Narrowly Escapes Being Scalped

Miss Regina LeClair had Hair Caught in Shafting at the Ponemah Mills—Machine Stopped in Time to Save Scalp but She Pulled Her Hair Out.

Miss Regina LeClair of Front street, Tatfield, who is employed in the card room of the Ponemah mills, narrowly escaped losing her scalp in one of the machines Thursday morning while cleaning it. Miss LeClair was at work on one of the drawing machines when in some manner her hair caught in a nut on the set screw of the shaft which runs the machine. This pulled her hair into the gear of the machine and would have torn her scalp off if the machine had not stopped. Martin Waldron saw the trouble and rushed over and knocked the belt off, thus stopping the machine and preventing a serious accident. He then began to unwind the gear to extricate the girl's hair, but she was excited and jerked her head away before he could do it, tearing the hair off from one side of her head. If she had waited he might have saved the hair. As it is her head is very sore, the scalp having been wrenched severely. But for Mr. Waldron's timely assistance, she would have lost her scalp.

A case similar to this happened several years ago and before the machinery was stopped the woman pulled her hair out. It is thought that carelessness was the cause of the accident, since the shaft is far below the machine and it hardly seems as if proper caution was used when cleaning it.

MARGARETT MADE NO RECORD.

Her Whaling Voyage a Short One but Not the Shortest.

A writer in the New Bedford Standard declares Norwich schooner Margaret's whaling trip was not the shortest on record. He says that the schooner William A. Grozier, under command of Capt. George L. Dunham, sailed from New Bedford May 3, 1909, for the Hatteras ground and returned July 7 with a catch of 550 barrels of oil, which is a much larger catch than that of the Margaret and in a shorter time. The Margaret is expected here in a few days to be put into readiness for another voyage. Her tryworks are being repaired. On her recent cruise she secured 270 barrels of sperm oil which marketed and brought $5,900. It is believed that the next cruise will be off the coast of Africa. The schooner will be refitted as soon as she arrives.

MARKET GARDENING WITHIN CITY LIMITS.

John E. Beetham Shows Maxmoth Potatoes—How He Conducts His Farm.

Potatoes that weighed from a pound to a pound and a half, dug on his market garden on Asylum street and shown in a number of different places on Thursday by John E. Beetham, as he was in the city on his regular trip for the disposal of his crops, excited much complimentary notice wherever they were shown. In addition to their size, it was stated that they could claim merit both for quantity and quality, as numerous Norwich households could testify. Mr. Beetham ascribed much of his success with his potatoes to the commercial fertilizer he had used, and he has some handsome lines of produce to show for his season's labor. The last rain came in time to give a field of sweet corn that seemed dried up and good for nothing, also a bed of beets where all lay flat. In his thrifty looking fields are about 10,000 heads of cabbage, about 5,000 tomato plants, including peach, plum and the full sized tomatoes, several handsome beds of onions from which he expects from 200 to 500 bushels, and also some nice beds of carrots, while a bed where spinach, cabbage and tomatoes have done at this successful truck farm within the city limits.

It takes effect October first and is as follows: Section 1. Every company owning or operating a street railway in this state shall provide for each of its cars having an air brake, and when running outside the territorial limits of any city or borough, to be provided with a seat or stool for the use of the motorman operating the car. The motorman operating such car or the person having the motive power of the same under control, provided, that the railroad commissioners may exempt from the provisions of this act any line or parts of a line, or any cars of such a company if, after public hearing, they shall find that the presence of such seats upon such line, or cars, would be a danger or inconvenience to any person or persons traveling or being legally upon such lines or cars. Any company owning or operating any such car which shall neglect or refuse to cause the same to be provided with a seat or stool for the use of the motorman operating the car or the person having the motive power of such car under control, shall forfeit to the state $25 for each day of such neglect or refusal.

REUNION OF PUPILS.

Those Taught by Thomas Latham and Miss Allen at Uncasville.

A special session of Uncasville school will be held today to be in the form of a reunion of those who in former years were taught in the school by Thomas Latham, Miss Lucy Allen. The announcement of this reunion was rather misleading, many old pupils thinking the reunion was only for some particular class. All who were pupils in the time these teachers were in charge are invited to attend. A large attendance is anticipated. Norwich will send quite a number and in Montville, New London there are many who trace their school days to that time. There will be a regular session, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Those who cannot attend for a short period will be excused after presentation of proper reason. Those who are able to stay all day are reminded that they ought to bring a basket lunch. During the year 1908-9, Miss Allen and Miss Allen taught this school there were many more pupils than at the present day, at times as many as sixty-seven being counted in the big room.
