VARIOUS MATTERS

Low tides today. Growers expect that this year's Connecticut peaches will be in market by August 1st.

A fraternal organization in a nearby town had its outing in the shape of a rabbit bake.

Railroad passenger traffic has been greatly increased during the past two days by the vacation rush.

Wild carrot is growing undisturbed in fields and on roadsides, although there is a state law against it.

A general rally of the members of the society of French Canadian Artisans is to be held in Providence next month.

Two big conspicuous signs at points above and below the Gales Ferry station have recently been erected by the railroad company.

The steamer Plymouth and New Hampshire touched at New London on Sunday with big excursion parties from Providence and New Bedford.

Representatives of eastern Connecticut N. E. O. lodges in session in Norwich Saturday evening, decided to hold their field day at Wildwood park on August 21.

Former residents of Hadley, Mass., are receiving invitations to its quarter-centennial celebration of that town, which begins with church services on August 1.

Plans for the twenty-fourth national convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew which is to be held in Providence from October 13-17, are progressing favorably.

Nine carloads of excursionists from Stafford Springs and towns north came down on the Central Vermont road Saturday for the annual outing to Watch Hill and Block Island.

Referring to the Mabrey-Barnes wedding, a Redding Ridge correspondent notes that the bride-elect had been given a complimentary linen shower, a kitchen shower, and a whisk.

The roads at Watch Hill remain in fine condition, due to the oil which the improvement society began to use at the beginning of the summer. Without a constant application of oil the roads would have been worn down rough by the man machines.

Arthur C. Bennett, son of Second Representative Elmer E. Bennett of Canterbury, was taken to the Backus hospital, Saturday morning, accompanied by Dr. George R. Harris of Norwich. In the afternoon he underwent an operation for appendicitis. On Sunday his condition was considered very encouraging.

The Pleasant View Improvement society has arranged with the various cottage owners to finish their board walks. By the end of this week there will be a continuous stretch of walk from the Windermere to the postoffice, practically the entire length of the beach.

Sunday was the feast of St. James, the Apostle. According to tradition, St. James the Great was a near relative of Our Lord, and he was one of the three who witnessed some of the most striking events narrated in the Gospels. He is the patron saint of Spain.

The big aguehead on the battleship Connecticut will be returned to the state by the government, as it has been decided to take away these figureheads from the war vessels because of the undesirability of having any brilliant work to catch the rays of searchlights at night.

Connecticut Elks learn with regret that one of their number has died at Los Angeles, where the national convention was held. John E. Moffatt, at one time exalted Elk of the Meriden lodge, and captain of the fire department in the Silver City, died in Los Angeles, where he had been taken to be operated on for appendicitis.

On the estate of the late Frederick Botford, for many years state secretary of the I. O. O. F., Burton Mansfield was named as executor last week at New Haven probate court. The appraisers named are William L. Mix and the present state secretary of the Odd Fellows, William S. Hutchinson. The estate is estimated in the neighborhood of $40,000.

Mrs. Sara T. Kinney's party, including Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Crandall of New London, sailed from New York Saturday for Liverpool. They will go at once to London and there at Tilbury will take the steamer Malwa for a cruise along Holland, Norway and other countries. Later Mrs. Kinney will spend some time in a chalet in the Swiss mountains.

Not brooking any assumption on the part of eastern Connecticut, the Hartford Courant says: "There is no need of going to East Killingly to find a redoubt with over 7,000 pieces, for Hartford can boast of one with over 10,000 pieces, owned and made by Mrs. L. E. Lathrop of 1-2 Bond street, and it can be seen by anyone calling at the address. Each strip makes a diamond.

Preaching from the day's gospel, the parable of the unjust steward, at St. Patrick's church, Sunday, Rev. Joseph H. McCarthy directed attention to the final accounting which each person must render in spite of the modern tendency to say, "Don't worry!" Better the example of St. Paul, who recognized the inevitableness of this accounting, and was able to review his life and say: "I have fought the good fight. I have kept the faith."

Sheltering Arms Service. Rev. Charles H. Ricketts of the Greenville Congregational church conducted the services at the Sheltering Arms Sunday afternoon and he spoke on the subject God Our Refuge. Mrs. Reuben Potter and James Henderson sang and there was a solo by Mrs. Potter. I Hear the Voice of Jesus Say. Miss Elizabeth Crowe accompanied on the piano. There was a good sized number of visitors.

Philip Linderson Promoted. Philip Linderson of Sherman street has been promoted to the position of second hand in the pool room of the Falls mill, succeeding his brother, who has been transferred to Greenville. The advancement is well deserved and is pleasing to Mr. Linderson's many friends.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dique of Alice street are spending a week's vacation at Eastern Point.

Miss Beatrice Drake has returned to Waterbury, after a visit with her aunt, Mrs. F. H. Merrill.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Fisk and daughter Ivy are at Pleasant View, spending their vacation.

Miss Ada Thorne with her niece, Gladys and Gertrude, are visiting Miss Thorne's mother in Haaver.

New London papers state that Mr. and Mrs. George C. Strong are spending the summer in Rutland, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett B. Dawley and Miss May and Lena Dawley have returned from a visit in New York city.

Miss Annie Scott of Ware, Mass., is the guest for two weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miner of McKinley avenue.

Mrs. Anna R. Perry, who is spending the summer in Lebanon, is at her home on Huntington street, New London, for a few days, and has for her guests Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sweet of Baltimore. Mrs. Sweet is Mrs. Perry's daughter.

