CHELSEA SAVINGS BANK BUILDING

Handsome Structure of Granite to be Placed on Universalist Church Site—Hope to Begin Work by Sept. 1st.

At a meeting of the directors of the Chelsea Savings bank on Monday, the final details in the plans of their new banking building to be erected on the Universalist church lot at the corner of Main and Cliff streets were agreed upon and the specifications will be at once submitted for bids. Some time ago the plans were accepted but there have been numerous minor details to be gone over with the architect, Cudworth & Woodworth, since then.

The location where the bank is to be built is ideal for the purpose and the plans prepared show that the architects have fully risen to the opportunity to produce a structure that shall be a distinguishing feature of the city.

The building will be of fireproof construction throughout, of reinforced concrete, and all the window frames will be of iron. The only wood in the structure will be in the floors of a few rooms.

The building will be one story, with a basement story, built entirely of granite. The main floor will be 37 feet front, 90 feet on both sides and 90 feet across the rear.

It will be placed on the lot it occupies on the main entrance and the front line will be practically the same as the front line of the main part of the building.

It will be of pure Grecian classical design, Ionic columns on the front and the sides supporting the roof, which at the front facing towards Franklin square runs up to the low part of the building.

The main street side is enriched by five Ionic columns and there are eight windows on this side, the same as on the Cliff street side. The name of the bank is above the main entrance.

The Cliff street side are four Ionic columns. Also on this side there is an entrance for the clerks, which is on the street level a short distance from the main entrance.

There are no openings in the rear wall of the building.

SENT TO STATE HOSPITAL

New London Young Man With Hallucinations About the Sun.

Antone Chontzky of 267 Bradley street, New London, was sent to the State Hospital for the insane at Brewster's Neck, Monday afternoon. Application was made of Selectman Edwin deSilva in the morning and the hearing was held at 10 o'clock before Judge Colt of the probate court.

Chontzky was taken in custody Sunday afternoon on the complaint of which he was confined to the hospital in Williams Memorial park. He was taken to police headquarters where he remained during the night Sunday.

Chontzky is about 20 years of age. For the past eight years he has been employed at the Parker Bros. Co. mill in Washington street. About four months ago he was taken ill and during that time has been confined to his home. Last week he began to show signs of insanity and was admitted to the Memorial hospital.

After being there three days he was discharged as insane. The youth has evidently some sort of hallucinations about the sun. When he is in the house where it is rather dark he is in the right senses. As soon as he goes out into the bright sunlight he becomes strangely excited. Sunday in the park he was approaching persons and asking them to tell him some sort of a question would look at the sun and make strange remarks about it.

CHASING SISTER WITH A BREAD KNIFE

Young Otto Mayers Terrified Household of Albert Marshall of Mt Pleasant Street.

Otto Mayers, a colored boy aged 16, was arrested Monday night about 10 o'clock by Policemen Morrow and DiVito on complaint of his uncle, Albert Marshall, of No. 131 Mt. Pleasant street, and his sister, Cora, who has made her home with Mr. Marshall. Young Mayers was charged with having chased his sister with a large bread knife, so that she was afraid she was going to be stabbed. The knife was not very sharp, but large enough to make an ugly wound.

The young man was captured about an hour after the alleged attempted stabbing, as he was returning to the house. He got that he had only been fooling with his sister and had not intended to stab her. The trouble happened about 9 o'clock, when there was a disagreement between Mayers and his sister, who goes by the name of Carrie Marshall, having been brought up by the Marshall family. When young Mayers grabbed the knife his uncle, Albert Marshall, grabbed with him and managed to take the knife away, but the young fellow slipped and the knife was thrown at the house. He wore a cap, a sweater, a dark pair of trousers and sneakers, and this description was once telephoned over to Sergeant Twomey at police headquarters. The sergeant at once got his men out, trying to head off the fugitive from leaving the city. The prompt work was rewarded, as the young fellow was caught as he was trying to return to the house by the back way. He was picked up for a hearing in court this morning.

Mayers has been here about two months, coming here from Philadelphia, where his mother lives.

Norwich Entertainers Make a Hit

The fourth of the series of entertainments for the benefit of the Methodist Episcopal church at Gales Ferry was given at the Yale quarters on Friday evening. Among those who assisted were Mrs. Grace T. Crowell, Mrs. Helen T. Lord, the Misses Alice and Henrietta Woodward and Fred J. Maple, all of this city. The work of Mrs. Crowell, Mrs. Lord and Mrs. Maple was very artistic throughout the evening, their numbers being ably accompanied by Miss Woodward and the piano. Miss Carrie Woodward made a decided hit with her recita-

Hazel Bowman Case Put Over.

