truth of the military conditions of the state by fair and impartial investigation."

Attorney H. J. Woodford of New Haven spoke in favor of the bill, saying that he would make an earnest appeal for a favorable decision by the committee and that he believed the present salary too small.

DELEGATION OF DEMOCRATS. WAIT UPON GOV. LILLEY.

Ask that the Custom of Giving Democrats Minority Representations on Republican Commissions Be Revived.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 23.—A delegation of the democrats in the general assembly, consisting of Senators Shaughey, Hurley, Courtney and Turner, and Representatives Tingler, Dunn, Foster and Higgins, waited on Governor Lilley today and asked that the custom of giving the democrats minority representation on commissions appointed by a republican administration, generally observed up to the term of Governor Roberts, but which lapsed at that time, be revived. They asked that in the case of railroad commissioners the governor recall one of the names sent in today to the senate in assembly and name a democrat for one place on that commission. The men named by the governor today were O. R. Fyler of Torrington and Andrew F. Gates of Hartford.

JUDGES OF MINOR COURTS.

Hearing Before Legislative Committee on Judiciary—No Opposition.

Hartford, Feb. 23.—At a hearing before the legislative committee on judiciary today there was no opposition to the appointment of the following judges of minor courts:

Henry H. Burnham, judge and Albert H. Brewster, deputy judge of the town court of Griswold; Walter Holcomb, judge of the borough court of Torrington; Frederick T. Latimer, judge, and Augustin S. Chester, deputy judge of the town court of Groton; Richard R. Heppner, judge and Roger S. Baldwin, deputy judge of the town court of Milford; Herbert S. Bullard, recorder of the city court of Hartford; Thomas Wall, deputy judge of the town court of Torrington.

NEEDS OF THE CONNECTICUT AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Hearing on Appropriation by the State of $10,000 for a Road Between the College and Eagleville Railroad Station.

(Special to The Bulletin.) Hartford, Feb. 23.—The gentlemen of the committee may think that the growth of the college and the needs of the college has just about reached its maximum, remarked Dr. Higgins of Coventry to the joint committee on roads, bridges and ferries this afternoon, during the hearing on the appropriation by the state of $10,000 for a road between the college and the railroad station at Eagleville, "but this is far from the fact. It is only within recent years that it has begun to grow and it is growing rapidly, and it will reach its maximum in a few years and to the great benefit of the young people of the state."

It is growing so rapidly as to require the state to provide for a proper facilities for approach by persons and freight. This three miles of road is being rapidly constructed, and the road is used little or none by the people of Mansfield, but is vital to the life of the college and the needs of the college as its length which renders it of little value now. There are precedents for asking the state to assume the cost of the road, and the road will not come out of the general fund appropriated for the new system of good roads.

President Beach of the college was present and spoke eloquently of the need of a road to the college. He asked for a new dining hall, four cottages for members of the faculty now quartered in buildings formerly used for dormitories, and a new building to use as a gym, and for money to buy the Valentine farm, which it needs and which can be bought very cheaply at this time. Professor Wheeler and Trustees Charles A. Capen of Willimantic also urged the committee to report the matter favorably. Dr. Higgins representative E. E. Fuller of Tolland, Dr. Higgins gave assurance that if this was done the appropriations committee would take care of the matter.
