HUMANE COMMITTEE AT INSANE HOSPITAL.
Shown Over the Institution and the Proposed Work Explained to Them.

On Thursday morning the members of the humane institutions committee went to the Norwich state hospital for the purpose of looking over the institution and seeing what the needs are there. They were shown about by Superintendent Pollock, according to the schedule given in Thursday's Bulletin, and at noon they had lunch with him at his home. Following that there was a brief discussion of the needs and they returned to the city in the afternoon and left for their homes. They were much impressed with the work accomplished there.

Being Sick in a New York Hotel.
"A man's got to be sick in one of your fine New York hotels before he'll believe half the little homey things they say for his comfort," said a western man. "By personal experience the other night I found that almost everything from a hot water bag and an atomizer up to a pair of crutches was furnished free to patients. When I felt better I looked into the subject a little and was surprised enough to see what they call the 'emergency room.' It was fitted up with all sorts of things for aid to the injured; bandages, splints and quite an array of surgical instruments. It made me feel a lot more comfortable to know everything was ready to relieve me if I changed to sprain my ankle or swallow a fishbone. Incidentally, I was told that one hotel had recently fitted up a miniature hospital ward with every up to date contrivance for caring for several sick patients. It seemed a new idea to me, though perhaps I am behind the times."—New York Sun.

Sure Cure for Tuberculosis.
A remarkable series of cures effected in advanced cases of tuberculosis is attracting the attention of medical men. One case has been under the supervision of a distinguished physician for five months and the patient, who was suffering from consumption of both lungs and throat, has been pronounced virtually well. A report from the physician on the medical aspects of the case will probably be published soon. Arrangements have been made for subjecting the treatment to a decisive test by applying it to six or eight hospital cases and securing a scientific demonstration.

The treatment is described as a thermochemical attraction, the germs of the disease being drawn by chemical heat through a ray of inflammation from the lung or throat to the surface of the skin, and expelled when the wound is washed. It has been practiced by a scientific investigator, William Doig, for several years at his private dispensary, and medical men are astonished by the results in cases of tuberculosis which they have considered hopeless.—London Special New York Tribune.

GARDNER GREENE NAMED AS JUDGE

Will Go to Superior Court Bench Next February—M. H. Holcomb Also Named—Were Slated for Those Positions by the Late Gov. Lilley.

Governor Weeks on Thursday sent to the general assembly the nominations of Gardner Greene of Norwich and Marcus H. Holcomb of Southington to be judges of the superior court.

Mr. Greene is nominated for a term of eight years beginning February 5, 1910, with a term of office general Holcomb for eight years, beginning September 7, 1910. The two nominees, it is understood, were those whom the late Gov. George L. Lilley had in mind and were named for the purpose of carrying out his wishes.

The governor's communication to the general assembly transmitting the nominations was as follows:
"I have the honor to nominate for appointment as judges by the general assembly:
Gardner Greene of Norwich, to be a judge of the superior court for the term of eight years from February 7, 1910.
"Marcus H. Holcomb of Southington, to be a judge of the superior court for the term of eight years from September 7, 1910."
(Signed) "Frank B. Weeks, Governor."

The selection of Attorney General Welcomb and Gardner Greene of Norwich as Governor Weeks' nominees for judges of the superior court to fill vacancies which will occur in 1910, and which went to the senate Thursday, created much discussion. Some weeks ago it was expected that Michael Kenealy of Stamford would be named. Early in March it is said on excellent authority, the late governor expressed his intention of naming for the bench a lawyer who was of a different religious belief than the one on the bench at present and the understanding was that Mr. Kenealy would be the appointee and that Judge Holcomb would be the other. It is understood that when a delegation from New Haven appeared before the governor in the interest of Judge Wolfe of that city, the late governor said that it was his intention to select another judge from New Haven county. It is said that during the discussion the late governor was told that there were certain obligations which New Haven thought ought to be fulfilled. The governor made a reply which led the delegation to beat a quick retreat.

If Governor Lilley had intended originally to have appointed Mr. Kenealy, it is stated, it is certain he changed his mind, for the tender of a judgeship was made to a prominent lawyer, who declined the proffer. This declaration was received while Mr. Lilley was ill. He had, however, signified a second choice, and it is understood that the second choice was Mr. Greene, and that Governor Weeks has carried out the wishes of Governor Lilley as regards the judgeships.

Gardner Greene was born Aug. 12, 1851, in Norwich. He was graduated from the Norwich Free Academy in the class of 1888, from Yale in 1872 and from Columbia Law school in 1875. He was admitted to the bar in New York city in 1877 and in New London county in 1878. In that year he became associated in partnership with the late Hon. John T. Watsford, and continued until Mr. Watsford's death in 1898. He represented Norwich in the general assembly in 1891-92 and in 1895, being a member of the committee on the constitution of the state during the famous deadlock session, being at the head of the republican party at that time in the assembly. He was a member of the commission for the revision of the laws of the state in 1902 and has been corporation counsel of the city. He is one of the leading lawyers of the city and eastern Connecticut, being deeply interested in public affairs. He was a member of the library committee of the Law Library association of the county. He received many congratulations on Thursday as the result of his appointment.

His father, George F. Reynolds April 4, 1844, and both are members of Christ Episcopal church.

NORWICH TOWN.
Whittier Evening, With Novel Features at M. E. Church—Briefs and Personals.

A Whittier evening was held Wednesday in the vestry of the Methodist church. The program was arranged by the prayer meeting committee of the Epworth league. Programmes were distributed so that those taking part were not announced from the platform. The order follows: Organ selection, Miss Olive Carpenter; hymn, We May Not Climb the Heavenly Steeps, by Whittier; sketch of Whittier's Life, Miss Edith M. Dodge; readings, The Barefoot Boy, Miss Marion L. Randall; School Days, Miss Martha Brown; The Minister's Daughter, Mrs. F. H. Bushnell; Barbara Frischbie, Mrs. G. L. Randall. Following these was a song, Anchored, by Charles F. Frazier. Readings: Two selections from the Epworth Hymns, The Storm and The Home Scene, by Miss Dodge and Mrs. G. E. Manning; The Corn Song, Mrs. H. J. Gibbs; The Huskers, Mrs. A. G. Miner; The Virgin's Daughter, Mrs. Jerome Grover; A Song, With Thou Art Gone, by Mrs. Rufus Stanton, closed this part of the entertainment.

Then followed a musical guessing contest; the story was read by Miss Dodge and the songs were sung by Miss Carpenter; the names of the songs were guessed and supplied in the missing parts of the story. An advertisement hunt gave much pleasure. Oranges and wafers were served. Many were present to enjoy the evening. Miss Carpenter's music was a noteworthy addition to the enjoyment of all.