The case of the state against Hazel Bowman, alias Hazel White, which was to have been heard in the New London police court Monday morning, was postponed until next Friday. At that time the cases of George Doyle and Samuel Howard will come up. All three of the accused were arrested on the charge of misapplication of money, in connection with the escape of Sam Kelson, Harry Bohm's assailant.

Hazel Bowman is charged with hindering and obstructing the course of justice. Her arrest resulted from the fact that she received a registered letter from Kelson, asking her to send him some money. Kelson was at that time in Bridgeport. The police believe that the negro knows where Kelson went.

Attending Organists' Convention.

Among Connecticut organists in attendance at the sessions of the National Association of Organists in Ocean Grove, N. J., is H. L. Yerrington, organist of the First Congregational church, Norwich Town. A growing list of registrations each day and papers of much interest are reported. The organ in use (said to be the largest in the world) is unique in many particulars. On a recent afternoon at the close of Mr. Macfarlane's recital, the builder, Mr. Hope-Jones, explained the mechanism somewhat in detail to those wishing to stay.

At the rear of the working space will be the big fireproof and burglar-proof vault. This is on all sides. The vault's front is to be of marble and will contain a bronze door. The vault will be on the rear on the main street side and connecting with the working space behind the counter and back of the treasurer's office. On the front of the building is the directors' room, with two windows in it looking into the street and two into the working space of the bank. Adjoining it is a committee room and also a toilet room with ceramic tile floor. The rest of the building is on all sides.

In the basement of the building at the front and reached by stairs from the lobby is a public toilet room and a room for the organist. At the rear of the building is the directors' room, with two windows in it looking into the street and two into the working space of the bank. Adjoining it is a committee room and also a toilet room with ceramic tile floor. The rest of the building is on all sides.

PLANS FOR FIREMEN

New London Fire Fighters Will Give State Visitors Fine Time—About 300 Delegates Expected Today.

The fire companies in New London, where the annual meeting of the State convention is to be held today and tomorrow, have everything arranged to entertain their visitors in regal style.

The delegates will assemble in Elks' hall in Washington street at 2 o'clock, when they will go into executive session. The session will adjourn at 4 o'clock, when they will repair to the Konomoc Engine house, where a banquet will be served. About 300 delegates will be present.

Members of the court of common council, ex-mayors and other city officials have been extended invitations. During the banquet the Standard orchestra will discourse some of its best music.

The Eleventh Coast Artillery band has been secured for the occasion and this popular band will be given Tuesday afternoon in front of the Elks' hall in Washington street from 4:30 o'clock until 6 o'clock, and again in the evening in front of the city hall from 7 o'clock until 9 o'clock.

During the evening after 7 o'clock the various fire companies will keep open house at the quarters, where refreshments will be served and a hearty welcome extended to the visiting firemen.

On Wednesday, the delegates will again assemble at the Elks' hall at 9 o'clock and in the afternoon session held until about 12 o'clock. The remainder of the day the firemen will spend according to their own inclination.

The chief of the convention, J. H. Hendricks of New Haven, president, will meet today, also assembling at the Elks' home at 12 o'clock noon, and adjourning to the Crocker house, Landlord Parker will provide for 25 persons in this dinner.

Here is the programme to be followed by the convention: Call to order by the president; convention opened with prayer by Rev. C. R. McNally; address of welcome by Mayor Armstrong; response by President J. H. Hayes; honor roll in memoriam; reports of committees; unfinished business; election of officers; selection of county vice presidents; adjournment to Wednesday morning. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the convention will be entertained by the New London department at the rooms of Konomoc house company on Union street. Wednesday morning Miscellaneous business; reports of committees; selection of place for next convention; adjournment.

RAN INTO PRATT'S AUTO.

New London Man's Machine Breaks Axle and Explodes Tire of George H. Pratt's Machine.

An automobile accident, although not at all serious, befell George H. Pratt this city in New London Monday evening. Mr. Pratt, with Mrs. Pratt and two servants was enjoying a spin in his car and was coming up Huntington street from Ocean Grove beach. Just at the head of Hill street he was about to pass the automobile of H. O. Rawhorse of New London, going in the opposite direction, when the latter's machine suddenly and unaccountably swerved from its course. Mr. Pratt tried to turn his car into Hill street, but Rawhorse's machine caught him just on the turn, breaking his axle and exploding a tire. The New London man's automobile was un-
