The New Chinese Army.

The new Chinese army consists of a provincial corps for the northern region—the section lying near Mukden, in Manchuria. It is estimated that there are 70,000 in this new army, comprising 70 battalions. The soldiers wear khaki uniforms, and at a distance they would be taken for soldiers from Europe or America. Their queues are hidden under the caps. It is proposed to make the brown uniforms universal, but some regiments have uniforms almost black, although there are disappearing. The troops are strong, muscular and well built, and are being taught by picked men from the different armies of Europe. The new northern army is but the beginning. There is not yet a southern army worthy of the name, and practically no reserve.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CAN YOU AFFORD IT?

To neglect a cold, bronchitis, lung trouble or consumption is dangerous. We all know how prone people are to deny they have Consumption. It is a flattering disease and the sufferer is filled with bright hopes of improvement. Call Consumption by its own dread name—and then—take Eckman's Alternative, because it is effective in Tuberculosis. No one need doubt about it—there is plenty of evidence from live witnesses. Investigate the following:

Amenia, N. Y. July 9, 1909. Gentlemen: Prior to Feb., 1908, I was located in Rochester, N. Y., suffering with LaGrippe, which developed into Tuberculosis. My physician gave me one month to live. I was having terrible night sweats and my weight was dropping rapidly, having gone from 155 to 135 pounds. I coughed and raised continually and became so weak that walking a few feet exhausted me. On my return home my regular physician gave me little encouragement. My father, who is a clergyman, heard of Eckman's Alternative and induced me to take it. The night sweats and chills disappeared, my cough became easier and gradually diminished and in a few days I developed an appetite. The first in months. I am now in perfect health, back to 155 pounds. I feel certain that I owe my life to Eckman's Alternative.

(Signed) E. C. WILES.

QUEER BITS OF SCIENCE.

At the London hospital a compressed air chamber has been constructed which is just large enough to accommodate comfortably a man lying at full length; it has a stout plate glass window; the scanty light from which is supplemented by electric lights within. The chamber is fitted up with apparatus for pumping in air and measuring the air pressure inside, as well as the amount of oxygen circulating with the outside. The subject of proposed experiment takes his place in the chamber with a book or paper to amuse him; the entrance is shut by a tightly fitting door, which is firmly screwed up so as to be airtight, and air is slowly pumped in from without. Observations are then made as to the effect of compressed air at different pressures of the pulse, respiration, circulation and so forth of different persons, and in this way knowledge of the conditions under which caisson workers do their work and of the "compressed air sickness," which attacks them sometimes, is being extended.

Professor Soddy of the university of Glasgow recently described an experiment in which he observed the production of radium from uranium. Starting with three lots of pure uranium nitrate he studied the growth of radium during two and a half to three and a half years, and found that the element radium produced from uranium in quantities proportional to the square of the time. The experiments, he believes, make it probable that, in addition to ionium, the generally accepted intermediate body between uranium and radium, there is another radio-active substance, half of which would break down in two years. Professor Soddy, however, admits that greater refinements must be introduced into the method before the existence of this substance can be regarded as definitely proved. It has also been possible to determine the time necessary for a given sample of ionium to decay. Professor Soddy estimates at 10,000 years, with a margin of uncertainty not greater than 20 per cent.

Persons employed in India rubber factories sometimes inhale oleophilic dusts, which are known to be the cause of being murdered or of falling over precipices. Opium stimulates imagination; alcohol in excess excites dread and suspicion; hashish, from which the assassins are drawn, produces homicidal mania. The drugs have a distinct effect upon the moral sense. Sometimes, as from alcohol, a coarse and stupid brutality is stimulated; or, as from morphia, the enemy and mouse terror; or, as from cocaine, which the manner remains gentle, the victim develops thieving and lying habits.

The Prince Obeyed.

"What's the good of being a royalist?" asks a correspondent from Innsbruck in a Vienna paper, "if a waitress can order you out of the house?" This happened to Albert, crown prince of Belgium, a few days ago. On his automobile trip through the streets a breakdown at a point where no mechanical help could be obtained. He walked in the driving rain several miles to Trient, and, on reaching the place, went to the hotel and entered the dining room, where he was hungry as well as thoroughly drenched. The waitress, not knowing him, ordered the guest out of the room, with the idea that only such men could dine there. He was so hungry that he ate anything that he could get. The prince walked away and took refuge in the railway dining room, where no one objected to the style of his dress.

