Liquor Seizure Case in Westery Judge Williams Declares Seized Liquor Forfeited to the State—Riverpoint Wants Horse Thief Reynolds—Opening of Two-State League Season Today.

At the regular weekly session of the Third district court, Judge Oliver H. Williams, Friday, the time was most occupied in the trial of the case of Police Sergeant Thomas E. Brown, complainant against the liquor seized at the Martin House pharmacy, in which Attorney A. T. L. Ledwidge put in appearance for claimant at a session of the court a week ago. The trial brought out evidence to show alleged sales in connection with the seizure. Police Sergeant Thomas E. Brown testified that on April 18, served search warrant on drug store in Martin house, north end, and, supposedly, occupied by Oliver E. Gavitt. It is south of the entrance to the Martin house and north of the driveway. Made search at 9 in the morning and service warrant on Mr. Gavitt. Found no liquor in the rear. Officer Holland found a quart of whiskey near the soda fountain. Searched side room and cellar and found empty bottles in the cellar. In the rear room there were pint and half-pint bottles. Mr. Gavitt accompanied officers into back room and conducted them to the cellar. Have seen Mr. Gavitt in the store frequently during past six months or so, attending to the business. Have been in the store on former occasions and made a visit there last November. The question of whether evidence in a former liquor case seizure was admissible or not was raised, and, after argument, the court declared the evidence admissible.

At the opening of the afternoon session at 1:10, George W. Rodman was called to the witness stand and testified he had resided in Ashaway for six years and was 19 years of age. He was employed as a line worker. He came to Westery, April 2, with Spencer. They both went into the collection of the railway station and searched Spencer; he had no bottle in his pocket. Spencer then went in Gavitt's place, known as the Martin pharmacy. Knew Gavitt had seen him in the drug store. Spencer went into store to buy whiskey and witness remained outside. When Spencer came out searched him again and found bottle of whiskey. Knew it was whiskey because he saw it in the store. He drank whiskey before, but not on that day. Was in Westery again with Spencer on the evening of April 2. Came to the pharmacy to purchase whiskey. The searching process was gone through at the depot, and then Spencer went to the Martin store and when he came out and was searched again he had a bottle of whiskey.

Chief of Police Branfield testified had known Oliver E. Gavitt for about fifteen years, and has kept the north drug store in the Martin block since last August. Mr. Gavitt, while preparing the present premises he said he was going to run a clean store and believed he could make it pay. Since then Gavitt has been there, attending to the trade continuously. Early in April a gray haired man with gray moustaches, from 45 to 50 years of age, was working in the store, but have not seen that man in the store for the past week. Witness received the two bottles of liquor in evidence from Mr. Ecclestone about April 7, and they have been in the police station since then. Policeman Edward E. West was the next witness. He testified that he was acquainted with the premises known as the Martin pharmacy in the Martin House block. Have seen Oliver E. Gavitt in the store apparently in charge since the Martin pharmacy was established. Charles Ecclestone of Ashaway testified that he received a bottle of liquor from Spencer April 2 and another April 5. By M. Ledwidge—Received the bottles when in Mr. Agard's office in Westery and delivered them to Captain Branfield. He did not engage Spencer and Rodman to get the liquor but did engage Spencer. Paid them with money received from representative of the town of Westery. No promises had been made to him, no special agreement made as to fees, and no arrangement has been made as to what he should receive for his services in this case. He expected to receive an ordinary day's pay for his work. This concluded the evidence and the arguments were commenced at three o'clock. Judge Williams, after listening to the arguments, declared the seized liquors forfeited to the state and issued orders for destruction. The liquor involved in this particular case is only one quart of whiskey, but the object of the claimant was to draw the fire of the prosecution in the case that is liable to follow, the keeping of liquor with intent to sell and the actual sale of liquor contrary to law.

Reynolds, who stole a horse and carriage from Stanton Thompson in Westery, and gave Chief Branfield and Norwich officers such a lively chase that it is about a year ago, will face another charge of horse theft in Rhode Island, when released from the Connecticut state prison. For bringing a stolen horse from another state he was sentenced to a term of from one to three years in state prison. As the first year is nearly at an end and there being possibility of discharge, the authorities of Riverpoint, R. I. have lodged a warrant for his detention and arrest in the event of his discharge from Connecticut custody. As punishment has been inflicted in a Card. This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Contains no opiates. The bottle is in a yellow package. Lee & Osgood Co.

connection with the larceny in Westery, the local authorities have no desire to arrest and punish him again, although this could be done for the actual theft, his present imprisonment being for taking stolen property from Rhode Island into Connecticut. The playing season of the Rhode Island-Connecticut baseball league opens today (Saturday) and Westery is favored with one of the first games, the visitors coming from Carolina. The White Sox will tackle the Norwich team at Norwich, and Stonington will go to Wakefield. This will be the first game of Norwich and Wakefield in this two-state league. Dudley R. Peabody, who has been a leaver carrier since May 9, 1922 and John A. Moore, who has been in the service since 1898, have resigned on account of ill health. They have been faithful and efficient and the necessity of their resignation is generally regretted. The vacancies have been filled by the permanent appointment of Edward St. Onge and Edward A. Montague, who have served as substitutes.

