MAN WITH FIVE WIVES HAS VOLUNTOWN CORRESPONDENT. Wife No. 5 Becomes Suspicious When She Finds Affectionate Letters from Marie P. Maines.

The New York Herald Sunday had a despatch from Yonkers, N. Y., stating that John Tremper, 42 years old, admitted in court Saturday that he had married five women. One of these, who was in court, said that letters she had found showed that Tremper contemplated making a sixth woman his bride.

Tremper was arrested in Central avenue last Thursday night by Police-man John McCormick as a suspicious person. When arrested Friday before City Judge Hall he said he was a machinist. He was a sea captain, he said, but had lost his ship. He said he had no home at present, but had been living in Newburgh. Tremper was remanded for a further hearing and the police telephoned to the chief of police of Newburgh, making inquiries about the man. They learned that he had a wife and grown children living in Newburgh.

When Tremper was brought before Judge Beall there happened to be in the court room a woman who was looking for her husband, who had left her some weeks ago. She had told the police that she was Mrs. John S. Kerster of Norwich, N. Y.

She said that after her husband disappeared she found letters addressed to him that were of a very affectionate nature. They came from Voluntown, Conn., and were signed "Marie P. Maines." Mrs. Kerster said that she had received one letter from her husband and as it had been mailed at Yonkers she had come here to look for him.

When Tremper was arraigned Saturday Mrs. Kerster started up in surprise and exclaimed: "Why, that's my husband." He admitted that the woman was his wife. Then, under an examination, the man admitted that he had married five women. His first wife, he said, was Mrs. A. Wilson of Newburgh, whom he married 25 years ago, and who is still living.

Wife No. 2 was a Mrs. Lyman of Utica. Wife No. 3 was Susie A. Myers, who he married in 1900, at Westminster, Pa. Wife No. 4 was Louise Culbert of Wilkesbarre, who became his bride in 1901. His last marriage, he said, was when he married Carrie Allen of Norwich, last June, under the name of Kerster.

Tremper was again remanded. The police will try to find out how many of the man's wives are living. They will also try to learn whether or not he was engaged to Miss Maines.

About 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon Chief Murphy sent out Policemen Heald, Malone, Irish and Mathews to raid the restaurant in Bath street kept by Peter Argillo, aged 28, and James Jernigan, aged 42. A search of the place was made and two quart bottles of liquor were seized and the proprietors placed in arrest. There were several men in the place at the time, but inasmuch as it was a restaurant the men were not arrested.

Changed His Religion. Patrick James Walsh, who lives in Westerfield, was divorced from Maria Walsh of Norwich at Hartford, Friday, when he was in the city in 1880. He was Roman Catholic, and so was his wife. They were married in Norwich on September 19, 1880, by Rev. John A. Crowdon. As a matter of conscience, Walsh said he had changed his religion, and he is now a member of the "People's church" in New Britain. Walsh said that his wife, whose name was Gorman, deserted him on August 16, 1901, because of his determination to change his religious faith. They had had trouble before she left him, he said, because he had told her he was going to leave the Catholic church.

Constipation and Appendicitis. The Latter Usually Caused By The Former, Which, In Turn, Has Its Origin In Intestinal Indigestion. Chronic constipation is a disease which is about as prevalent as dyspepsia and indigestion. Nearly every one suffers from it occasionally, but there are millions of people who endure it habitually, and who are accustomed to resort to the use of laxatives and cathartics daily.

Many people seemed to have developed a perfect mania for taking pills, and instead of trying to ascertain the latent cause of the disease, and removing it by appropriate treatment, they are content to continue the reckless use of laxatives, aperients, drastic cathartics and violent purgatives, until finally inflammation of the bowels occurs, which reaches the appendix, and the result is appendicitis.

In investigating and tracing the causative factors of constipation and its frequent sequel, appendicitis, it has been noted by physicians that the majority of cases were preceded and accompanied by a long-standing gastrointestinal indigestion.

The idea that appendicitis is brought on by foreign bodies, such as seeds, etc., becoming lodged in the appendix, is an exploded theory. It is now definitely known that constipation is the most prolific cause of this dread disease, while the constipation itself is previously induced by intestinal indigestion or amylocystic dyspepsia—the inability to digest starches—so the relation between cause and effect is readily seen and appreciated.

The absurdity of attempting to cure constipation by the use of physic should be apparent to every one. Laxative drugs and cathartics, which will never cure a disease of this sort, and those who make frequent or regular use of them will, sooner or later, set up an inflammatory condition of the intestinal system.

A person with first-class digestion will never be annoyed with chronic constipation and when this trouble does exist, instead of slugging the system with pills, liquid laxatives, and other powerful cathartics, which will cure the gastro-intestinal indigestion, and you will find that the constipation no longer bothers you, and with its removal the risk of developing appendicitis will be reduced to the minimum.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS have been the means of curing numerous cases of constipation, by first curing the intestinal indigestion. They digest every kind of food, a single grain being capable of digesting 2,000 grains of alimentum, and in addition to peptin and other powerful digestives, they also contain a substance which converts starch into sugar, and readily cures amylocystic dyspepsia and intestinal indigestion.

If you are suffering from dyspepsia, constipation, and, in fact, indigestion of any kind, don't run the risk of getting appendicitis, but strike at the root of the trouble—its original cause—by using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will quickly rid you of all functional disorders of the alimentary tract.

Secure a box of this digestive remedy from your druggist for 50c and send four names and addresses to F. C. Stuart Co., 150 State Bldg., Marshall, Mich., for a free sample package.