Light in Springfield.

The "Welcome to Springfield" sign, which was to flash out an electric glad hand to people who approached our up-river neighbor at night, and which was ordered by the city government, has not yet been erected. The sign hasn't been altogether abandoned it has been postponed. The municipal authorities have decided that it would be better to provide more lights for Main street.—Hartford Times.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS.

DANIELSON

Golden Anniversary of Attawaugan. M. E. Church—Mrs. Ira Thomas Called East from Los Angeles—Captain Arrington Receives Discharge.

The attention of the members of the district was attracted to the golden anniversary of the meeting of its first Sunday school class and really the beginning of a Methodist community in that part of the town of Killingly. The observance commenced on Sunday with services of a special nature; on Monday evening the real reunion and love feast of return, pastors and members with the present pastor and members was held. At 7 o'clock a banquet was served in the church, with a large number present, among them the Rev. J. H. Newland, Rev. J. H. Newland of Norwich, and other clergymen, some of whom formerly ministered to the people of Attawaugan.

PUTNAM

No Game with Holy Cross Five—Both Parties to Hold Causes on the Same Evening—Plans for Elks' Memorial.

F. W. Seward of the republican city committee, tendering his resignation, Attorney C. L. Torrey will go to Willimantic today to attend a session of the superior court. City Engineer F. Walden-Wright has returned from a visit at his home in New Haven. G. C. Sprague of Nashua, N. H., was in Putnam Monday.

Basketball Discontinued at Holy Cross. Manager Frank Codier of the Putnam basketball team has received notice that the game has been discontinued at Holy Cross college and that no games can be had with teams from that institution. Manager Codier, however, will have the North Grosvenordale team here on Thursday evening of this week and is arranging for a game with Taftville.

Mentioned for Alderman at Large. John A. Dady and G. Allen Hawkins are the only two men mentioned as likely to receive the republican nomination for alderman at large. Mr. Hawkins is a member of the present city council, while Mr. Dady has served as a member of that body.

Spoke at Attawaugan. Rev. E. W. Belcher, pastor of the Methodist church, was one of the speakers at the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Methodist church at Attawaugan on Monday evening.

Evangelistic Meetings. The revival services at the Baptist church are attracting large congregations, including members of other churches. Evangelist Newton has already made a marked impression.

New Theater in Lobby Building. The Park theater in the new Lobby building on Canal and Pomfret streets gives Putnam a new place for amusement enterprises, that will be appreciated. The new theater, entrance from Canal street, is located on the second floor of the building and is prettily fitted. It has a seating capacity just over 300.

Nominations to Be Made at Republican Caucus. Notices for the republican city caucus were issued Monday. The caucus is to be held Friday evening. The business to be transacted includes the nomination of a candidate for mayor, city auditor, collector, city treasurer, registrar and alderman at large.

All Cases Nolle. In the city court Monday morning several cases that had been pending against liquor dealers of Putnam for several weeks were disposed of by being nolle. The cases in each instance grew out of the alleged sale of intoxicating beverages to a minor customer. Circumstances were such as to result in the cases being disposed of as indicated.

Have Contributed to Leclaire Memorial. French-Canadians of Putnam, Mechanicville and the Grosvenordales have made contributions to the Leclaire memorial fund which is being created for the erection of a monument to Dr. Charles J. Leclaire in St. James' cemetery in Danielson.

Storm Blows Down Telephone Wires. Linemen are completing the work of restoring a mile and one-half of poles and wires of the telephone system between Providence and this section of eastern Connecticut, blown down by the storm of Saturday evening. The break was the worst that has affected the telephone service in this section since the ice storm of last February.

SMITH AND LARUE May Be the Choice at Coming Democratic Caucus.

At the same hour that the republican assembly in caucus to name their candidates for the places to be filled at the annual city election the democrats will be holding their caucus in another location on Friday evening. The fight at the election will center on the choice of a mayor and alderman at large, as all the candidates for aldermen's berths are as good as elected, as there is no opposition to any one of them. Who the democrats will name as their candidates is uncertain, but in all probability ex-Mayor L. E. Smith and Alderman Omer Laurie, M. D., will be the men.

