Bulkeley Hopes To Beat Academy

But Dope Points the Other Way—Crucial Game This Week—Yale Announces Lineup—Harvard's Captain Will Play—Other Sports.

While the attention of the college football world will be riveted on the Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge, Saturday, the Academy campus furnishes a game the same afternoon just as monumental as the one at the other point. This is one of the annual struggles between the Academy and Bulkeley high school of New London, and the next to the last game of the Academy schedule, as it has only the Yale Consolidated team left to play on Thanksgiving afternoon.

Particular interest to the game attaches this year because Bulkeley has hopes. But when it comes to football the Academy hopes are about all Bulkeley has ever had. In the years that they have played, a Bulkeley football victory is not within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Bulkeley has turned out baseball teams that have administered defeat to the red and white, but the Norwich students have always had something on the New Londoners in the gridiron sport. This season Bulkeley derives credit from its game played earlier in the season when the score was 12 to 12 at New London, and a big crowd of supporters gathered on Saturday to see Bulkeley snatch the long hoped for victory. Well, they'll see something, without doubt, but not what they're looking for. Last year it was almost the same way. Bulkeley suffered a 5 to 2 defeat from the Academy in the early game of the season, but in the final match the Academy showed their true superiority and walloped the Whalers 12 to 0.

With Windham high school eleven serving as a trial horse for the two rival elevens, it is hard to say where Bulkeley can do very much that is hopeful. The Academy has beaten Windham high without much difficulty, 12 to 0. The game was a close one, but Bulkeley could do against Windham last Saturday was 18 to 0, and Windham's eleven was weakened by the absence of several of its best players and strongest defensive men, as well as another player who was one of their top liners. Another line of dope is that Bulkeley has not been playing well since the two rivals against Mystic. Bulkeley has twice lowered its colors to Mystic this season, but the Academy defeated Mystic here 12 to 5, but lost in Mystic 15 to 6, when they were greatly outweighted. In both games the Academy showed scoring power against strong opposition, a point which Bulkeley has not exhibited so far, so that all the dope seems to point to another vanished hope on Bulkeley's part.
