Shannon Building up to Third Story—Change in Academy Plans—Improvements at the Haile Club—100 Men Working at Taftville.

While Norwich storekeepers are not doing the summer business in trade, building operations on a number of the large scale are in progress and are proceeding at a steady rate, and in the past week all have made progress that is noticeable.

On the job on Main street adjoining the post office, the blasting for the cellar now has brought this far back as it will go towards the house, which now stands on the brink of a sloping half of rock.

In the last week at the Academy much has been done and the basement is now complete, the building is finished up to the first floor, and a good number of the floor joists are laid. Workmen were busy Friday in putting up the steel girders at the front corners. There is a corridor to go directly across the building from side to side, which will be of concrete, and it is ready to do this concrete work.

Recently the floor joists at the plans by which two walls at the front which it had originally been intended to leave standing, were torn down, so that the building will be entirely new above the basement. The new Shannon building has grown up to the third-story in the past week.

COLCHESTER-HARTFORD TROLLEY LINE. Civil Engineer Surveying at Hilltown—Some Preliminary Work Done.

Frank Kromer, civil engineer in charge of the surveying of the proposed line between Groton, Norwich and Colchester Traction company, having completed some time ago the survey between Groton and Colchester, has been engaged to lay out the route between Colchester and Hartford, with such changes as may be required.

The company has already started some preliminary work at various points along the line, and it begins to look as if the company may start in earnest this fall, as is wished.

A CURE FOR FITS.

New Discovery Made at Lake Kenosia.

The Danbury News says: During a recent baseball game played at Lake Kenosia the peace and quiet of the afternoon was ruffled by an individual who suddenly fell to the ground and began a series of stunts that brought several spectators about him in instant. So badly was the man suffering, or at least appeared to be, that a glass of spirits was hurriedly secured and taken to him.

Children's Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

At Greenwich it has been announced that the Ely club composed of thirty young women, all former students at the Misses Ely's school, will begin in the middle of September a work for the benefit of young women students who have not been so fortunate financially as themselves. They will establish a home in New York where students may live while prosecuting their studies. To this end the Ely club has leased the house at 171 West Ninety-seventh street and is having it made ready for occupancy.

Outlining the plans of the club, Mrs. Arthur J. Slade, secretary of the club, said: "Students are coming to New York in ever increasing numbers. A large proportion of these students are wholly unacquainted in the city and have a small allowance for their expenses. The Ely club house will provide a boarding place where girls can have a cheerful room and nourishing food for the price they now pay for dreary quarters and miserable meals. It is to be understood that this home is entirely for girls and women who are studying with a view to self support, and not for any girl with an income sufficiently large to enable her to live independently. Our idea is to give for the price of 10 to 15 a week livable quarters with board, and to have a small allowance for their expenses. The work will not be wholly self supporting, but we hope the deficit will not be more than our treasury can handle."

Incidents in Society

Harold Thresher has returned from a trip in England.

Mrs. John Marsal of Hartford is the guest of Miss Marsal of Schemm terrace.

Mrs. C. J. Benjamin left town on Wednesday to make a visit in Danbury.

Miss Mary P. Huntington of Broadway is registered at the Sands house at Block Island.

Miss Ruth Reynolds of Washington street has returned from a visit in Gloucester, Mass.

Miss Margaret West and Miss Edith Pearson are guests of Miss Mary Waterman of Bozrah.

The Misses Osgood have taken a cottage at Block Island for the remainder of August.

George F. Hyde of Washington street has taken a camp on the South Bluffs at Block Island.

Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Peck have returned to their home on Schemm terrace after a month's vacation spent in Mystic.

Mrs. J. Eldred Brown of Otis street, who has been spending the week at Block Island, returned home today (Saturday).

Mr. and Mrs. Hibberd Normas of Schemm terrace have returned after three weeks' vacation spent in Niantic and vicinity.

Miss Alice Bennett, Miss Rosalie Bennett of Williams street and Miss Fellows of McKinley avenue are at Block Island for two weeks.

Miss Amy Cogswell of Lincoln avenue returned home early in the week from Peekskill, N. Y., where she has been the guest of Mrs. Edward Childs at Lake Mohogian.

The Misses Osgood and Arthur Webb of Rockwell terrace have taken a camp at the South Bluffs at Block Island, where they will spend the remainder of the season.

OBITUARY.

William H. Dyer, a native of Groton, died July 17, 1909, at the residence of L. M. Holt, Los Angeles, aged 73 years, leaving a wife at his late residence at Pleasant Beach. After leaving Groton when a young man, he established a granite yard at Troy, N. Y., and became a contractor and builder in that line of work.

The Dyer bank closed its doors for good in 1892. The failure was a bad one, bankrupting the man who had at that time his entire fortune, about $75,000, invested in the bank.

Mrs. Dyer was a thirty-second degree Mason and a Shriners; he was a corresponding member of the Baptist church for many years; he was a man of sterling integrity in every sense of the word and leaves a large circle of influential friends where he was best known, who will be pained to learn of their loss. He went to California last February for his health, to look after some business interests and to visit his wife's relatives who resided in southern California. He was ready to return again to his home on July 10, but a fatal illness came upon him only a few hours before the train on which he had engaged passage was to start.

Mrs. G. A. Chappell.

Mrs. Cordelia A. Chappell, widow of Griswold A. Chappell, died Friday morning at 6 o'clock at the residence of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Saunders in Groton. Mrs. Chappell has been an invalid for some time and her disease was not altogether unexpected. She was in her eighty-second year, having celebrated her eighty-first birthday last February. She was born in Waterford and was daughter of Ebenezer and Olive Easton. After her husband's death some 14 years ago she continued to reside in Waterford for some time, but in 1881 she removed to her home in Groton. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Saunders, and one sister, Mrs. Alonzo Chappell, both of Groton. She was a member of the First Baptist church of Groton. Mrs. Chappell was well known to all of the older generation in Waterford and was regarded as a most estimable woman. Of a most kindly disposition, she was looked up to for many years by her neighbors for advice and aid in times of sorrow. During her illness she has shown great fortitude and patience and her passing is deeply regretted by all who knew her.
