

POSSIBLE FOR LEG TO ESCAPE

If He Is Alive We Shall Catch Him, Says New York's Detective Chief

Authentic Statement by McCafferty

The whole country is one vast rat trap with no exit left unguarded—all the police of the country working as one great machine—Chinese laundries receive warning notices from owners.

New York, June 28.—Inspector McCafferty, chief of the New York detective bureau, made the first authentic statement tonight on the murder of Eisele Sigel that has been made by the police since the discovery of the body on June 18th, wedged in an oval-top trunk, in the bedroom of Leon Ling, an American chop suey restaurant, Inspector McCafferty said in substance:

"We shall catch Leon Ling." "We shall catch the murderer." "Details will not alter that, although it chafes us. The whole country is one vast rat trap, with every exit guarded by One Leg of Fugitive's Journey Net."

The girl who killed between 10 o'clock in the morning and noon of June 18th and we believe Leon Ling is the man who did it with Chung Sin, his intimate, as a possible accomplice. We have Chung Sin. From his room in Eighth avenue, Leon Ling sent the "Don't worry" telegram signed "Eisele," received on the night of the murder by the Chinese family in Washington. He returned to New York and somewhere about midnight of June 18th took the body in a trunk to New York, arriving there about 2 a. m. on June 19. We don't know how he took it. That leg of the journey has not been accounted for. All available records of the various taxicab companies have been searched, but there are many privately owned machines which keep no records. Some of these have made such a trip would be more than likely to have taken such money. Unable to dispose of the trunk, Ling returned to New York with the body on the afternoon of June 19th and left it in his room. From that time on, we know, he had no other possible accomplice than Chung Sin. We do not know what became of the clothes and

TRAGEDY OF BUNGALOW CRIME

Declaration of State's Attorney General Through with the Case

CORONER'S VERDICT IN BUNGALOW CRIME

Robert E. Eastman Killed or was Accessory to the Murder of Edith May Woodill—A Compromise Verdict—Mrs. Eastman Visits Her Husband's Grave on which Someone Had Planted a Tomato Vine.

St. Michaels, Md., June 28.—With the compromise verdict of the coroner's jury that Robert E. Eastman either killed, or was accessory to the murder of Edith May Woodill, the declaration of State's Attorney Taylor that he was through with the case, the tragedy which had for nearly a week focussed the eyes of the entire country upon this out of the way hamlet of Maryland's famous eastern shore, became a closed chapter.

Much Available Evidence Not Adduced. Four of the twelve jurors who listened to the testimony at the re-opening inquest refused to sign the verdict which had been returned by the majority. The crime was added to the draft which approved by the majority bluntly accused the State's Attorney Taylor of the testimony at the re-opening inquest.

Bit of Politics in the Verdict. The letter left by Eastman for his wife, in which he declared that Mrs. Woodill was killed by lightning, was a bit of politics in the verdict, for some of the members of the jury having been bitter political enemies in Talbot county affairs.

The Testimony Given. Much of the testimony given before the jury was deeply interesting, and made clear many points in the tragedy which heretofore have been matters of conjecture. The mysterious launch which was reported as having been seen near the bungalow on the Sunday afternoon of the murder, and which Mrs. Woodill did not figure in the evidence, Residents of the vicinity of the bungalow.

Money Enough Spent Upon the Launch. There was talk today of having an analysis made of the contents of the bottle found in the shack on yesterday which is believed to have contained arsenic. The bottle may have been used upon Mrs. Woodill prior to her murder. The analysis was regarded as all right, and the coroner remarked that the county had already spent enough money upon the lamentable case.