SEAMAN BOHN IS SLOWLY SINKING.

Dr. Lee States That He Does Not Expect Him to Live—Complications Have Developed—No Trace of Keloid.

At New London Sunday night at Memorial hospital, it was stated that the condition of Seaman Harry Bohn, who was so badly cut there in a fight Friday night, was worse, and that he had been steadily sinking. Dr. H. M. Lee stated that he does not consider that he will live, as the complications which were feared have developed and he is steadily growing weaker.

No trace has been secured of the negro Kelson. It was reported that he had been caught in New Haven and that he had been seen in Providence, but neither report was true, as far as can be learned. He seems to have made a successful escape.

The witnesses to the stabbing were sent to jail Saturday. Grace Ashton and Silas Binks, who were in Kelson's company at the time of the quarrel which resulted in the fatal cutting, both held when arraigned in the New London police court Saturday morning. They were charged with breach of the peace.

It was explained to Judge Colt that the negro and negro were important witnesses and that they were more or less under the control of the police. Judge Colt held them for trial in each case, but this amount was beyond the reach of either and both were committed to jail in default.

Dr. Lee, who operated on Bohn, said Saturday that he could not hold out any hope for the young man's recovery. Bohn was using a brace and the hemorrhage. There were complications yet to be reckoned with. There was no indication then that Bohn was recovering. Dr. Lee deferred the taking of an ante-mortem statement.

Three wounds were inflicted by Kelson on his victim. One on the left side of the nose, extends through all the tissues and stops at the end of the chin. One is in the front side of the left chest, below the collarbone, extends directly into the chest and is two and one-half inches long. It passed through the ribs and directly over the heart. The third wound passes so close to the heart that it is apparent that organ must have contracted to escape being cut. The third wound is recovering in the back and extends into the lung.

Broke Collarbone. Frank Hertz, the well known East Great Plain butcher, suffered a broken collarbone while out in Lisbon Saturday afternoon. He was using a box for a seat in his wagon, the box upset and Mr. Hertz fell headlong to the ground. Although suffering great pain, he walked to the home of a neighbor, Gus Street, who put him on board the trolley for Jewett City, where the broken bone was set by Dr. Sweet. He is recovering at his home at East Great Plain.

Delay for Sight Seer. On Saturday, after leaving Crescent beach on the first trip, the circulation pump on the steamer Sight Seer broke and after temporary repairs it again assumed its course and reached Fort Point before giving out again. It was again repaired and reached the wharf here at 2:30, where repairs were made by machinists and the afternoon trip made as far as Pleasant beach. Sunday the boat was running and carried large crowds.

James Good Found Floating in River Near People's Coal Company Wharf—Had Been in Water but Short Time.

The third drowning in this city inside of a week occurred Sunday afternoon, when James Good, a resident of Thames street, lost his life in the west branch of the Tantic river at the base of the People's Coal company.

The body was found shortly after 1 o'clock by Charles Butts, who was out in a boat with two companions. It was floating by the wharf and was found by Constable Ruff, where Medical Examiner Dr. G. R. Harris was called to view the body. The cause of death was asphyxiation.

How Mr. Good got into the river is not known, but from all the facts that the medical examiner can gather it is his opinion that it was a case of accidental drowning. For a number of years Mr. Good has suffered from attacks of vertigo and it is believed that while engaged with one on Sunday as he was on the Central Vermont track, or near the river bank, that he fell overboard and was drowned.

Sunday morning he was about his yard at No. 99 Thames street and after feeding his chickens and doing other chores left the house and was seen to go down Page's lane to the railroad track. This was not an unusual thing for him to do, as many residents of that section, including himself, used the railroad track very often in going to and from the center of the city. It was about 10:15 a. m. when he was seen to go onto the railroad. It is stated that he was seen there at 11:45 o'clock, so that the drowning took place between then and 1 o'clock.

About twenty years ago Mr. Good lost the sight of one eye and since that time he has suffered from attacks of dizziness and often fell, and it is believed that it was one of these which overcame him as he walked along the track or sat near the coal hoister. There were no marks on the body except a bruise near the right eye, which may have been caused by falling. There was a large crowd attracted to the river bank after the body had been found.

Mr. Good was born in Ireland 66 years ago, but for twenty years or more has lived in this city, having been a laborer in the Englewood brick works when a young man. He was a well known resident of the West Side. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Harris, and a sister, Mrs. Humphrey Gallivan of Montville.

FIRST UNION SERVICE AT PARK CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Eloquent Sermon Preached by Rev. Prof. B. W. Bacon of New Haven.

The first of the summer union services of the Broadway, Second and Park Congregational churches was held at Park church on Sunday morning.

The service was conducted by Rev. Prof. Benjamin W. Bacon, D. D. of Yale college, who delivered an excellent sermon of great depth of thought and wide scholarly research. There is one word in his sermon which is the heart and essence of the Christian religion. It is the foundation for both sides of this religion—the practical and the spiritual. This word is sonship—the idea of a divine sonship. The greatest light upon this subject is found in the text Matthew 12:46, "For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother and sister and mother."

St. Mark gives the full account of the occasion which called forth this teaching from Christ. From this time his disciples are in truth his kindred and they live together from now until his coming. Each relationship is asked for and given. This is the teaching of the Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother and sister and mother.
