THE PEOPLE'S SINGING CLASS. Now to Become the Nucleus of a Big Formed Each Year.

The plans which the People's Singing class committee made in beginning this work last year are far from complete.

The singing class of last year was the result and the success of the work as shown in the concert at the end of the season.

INTERSTATE CONTEST. Planned by General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Members of Connecticut women's clubs are considerably interested in the plan for an interstate contest.

First—This contest is to be an interstate literary contest, in which only members of federated women's clubs are eligible to compete.

Second—All papers submitted must be original. Third—Papers must be signed only with the name of state in which the author holds club membership.

Fourth—Every federated club shall be urged through its literature committee or its reciprocity committee to submit its best paper to the chairman of that committee.

Fifth—From papers submitted two may be selected by this committee and forwarded to the chairman of the literature committee of the general federation.

Sixth—This committee to select from all papers submitted by the state committees the twelve papers which it thinks meritorious and in turn submit them to a committee of three.

Seventh—This committee to decide upon best and second best papers. The decision of this committee to be final.

Eighth—Decision to be made not later than April, and announced to chairman of state committee.

Ninth—These two "honorable mention" papers, together with all other papers submitted by the various state committees, to become the property of our general bureau of information.

Tenth—The understanding that the subject and name of author of every paper be published in our general federation organ, and the organ of each state which entered the interstate literary contest.

Eleventh—The general federation organ and the organ of each state entering this interstate literary contest can claim for publication all papers submitted in competition.

Twelfth—The general federation organ and the organ of each state entering this interstate literary contest can claim for publication all papers submitted in competition.
