CASES IN TWO COURTS.

Contested Divorce Case from Norwich Heard at New London—Short Calendar Business Today—Case of Avery vs. White Still on in Common Pleas Court.

In the superior court at New London Thursday before Judge Wheeler William L. Cochrane was suing his wife, Elizabeth, for divorce.

The alleged ground for divorce is adultery. Mr. Cochrane was on the stand a couple of hours and accused his wife of infidelity, naming Fred W. Sawyer, formerly of Norwich, as the alleged adulterer.

There will be a short calendar session of the superior court at New London this morning and among the matters to come up is the argument demurrer in the case of William Yensen, administrator of the estate of his mother, Helen Yensen, against Harry P. Hill of Mystic.

There are a number of other matters to come up. At this time Judge Wheeler has before him several questions involving constitutional law which are brought under the new federal law which does away with the common law practice that where it is an accident is due to the neglect of a fellow employe it is impossible to recover from the employing corporation.

On Thursday the entire day was taken up with the trial of the case of Sherwood G. Avery vs. Charles E. White before Judge Waller and a jury.

ANNUAL CHURCH SOCIAL. AN ENJOYED AFFAIR. Large Number at Methodist Church Despite Bad Weather—Ends Year Free from Debt.

The annual church social of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church was held on Thursday evening. There being a very bad day, a considerable number of the poor weather. This is an excellent testimonial for these gatherings.