Elks' Memorial Sunday. The members of the Putnam lodge of Elks are to hold their annual memorial session in their new quarters in the Elks' home next Sunday. The services this year will not be public, as they have been in some years past, and will be attended mostly by the members.

Notes. John Murphy of Boston, railroad fireman, formerly of this city, has returned here to work in the local yards. There will be many Putnam hunters in the woods today (Tuesday) to take advantage of the last day of the open season on game birds. New Haven, formerly of Putnam, is to go to Plainville, where he will be employed in a drug store.

Walter Grosvenor returned to Boston Monday after spending several days with his sisters, Misses Josephine and Belle Grosvenor, in Fremont street. Mrs. Grosvenor and child will spend this week as the guests of the Misses Grosvenor.

Rivers Coated with Ice. The local rivers were covered with a thin coating of ice for the first time this season on Sunday morning. The rapid rise in temperature during the day, however, melted the ice quickly and visions of the beginning of an ice crop disappeared. The rivers have made a slight gain as the result of the recent rains, but they are still far below their normal level for this time of year. Just below the dam at the power house of the Connecticut company on the Quinebaug river it is possible to cross the river bed dryshod.

Express Companies' Profits. Shippers are protesting against the high rates charged by the express companies. Mgmtine the profits of these companies are piling up so rapidly that the surplus money has to be distributed in chunks to get it into the hands of these companies' stockholders.

It was not long ago that the Adams Express company distributed to its stockholders sums amounting to 200 per cent. on the capital stock. Now the Wells, Fargo & Co. is making a distribution in cash and stock amounting to 300 per cent. of the stock already in the stockholders' hands. These distributions are in addition to the regular large dividend distributions.

For a long time it has been contended by advocates of lower rates for express service that the profits of the companies were excessive. The proof appears to be clear. It remains to be seen how soon the agencies of government—both national and state—will do their duty by the people in securing by proper regulation under whose laws the lower rates to which shippers are entitled.

Unfaithful lawmakers have declined in the past to give the desired relief to shippers. It is almost impossible to think that public opinion will permit congress and the state legislatures much longer to leave the stockholders of express companies exposed to unreasonable charges for service. — Chicago News.

Unanimously. The undertakers' convention was in session and the secretary was reading the report of the man who speaks on resolutions. He read as follows: "Resolved, that the undertakers' union use its utmost endeavor to extend the season for hunting deer to cover a period of twelve months each calendar year."

"Resolved, that laws prohibiting joy riding are a menace to personal liberty and should be discouraged; "Resolved, that this organization be placed on record as favoring the playing of football under the present system of rules; "Resolved, that we as an organization appreciate and welcome the hearty co-operation of the man who socks the post, and the man who didn't know it was loaded, and the man who searches for a gas-leak-with-a-lighted-match."

Needless to say, the resolutions were adopted.—Milwaukee Journal.

Gilder's Service as Citizen. As a writer and an editor, by his own performances and by his generous and constant encouragement of other authors, Richard Watson Gilder deserved well of the world of letters. And he was much more than a poet. He stood in no charmed isolation, a mere dreamer and a seeker of beauty, aloof from the business and untouched by the interests of the masses of men. He was a patriot and a servant of the community at his active life; just as much as when he shouldered a gun in 1863. What he brought about as president of the tenement-house commission is in itself a sufficient title to lasting public gratitude, and in many other ways he labored with a certain modest efficiency characteristic of him for the good of the city. He was a democrat of a type not now too common, a close friend of Grover Cleveland, and one of the last of his various services has been his portrait of that rugged and powerful character. —New York Sun.

Industrious. "You lazy man!" said the irate housewife, shaking her broom, "what do you mean by stretching out under that tree for two hours? You told me if I gave you two or three of my husband's best cigars you would do some work." "Well, mum, can't yer see I am working 'wid might and main?" drawled Sandy Pike, as he blew a series of blue rings over his head.

"Working? What are you doing?" "Why, mum, I'm killing de caterpillars in dis tree. I'll get me several more of dem good cigars I'll kill all de caterpillars in de orchard." —Chicago News.
