Willimantic, Danielson and Putnam

WILLIMANTIC. Gardland Boy Taken to Putnam—Later Sent to State School. Superintendent Converse of the county home came to this city Thursday afternoon and took John Gardland, the 14 year old boy who ran away from Frank Eastman's place on Miller Hill, Windham, back to the home. Mr. Converse said that it was hardly possible that the lad had been worked too hard as claimed, as he was at the Eastman place only a single day. As told in the Putnam news, Gardland was later committed to the state reform school.

Rose Morin Sues Joseph Kirby for Breach of Promise. A breach of promise suit has been brought by Rose A. Morin, 28, of the town of Windham, against Joseph J. Kirby, a clerk for the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company in this city. Constable Lyman Maine, Jr., attached Kirby's body on the 31st day of July for want of goods and estate.

The allegations of the complaint are that on or about July 3, 1908, defendant promised to marry her, plaintiff, and remained single, but on or about Nov. 24, 1908, defendant refused to marry plaintiff. Damages of $5,000 are claimed by the plaintiff and Nelson Morin of Windham was recognized in costs for the action. Miss Morin claimed that Kirby gave her many presents, "kept company" with her steadily from 1906 to November, 1908, and wrote affectionate letters to her. One Christmas he gave her an elegant umbrella, another a handsome muff and twice a week for a period of three or four months he gave her a box of expensive candy. In love letters that she regularly received from him were such endearing terms as "My Dear Little Girl," "My Sweetheart" and "My True Love." These letters were received at frequent periods and during that time she relied upon his promise and his refusal to live up to it has caused, it is alleged, a nervous breakdown and she is trying to regain her health in rest and quiet.

MISS RUTH and Ruby Higgins of South Coventry, daughters of Senator and Mrs. W. L. Higgins, are visiting relatives in Northampton and Westhampton, having attended the sessions of the Connecticut Valley Chautauqua at Northampton in July.

John J. Ottenheimer of New Jersey, formerly of this city, is visiting relatives in town for a brief stay. He stopped off here on his way home from Boston, where his oldest son, Charles, recently underwent an operation for appendicitis from which he is recovering nicely.

A Cry for Vengeance. Massachusetts is really getting to be gory with murder. It is high time that something radical as to system were formulated. Let no guilty man escape. And who said that capital punishment was the panacea for this sort of thing?—GloUCESTER TIMES.

A Seasonable Poem. Longfellow's familiar poem, "Rain in Summer," should be read with zest on the first appropriate occasion. "How beautiful is the rain!" is a sentiment which would be re-echoed enthusiastically.—PROVIDENCE JOURNAL.

Good Orders for Elmville Mill. It is understood that the Thistle Worsted company at Elmville has received some good orders from their samples for coming season, and that the mill may be expected to do a profitable business this winter. The general prospects for the worsted mills in the town of Killingly are brighter for the coming season than at any time since the slump in business came last year.

East Killingly Old Home Day. A surprising number of persons who were familiar with East Killingly from thirty to forty years ago were at that place for the annual Old Home day Wednesday. There have been many changes in that part of the town during those years, yet the returning sons and daughters found many things to remind them of the days when they called the Hill village home. They also learned with satisfaction that that part of the town is regaining its prestige as a manufacturing center. They found mills that have been unoccupied for long periods about to be put in operation for varied manufacturing purposes and water privileges, once employed to drive the machinery of mills, being taken over by development companies that will make use of them to the advantage of the pretty hill town.

Local Notes. W. S. Brown is making repairs to his building on Center street which has been occupied for several years as a bowling alley. Companies of the Danielson fire department will be represented by delegates at the convention of the State Firemen's Association to be held in New London next week.

James H. Cutler of Washington, D. C., has bought the James Greig farm at Hampton. Several farms in that part of Windham county have been taken up by men from cities in various parts of the country in the past year or two.

Not a band concert has been given on Davis park this summer and the prospects are that they will be no more numerous this month than they have been in the past. The bands are not prepared to give free concerts and the money to pay for one or more does not seem to be forthcoming.

The price of a gondola ride in Venice has been increased from a franc to a franc and a half.

Donders's Donnybrook. Jim Brown's Robert S., and Morrill Jones' Star Ticker. A good delegation of local horsemen are planning to go to Woonsocket to see the trial in action. Donnybrook's form will be watched very closely and he will be sure to have his quota of admirers, even if he is a "three-legged horse."

FUNERAL. John W. Flippin. The funeral of John W. Flippin was held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of the parents, 23 Walnut street. Rev. S. C. Grimstead officiated. Burial was in Willimantic cemetery.

Case Settled Out of Court. The case of Charles W. Tryon and L. A. Scoville, that was returnable to the first Tuesday in September, has been settled out of court.

Mr. Tryon brought his suit July 20, claiming that he was entitled to $150 for the sale of real property. The Scovilles settled.

