Gertrude Yeomans and Annie Lathrop walked to South Windham Saturday, leaving Greenville at 8 o'clock and reaching the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis at quarter to one.

The Runaways of Tataville gave the Klackers of Greenville a fine points Saturday morning on the Skutumpah mill, defeating the local team 5 to 4.

White's pitching was a big factor in their victory. Only in the eighth did he let up, and after allowing a base on balls to Danny Cummings of the Tigers, he pitched a big game to right center, bringing in three runs.

Fully's pitching for Greenville was a feature. The batteries, White and Murphy, Fuller and Walsh. There was a crowd of 185 present.

John Fahey of 46 Baltic street, employed as care-taker at St. Mary's cemetery, suffered a paralytic shock while at work mowing a lawn in the cemetery Tuesday morning about quarter of eleven. A physician, who was passing by the cemetery, was called and attended him. Mr. Fahey had a morose severe shock, was unconscious and was sent to his home in an ambulance by the Greenville physician, suffering from a severe stroke.

He was covered his senses and was conscious during the afternoon. He was in a critical condition Monday evening.

The services on Monday of the mission being held this week for the men of St. Mary's parish was marked by large attendance and an interest that insured success. The examination of conscience was the subject of the instruction, kindly given by Rev. James R. Mitchell to a large congregation. In the evening the church was filled with men who were deeply interested in the instruction by Fr. Mitchell on The Catholic Rule of Faith. Rev. Edward Downes delivered a powerful sermon on The Evil Effects of Moral Sin, and Society and the Individual.

THE QUEST FOR RAILROAD TIES. From the Scientific American. So serious is becoming the question of supplying sleepers for American railways that the Santa Fe system recently sent its manager of the timber and sleeper department on a tour to the Orient and Europe, to make a study of conditions. It was learned, among other things, that three hundred years ago the Japanese Government began to conserve its forests, and that as a result of its foresight, Japan is now selling sleepers to railways in America and Mexico. There is a duty of twenty per cent on each sleeper imported into the United States. That we should be paying a twenty per cent duty on sleepers, states and American contemporary, is one among many constantly accumulating evidences of the thoughtless extravagance with which our magnificent timber supply has been ruthlessly swept away.

The Bird in Hand. Lanny—Say, let's promise to marry each other when we grow up. Gracie—Oh, no. I might like somebody else better than Lanny—Me, too. Gracie—(laughing)—Oh, yes, let's do promise.

In the other suit, that of Martha O. Wilson, admr. vs. the Connecticut company, the sum of $5,000 was sought for the death of Eleazer Gilson at New Haven Sept. 7, 1908.

The civil superior court for Windham county was to come in at Willimantic with a jury to try two cases, the first of which was the case of Mrs. Shields informed the clerk on Monday that the cases had been settled and that they were the only ones assigned the season will be short.

250th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION of the Founding of Norwich, July 5th and 6th

LAST MEMBER HERE OF FIGHTING FOURTEENTH. Jeremiah Callahan is Enjoying Good Health, Although Wounded Fiercely.

The recent gift by Congressman Higgins to Sogdwick post of a bullet picked up by him at Gettysburg and referred to as an important memento taken in that battle by the Fourteenth Connecticut Volunteer Infantry has brought to light the interesting fact that Jeremiah Callahan, who resides at the corner of Slater avenue and Cedar streets, has the unique distinction of being the only man living in Norwich today who served in the Civil war in the Fourteenth regiment.

The Fourteenth took part in over thirty engagements and bore well the hardships of the campaign. Callahan, though twice severely wounded, one of the wounds being a mortal one, is now enjoying fairly good health, coming down town to greet his friends nearly every pleasant day.

Among other Norwich men who served in the Fourteenth was the late Gen. James B. Colt, who was major of the regiment. He was killed in the time wounded during the war, one of his wounds being received at Gettysburg. Some of the other important battles in which the Fourteenth participated were Antietam, Frederickburg, The Wilderness, Morton's Ford, Chancellorsville and at the siege of Petersburg.

Another public meeting of horticultural society. Addresses by Alfred Flowers and Mrs. E. M. Rogers.

An instructive series of meetings held this spring by the New London County Horticultural society was continued by one held Monday evening in the Buckingham Memorial parlors, which was open to the public and had an attendance of about twenty. President S. Alpheus Gilbert called the meeting to order shortly after 8 o'clock and the secretary, Frank H. Allen read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved. There being no special business, the programme of the evening was taken up with a paper which comprised two talks illustrated by floral specimens.

Alfred Flowers of New London, a member of the society, was first heard in a talk upon Herbaceous Perennials that was highly appreciated. He spoke from the fact that he has been in the culture that gave his words added weight as he described them. The most satisfactory results could be achieved with these plants by having some special spot set apart for them, such as a border eight or ten feet wide, and give them a good deep digging to start with and plenty of well rotted manure for they are great feeders. In either the fall or the spring they can be planted, but preferably in the spring. How they should be arranged in the bed depends on height, the flowering time of the plants and the colors, all these to be adapted, but the object is to plant so as to get a mass of flowers. Constant work to keep the bed in condition is required all season long, and selections of early and late flowering varieties can be made to extend the season of flowering, which can be made to cover from the earliest spring varieties till the hazy crysanthemums which are here when the frost arrives.

Mr. Flowers added a word on staking, which he said was a necessary evil, but a stake should never be driven through the center of the clump, for that was a sure way of forming a hole in which water collected and killed the plant. Watering would be needed only in extreme drought, but should be deep and followed by a light hoeing to form a mulch. In closing, Mr. Flowers took up the varieties in detail, describing them at length.

