ROBERTS BOUND OVER.

Charged With Murdering His Wife at Their Home in Columbia June 7th—Hearing Before Justice Clarke. William Burrows Roberts, whose jail sentence expired Sunday at Brooklyn, was arrested by Sheriff William Z. Sprague of Tolland county Monday morning and brought to Columbia in an automobile and arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. N. Clarke on the charge of murdering his wife, Augusta Roberts, aged 48, on Monday evening, June 7th, at their home in the Wellwood district of the town where the Roberts had lived for the past ten years.

Coroner R. H. Fisk of Stafford accompanied Sheriff Sprague to represent the state's attorney. Yeoman's hall was packed with spectators at 11 o'clock, the hour set for the hearing, and there was more excitement than the town has known in years, as this is the first instance within the memory of the oldest inhabitant that a citizen was arraigned on the charge of murder.

Maintains Innocence. Roberts said that he was aware of the fact that his situation was precarious one but was positive of ultimately proving his innocence. Before the trial Roberts did not seem greatly perturbed, but he showed signs of agitation and a trifle worried and noticeably nervous as each succeeding witness gave his testimony.

At 11:10 o'clock the hearing commenced, with Justice of the Peace Joseph B. Clarke on the bench. Roberts stood beside his counsel, ex-Attorney General William A. King, of this city, at 11:15, and listened to the complaint given by William H. Kneeland, grand juror, of Columbia, as read by Coroner Fisk.

Stones the Weapon. It was charged that on June 7th, 1909, William Burrows Roberts threw a stone with malicious intent and malice aforethought, striking his wife on the head back of the left ear, causing a wound from which she died within an hour's time elapsed. Roberts entered a plea of not guilty.

Leslie W. Hill's Testimony. Leslie William Hill, the 13 year old son of Otis Hill of the Wellwood district, and a neighbor of the Roberts, was the first witness called by the state. He testified that on the 7th of June at 9 o'clock in the evening he was in his room upstairs looking out of the window. Saw Roberts drive into the driveway and Mrs. Roberts was on the porch and he saw her get up and go away. "I did not see Paize today, and it is not possible that I did take him home," Roberts jumped out of his wagon and then the boy heard Mrs. Roberts cry "Don't go, don't go." The boy said he went out and saw Mrs. Roberts' body lying at the foot of the driveway near the mail box with her hands folded over her left side. Witness then went into the house and told his parents and his father went out and carried Mrs. Roberts into the house.

Otis Hill, father of the first witness, testified that he was at work in the garden. His wife went for him and found Mrs. Roberts there with her hands beside her, holding her head up. He with his wife and son carried her to the house and laid her on the bed. He felt her pulse and it was still beating. Roberts followed the party into the house and walked about through the room talking out of his mouth to revive Mrs. Roberts but could not do so. Roberts said he was the one who carried her into the house and that they could put a rope about his neck. Roberts went into another room and got a double barreled shotgun. Witness went after him and took it away from him. Roberts had been drinking but appeared to know what he was about.