To Consider High School Specifications. The high school building committee meets this evening in the rooms of this selectman to pass upon the specifications of the new high school building and arrange for the advertising for bids.

Dressing up Sayles Property. The row of houses known as the Sayles property, on Main street, are being repainted, a decided improvement.

SHORTEST ON RECORD. Two Minutes for Special City Meeting—Matter of Purchasing Door Property Indefinitely Postponed.

The special city meeting in Town hall Thursday evening brought out about two score of voters and it being a nervous meeting, the shortest meeting in the history of the city, lasting but two minutes. Mayor Dunn presided, and Assistant City Clerk John H. Edgerton read the warning, which called for the voters to ratify or disapprove the action of the common council at a recent meeting when a resolution was passed recommending that the A. J. Dool lot off Main street be purchased for $2,000, to be used for general city purposes, especially the storing of apparatus, used for the street, sewer and other city departments. On motion of E. E. Lincoln that action be indefinitely postponed and then Judge E. A. Lyman moved that adjournment be taken.

Rain Revived Crops. The rainfall of Wednesday night and Thursday amounted to one and a half inch, but it worked wonders in reviving crops.

The course of concerts held each winter for several years past, under the auspices of the young people of the borough churches will be a feature of the coming winter entertainers.

The numbers in the course are expected to prove exceptionally attractive this year.

Nazaire Pepin Held in $1000 Bonds. Nazaire Pepin, the wife-beater, was held in bonds of $1000 to await trial at the superior court, after a hearing in the town court Thursday morning.

Pepin was represented by Attorney W. F. Woodward. The prisoner was arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

He entered a demurrer for his client, but it was overruled by Deputy Judge Tucker. Pepin was required to secure the amount of the bond and was taken to the jail at Brooklyn to await trial at the September term of the superior court.

Foster's Old Home Day. The annual Old Home day in the town of Foster, across the state line in Rhode Island, was held there last one week from next Thursday. As has been the custom for several years, the bands of the village will play during the day. There is expected to be a large attendance of former residents.

Hops to Vanish Brownsies. Danielson fans are looking for a victory from their team when they line up against the "Brownsies" at Dayville Saturday. At any rate the Danielson team has not been able to win a game at home since they were transferred, while away from home they have managed to win all their games.

If they can continue to turn the trick they may expect forgiveness for not winning at home. The probabilities are that the team will be able to win a game at home since they were transferred, while away from home they have managed to win all their games.

Talk of Oiling Main Street. Messrs. Pease and Woodbury are talking of oiling the streets as a means of keeping down the dust and the results that have been secured seem to mark the trial of this method of treating road surfaces as a big success. It has been suggested that Main street in Danielson could be kept oiler for less than it now costs to sprinkle it, but there is the objection that the oil clings to the shoes of pedestrians and finds its way into store windows in a way to discourage its use.

The Neomites of eastern Connecticut are anticipating the experiment of oiling the streets as a means of keeping down the dust and the results that have been secured seem to mark the trial of this method of treating road surfaces as a big success. It has been suggested that Main street in Danielson could be kept oiler for less than it now costs to sprinkle it, but there is the objection that the oil clings to the shoes of pedestrians and finds its way into store windows in a way to discourage its use.

Four Postponed Games Must Be Played. North Grosvenordale's team will come to Putnam tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon to play Putnam the last scheduled game of the season. This will not end the league season, however, as four postponed games remain to be played, and that means games for at least another month before the pennant can be given to any of the teams.

In case there is a tie for first place between any of the teams, there will be time for a short post-season series.

PARENTS IN JAIL. John Gartland, 13, Sent to State School for Boys.

John Gartland, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gartland, was committed to the state school for boys in Meriden by Deputy Judge Fuller in city court Thursday. The boy has been at the county home for children and was placed in a good home with Frank Eastman of the town of Windham, but ran away and later was taken back to the county home. He is incorrigible and the action Thursday was taken only after other means to control him failed.

The father and mother of the boy are in Brooklyn jail, where they were committed within a month for offenses against the laws of the state.

T. A. B. COMMITTEES. Receiving Substantial Encouragement in Efforts to Entertain State Convention.

A gratifying degree of support is being given the committee members of the T. A. B. society who are securing funds to meet the expenses of entertaining the delegates to the state convention to be held in this city on Tuesday evening.

At the assembly, where some of the work of convention week will be held, repairs are being made to put the interior in first class condition.

There will be a special meeting of the committee next Monday evening to decide on a date for the special city meeting which Mayor J. J. McGarry was authorized to call at the regular monthly meeting of the common council held this week.

Rain Extinguished Grass Fires. All of the numerous little brush and grass fires that have been blazing their way along the railroad tracks and a large area of fields were extinguished by the rain of Thursday. While the fires have been making in number, the damage resulting from them has been slight.