The "Committee of Spring" was the subject of a talk which followed by Mrs. E. M. Rogers, who gave her hearers a most interesting acquaintance with the nature calendar of this time of the year as shown by the arrival of the flowers, among which she said it was hard to say which was the first, the skunk cabbage, the hepatica, or the trailing arbutus, but when any of these three were found it might be safely said that spring had come. She went on to describe the successive varieties that follow their coming. Her talk, which comprised a most timely subjects, was of especial interest, and both speakers were thanked for their parts in the programme.

A True Story. The following is a true story. It was told the writer by Mr. A. H. Hoadley, general manager of the Providence and the American & British Manufacturing Company.

One day some two years ago three workmen in one branch of the metal trades came to Mr. Hoadley and asked that they all be paid the union scale. "Washing, without arousing any feeling, a show that a mistake had been made, he was harboring, he asked them to wait a moment while he looked into the matter. After examining the payroll and finding that each of the three were receiving and comparing these figures with the authorized union scale, he surprised the men by returning and saying that they were right, and that he would make it up to them. Turning to the oldest man in the party and calling him by name he said: "You have been with us for more than ten years and your personal ability has made it profitable for us to pay you forty cents per hour. Adding the next man, "and you have been with us for about six years and are getting thirty-five cents per hour, according to the union scale I can pay you each thirty cents an hour, irrespective of your individual ability, your knowledge of your work or the worth of your service? If I accept your proposition, and you have my word that I will, it will take considerable money from the pockets of two of you, increase a little the pay of the third, and be a profitable transaction for my company." Of course the men at once rejected the mistake. All being good workmen, matters went on as before, including the wages, and the affair was never mentioned again.—American Industries.

CHILD'S CONFIDENCE IN DADDY. Wanted Papa to Emulate the Historic Act of Moses.

The Sunday school lesson that day had been about Moses leading the children of Israel through the wilderness to the Promised Land, and Little Bobby had been particularly impressed by the incident of the prophet striking the rock with his staff and causing the water to gush forth. After Sunday school he took a walk with his father, and could talk of nothing else.

Now, Bobby has an overwhelming respect for his father's prowess, which was not even overshadowed by the remarkable achievement of Moses. He was thoroughly imbued with the idea that there wasn't a thing in the world his father couldn't do if that thing were at all possible of accomplishment. So when they came to a pile of large boulders, with the Sunday school lesson still uppermost in his mind, he rather started his father by exclaiming:

"Say, pop, hit a rock. I want a drink!"

Couldn't Place Horace. "They say that Horace wrote his poems in praise of wine," the school teacher said to the Bilville citizen.

"Who? Horace Greeley? Never knewed he writ poetry?"

"No, no—the other Horace, who comes from antiquity."

"Never heard tell of him, n'er the place he come from; but it's my opinion, whoever he was, that he had mighty little to do to be wadin' words on wine, when the country has more 100-proof corn liquor than it can consume convenient; but, giner ther think of it, the less said 'bout otha, new or old, in the north Georgy region, the better. The board of government is mighty watchful!"—Atlanta Constitution.

CURES ECZEMA QUICKLY

New Drug, Poslam, Now Obtainable in Small Quantities.

Since its discovery one year ago the new drug, poslam, has successfully cured thousands of chronic cases of eczema and other distressing skin afflictions. Heretofore poslam has been dispensed solely for the benefit of eczema patients in large jars sufficient for a month's treatment. This was found to be an inconvenience to many thousands who use it for minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, scabs, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., which require but a small quantity to cure.

To overcome this, and in response to urgent appeals, the dispensers of poslam have been obliged to adopt, in addition to the regular two-dollar package, a special fifty-cent size, which in future may be found on sale at Lee & Osgood's, Smith's and other leading drug stores in Norwich, or may be ordered direct from the Emergency Laboratories, King's West 55th Street, New York City. In all eczema cases poslam stops itching with first application, and proceeds to heal immediately; chronic cases being cured in two weeks. In less serious skin troubles, results are seen after an overnight application.

Poslam is also on sale in Putnam at Larue's in Danbury and at Woodword's in Willimantic. For further particulars. Samples for experimental purposes may still be had, free of charge, by writing to the laboratories for them.

About Governor Lilley. The late Governor Lilley of Connecticut was one of the few men who dared to bear the bureaucratic iron in its den at Washington. While a member of congress he most effectively exposed the submarine most scandalous and while he ran up against forces which were too strong for him, he made such a shakeup among the dry bones and the crafted men that the agitation has not yet entirely ceased. Governor Lilley was an honest man and a practical man, and his investigation of the submarine in a shameless manner in which the government was being buncoed by the submarine manufacturers entitled him to the thanks of all honest men for his service alone, if for no other, he will not soon be forgotten in Washington naval circles.—Portland, Oregon.

One Way to Appear Young. A wise young woman given as her reason for having learned the vertical writing: "This form of writing has been used for but a few years in some schools. When I have occasion to write to anybody they are very apt to conclude from my handwriting that I have been out of school but a few years, and accordingly I will be considered a real young woman."

"This does not count for so much at present, for I am only 23 years, but it may start a great deal in getting me a start in the friendship of a man later. I will not of course lie about my age, but I will get a more favorable start."

Doll's Dress Regulated by Law. The dress of Chinese dolls is regulated by law, according to the station of the class it represents and little girls are permitted to play with their dolls as a special reward for good conduct. These dolls are preserved from generation to generation, and are frequently dressed to represent historical characters, thus early initiating the child into Chinese history in a most entertaining way. Most Chinese dolls are boy dolls, probably because women have played a rather unimportant part in the history of that nation.—Bohemian Magazine.

Between Managers. "I hear you have a spy show this season." "Yap." "Being denounced any?" "Not enough to help business much."

Habitual Constipation. May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed, as the best of remedies, when required, are to assist nature and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts, and right living generally. To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
