WILL ASK RECOUNT.
Montville People Not Satisfied—One Application for License.

At the recent election at Montville the town voted for license, winning by a slight majority. But before the licenses are granted, there will be fight against the sale of intoxicants being permitted there. Already there has been a fight to determine the validity of the vote. An application has been made by temperance people for a recount of the vote and within a short time an application will be made to Judge Ralph Wheeler of the superior court for a recount.

It is believed by those opposed to the sale of liquor that a recount will show that the town voted against license. They have retained C. Hadlai Hall to represent their interests.

Thus far one application for license has been filed, that of Tyler B. Earl of Coeagan Rock farm.

Scott and Howard Wilson, with an address in which Rev. Cannon spoke briefly but helpfully upon Present Op-

TEN DAYS' SUSPENSION
FOR CAPTAIN WILCOX.
Violated Pilot Rules in Colliding with Sailboat.

Inspectors Withey and Stewart of the local board of United States inspector of steam vessels, have suspended the suspension of Capt. John Q. Wilcox of the steamer Sight Seer for a period of ten days, having found out of the vessel guilty of a violation of pilot rules. Captain Wilcox was master and pilot of the Sight Seer when she collided with the sailboat Tittle on August 21. After an investigation of the collision, which resulted in showing that the lone occupant of the Tittle was obliged to jump overboard, the inspectors brought charges.

The charges were based on Rule 10, which provides that when a steam vessel and sailing vessel are being propelled so as to involve the risk of a collision, the steam vessel shall keep clear of the way of the sailing vessel.
Under the new United States regulations, the owners and masters of a steamer may be fined for infraction of this rule. Inspectors Withey and Stewart have reported Avery Smith, owner and Captain Wilcox, to Collector of Customs Thomas O. Town of the vessel. The master and pilot may be fined $50 and the owner $200.

A Tribute to Mr. Bishop.
W. H. Hall, superintendent of schools at West Hartford, writes The Bulletin: For thirty years I have known and loved Supt. Nathan L. Bishop, whose departure from this life brings sorrow to many hearts.

He is proof of the noblest and truest of men, exemplifying constantly in his daily life and in all his public work the virtues of genuine Christianity.
Dennis J. Fanning, president of the district, spoke of the noble character of his own abilities he was a most successful and effective worker in educational lines. The teachers in charge of the public schools which are under his care have always found great pleasure and profit in his words of wisdom and instruction spoken to them in connection with teachers' meetings which he occasionally attended. No one coming to us has been less of a welcome and more helpful than Mr. Bishop.

TOWN TAX OFFICER'S WILLS

Adjourned Annual Town Meeting Waxed Warm as it Advanced—Lawyers had a Lively Tilt and Accusations were Made—$15,000 of Notes and the Otis Library Appropriation Voted—To Take Benefit of State Help on Highways.

The usual amount of interest was manifested by the adjourned annual town meeting held on Tuesday evening in the town hall, and the interest increased as the meeting advanced until the closing hour. The changes among the lawyers, with some personal remarks, which added life to the session, were the order of the day. The tax mill was voted, it being decided that $15,000 of the $30,000 floating indebtedness should be paid this year, the appropriation being $15,000 more than the town had on hand. The Otis library, the Tatvills and Norwich town propositions were killed, as was the free textbooks resolution, while it was decided to take advantage of the state aid on highways.

Desk Changed.
The change of the desk in the town hall to the west side of the room from the east side, was appreciated by the large crowd, as all were able to hear and be heard. The seats have been rearranged. The change was made by the decision of the selection committee who considered the other location a poor one. The hall was completely rearranged many standing up during the evening.

First Selectman Albert W. Lill-bridge called the meeting to order.
The first business was the election of a moderator. J. J. Corkery was chosen on motion of Supt. J. B. Stanton. Town Clerk Charles S. Holbrook read the warning, and Moderator Corkery called for action on the report and recommendations of the selection committee.

Mr. Shields Urged Economy.
William H. Shields took the floor to address the meeting, stating that a statement from the selection committee would be read, and that the needs of the town in the coming year. He was informed that there were extraordinary expenditures for coal, gas, and other necessities. He urged economy in the coming year.

W. H. Shields stated that a ten-mill tax was to be voted and those in the city must pay 23-1/2 mills. The tax is about seven cents per dollar and the burden comes on those owning buildings, real estate and manufacturing. He urged economy in the Good Clothes!

Men dress much better today than they did a few years ago — and as dressing well consists in wearing clothes suited to the individuality of the wearer, a man should always be particular about his clothes.

We show chosen garments, fresh from the workrooms of Hart, Schaffner & Marx and Leopold, Messer & Co. They are made especially for us, and we insist on the tailoring being perfection.