Local Leocoms. The benefit entertainment for Miss Laprise, who was completely scalped in the White Rock mill, held in Hibberden hall, Friday night, was liberally patronized. Walter A. Dunn, for the past three years janitor of the town hall and assistant clerk in the town clerk's office, has resigned to take effect today (Saturday). Mr. Dunn is to be stenographer in a mill office in Tilton, N. H.

MAKES A FLOATING COMPASS. Peculiarity of Magnetized Needle When Placed in Water. If a thoroughly dry and clean sewing needle is very carefully laid on the surface of the water in a basin the needle will float in spite of the high density of steel—seven or eight times that of water. On close inspection it is found that the surface of the water is depressed under the needle, very much as if there were a thin film stretched over the water, and slightly indented by the weight of the needle. This property of liquids, of offering a certain resistance to force exerted upon their surface, is termed "surface extension." The magnitude of the force of surface tension varies from one liquid to another. It is greatest in the case of mercury. The cause of the phenomenon must probably be looked for in the attraction of the liquid molecules to one another. A sewing needle, thus floating upon water, may be used as a compass, if it has previously been magnetized. It will then point north and south, and will maintain this position if the containing vessel is moved about; if the needle is displaced by force it will return to its position along the magnetic meridian as soon as the restraint is removed.

CURRENCY OF FURS AND SKINS. Primitive Mode of Exchange That Prevailed in Early Days. In the early days of the United States furs and skins were very generally transferred from hand to hand as money. Thus, in the northern states, a pound of beaver was regarded as the unit of value, and in the south the same weight of deer skin performed a similar function. In the far west furs retained a currency value until quite a recent date. But after all, as a bale of skins was rather bulky roll of money to carry about, it was customary to cut off small strips as tokens of ownership and pass them from hand to hand, while the skins were deposited in recognized places of security. Proof of rightful ownership was demonstrated when the strip was fitted to the part from which it had been detached. Tricky in substituting another skin was not so easy as might be imagined, because it seldom happened that two skins would prove so exactly similar in shade and length of fur where the strip was cut off as to deceive even the eye of a novice.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY. Political Map Changing. The political map of the state is changing rapidly. The events the past two weeks have undoubtedly caused the bell to toll on several fond fancies of advancement a fact that will mean a different set of men to the front. Then, too, opponents of the public utilities bill are voluntarily taking worthless rain checks that will not be honored, and hence they cannot return to the game.—Bristol Press.

A Noble Woman. If ever a man had the earnest, understanding, loving, effective aid of a noble woman in his ambitious and his struggles, that man was George Libby. And who shall say that they did not win? For him there are honor and respect and tears. For her there are tears and sorrow and sympathy. And for us all there is the legacy.—New Haven Register.

The Utility Bill Champion. It was Mr. Parker of Hartford who rebuked Mr. Burges when that gentleman saw fit to reflect upon Governor Lyle's championship of the public utilities bill. It was Mr. Parker who yesterday afternoon at that time, of them, and I see a host of sorrowful faces about me, and the faces of those who loved me are saddest; and they all say to me, 'We might have smiled if you had been kind.' Oh, what a chump I was! "It's certainly hell," sighed the second shade.—Newark News.

Overlooked an Opportunity. Why did Roosevelt go to Africa to get big game? Over one hundred tigers have been discovered in Atlanta, and they are all blind. Curiously enough, they have been found very difficult to kill.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Consolation. There is consolation in the fact that whatever the sultan gets in the coming deal he will not be collecting any unearned increment.—Washington Post.

Notice to Brides. When a bride has to roll up her sleeves and learn the art of cooking corned beef and cabbage the honeymoon has set.—Chicago News.

Opportunity for The Hague. The peace of Europe may be preserved if alliance of Ralouff, Cip Castro and Carrie Nation can be prevented.—Washington Post.

Traffic is Lighter. Traffic is somewhat lighter on Pennsylvania avenue owing to the infrequency of presidential messages.—Washington Star.

That Tired Feeling and Those Little Soldiers

There is probably no better indication that those "Little Soldiers" in your blood—the white corpuscles—are deficient in health and strength and may fail to defend your body against disease germs, than "that tired feeling."

It is not an "honest tired feeling," which is produced by work and relieved by rest. It is a tired feeling that has absolutely nothing to do with mental or physical exertion, and makes a constant burden of itself. You go to bed with it and get up with it. It is common in the spring or on the return of warm weather, and is a warning which only the hazardous fail to heed. It is due to an impure, impoverished or devitalized condition of the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the specific remedy for it, because this great medicine purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood. Thousands know by experience annually that Hood's Sarsaparilla completely and permanently removes that tired feeling, gives new life, new courage, strength and animation. Begin taking Hood's at once. It is no trouble to take it—only three doses a day. "I had that tired feeling and when I got up in the morning it appeared as though I had had no sleep. My system was all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended for these symptoms and I began taking it. Since taking two bottles I am entirely well. I can now do in a few hours the work that formerly required all day. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's." Martin Kemp, Union Stock Yard Hotel, Cleveland, Ohio. Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than 20 different ingredients, each greatly strengthened and enriched by this peculiar combination. These ingredients are the very remedies that successful physicians prescribe for the same diseases and ailments. There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. If urged to buy any preparation said to be "just as good," you may be sure it is inferior, costs less to make, and yields the dealer a larger profit. Begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla today, in usual liquid or tablets known as Sarsatabs.
