BROADWAY THEATER. Brewster's Millions. One of the most interesting attractions of the season will be "Brewster's Millions," which will be seen here at the Broadway theater on Thursday, December 2. The play is a dramatic version by Winchell Smith and Byron Ongley of George Barr McCutcheon's famous and successful novel. Frederick Thompson's original company, headed by Robert Ober in the stellar character, and the little Miss Helen and Beryl Pullman, who will be seen in the role of Claudia in Charles Emerson Cook's production of "The Prince Chap," at the Broadway theater on Friday, December 3. Having been members of the original production they are thoroughly at home in their respective roles.

Manager Charles Emerson Cook, who for many years has been general representative for David Belasco, is presenting this piece true to his high Belasco standards.

BREED THEATER. Miss Annette Kellerman, Greatest Living Diver and Swimmer. What is conceded to be the greatest novelty introduced at the Breed theater this season is now on, it being the series of "Pathe pictures" pictures posed for by Miss Annette Kellerman, the little Australian lady, who receives such a fabulous salary for her services as the greatest exponent of high art in aquatic motion pictures. She is first shown in her series of physical culture exercises, by which she preserves her perfection of form, later appearing upon the lawn of a country residence playing at that fascinating but deadly game, red, diabolo, at which she is the greatest living expert, following this portion of the picture with the beautiful water scenes, depicting Venus at the bath, the great "soubriote" and Briton and Boer is attracting crowds daily, the gigantic struggles between the British and Boers being told in a graphic manner by the unerring motion picture machine.

The Auditorium. So many of the Pathe picture films are shown at the Auditorium and are enjoyed by so many Norwich theatergoers that a little information concerning the great producers of the moving picture world will not be unwelcome to the thousands of amusement lovers who derive so much pleasure from the results of their artistic efforts.

The Pathe Freres (Pathe Brothers) occupy ten acres of ground, operate four enormous factories and have a staff of over 3,000 employees. The plants are located in Paris, Joinville-le-Point, Montrouge-sous-Bois, and Vincennes, where they have dozens of photographic studios, two complete theaters and thousands of dollars' worth of costumes and scenic equipment. At the present time they take over 4,000,000 pictures a day, which means about 14,819 miles of negative film a year.

Pathe Freres have offices in all the leading cities of the world and are represented by picture outfits in every country of the globe. They lead the producers in every variety of film production, and are the only ones who have solved the colored picture problem.

The high standard maintained in the Auditorium is a matter of comment among the moving picture theatergoers and the effort of the management to put on only an entertainment which is elevating as well as amusing is highly commendable and deserves the encouragement of our amusement-loving people.

The Norwalk Boy. Don't miss one of his sessions. Don't smoke tobacco. Don't drink liquor. Don't chew tobacco. Keep your hands clean. Keep your character clean.

This is the advice that "Noodles" Fagan, the famous newboy, gave the high school boys. Those few epigrams mean a whole lot to a boy. If he follows that advice he won't go wrong. "Noodles" says the right time to make a man is when he is a boy, and that is right. When a boy enters an American school, whether he is rich or poor, he has an equal chance to secure an education. If he doesn't take advantage of the excellent school teacher, that's his fault.

Abraham Lincoln was born as lowly as the son of God, yet he became the president of the United States; Thomas Edison got his start selling newspapers; Andrew Carnegie started as a messenger boy. Many hundreds of poor boys of years ago are rich and successful men today, because they hustled.

"Noodles" told the boys that they should be thankful that they are lucky enough to be there, and has an opportunity to get good education, so as to be mentally equipped to hold any position. He says many a boy is working in a coal mine and factory whose talent is buried because he does not get the chance to go to school. That is the reason "Noodles" Fagan, in conjunction with his theatrical work, spends his spare moments doing something for the future generation.

"Noodles" is a newboy, his college career was in the streets of New York, yet, boys of Norwich, he has given us a lesson that we will do well to profit by.—Norwalk Hour.

Still Fighting a Central Bank. Senator Aldrich, back home from his trip to the west, is constrained to remark that "Andrew Jackson was a great man, but he is dead." His soul goes marching on in Missouri, just the same, and in some other places.—Topeka Capital.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DESPATCHES. AGE AND YOUTH.

Youth takes its joys from hopes, dreams Of future prizes to be won, Of voyages on unknown streams In realms beyond the rising sun.

But Age, reflective Age, delights In the twilight's dying rays, In turning to the joyous signs Of forgotten Yesterdays.

I know not which more joy imparts, Which hath the sweeter taste, the one That tells of Hope in youthful hearts, Or tender memories of age.—John Kendrick Bangs, in Success Magazine.

THE INNERMOST ROOM. The singer sang the world a song, And soon in every tender heart Its melody, so sweet and strong, Became a dear and lasting part. But no one cared, and no one cared, That from the supprement grief, and His breaking heart had learned the note That trembled into glorious song.

A woman who from every cup Had drank life's glad and bitter streams, Sat down and wrote a wondrous tale, Sat down and wrote a wondrous tale, But no one knew, and no one knew, But no one knew, and no one knew, From what tumultuous seas of thought the soul in lonely voyages Its parable of life had brought.

The teacher with a burning heart, With tongue as swift and hot as flame, Led with a wise and tender heart The world into its highest aim. But no one asked, and no one knew, Through what fierce conflict, day by day, He won the victory which cleared For weaker hearts the higher way.

For each soul has one inner room Where, all alone, it seeks the grace To struggle with the sharpest foe, Its hardest destiny to face. To lift the duty that it fears, To trust, through thought, through every doom, And not the nearest, dearest heart, Goes with it to that inner room.

'Tis there that souls learn how to sing; 'Tis there the truest knights are made; There, with the sharp edge of her sword, Great sorrow gives the accolade. From whence they come with subtle strength, The weary and the sad to lift; But who remembers that sad room, Its strife and doubt, its grief and gloom, From which they bring the precious gift.

Views and Varieties. Clever Sayings. Knicker—Why do you want an alibi? Hooper—Because it is impossible to crawl under it when it stops.—Harper's Bazar.

"I see," said Staylate to his wife, "that the nights are six months long where the Eskimos live." "Yes, and I'll bet that if you lived up there you'd find some excuse for not getting home until morning."—Detroit Free Press.

"Do you know, Mary, that we are spending every cent I earn?" "Well, I don't see why you should complain. All the other people in our set are spending a good deal more than they are." "What's the use being so generous?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Mrs. Crawford—Did you manage to coax your doctor to recommend a trip to that mountain resort you wished to visit? Mrs. Crabsfoot—Yes; but I can't go, for I couldn't get him to add that a few more dresses would do me a world of good.—Puck.

"My dear," said Mr. Timmid to his fiancée, Miss Strong, "I think I ought to tell you that while my disposition is good enough at times, it's rather snippy; that's the worst of it." "Ah!" she remarked, significantly, "It'll make the best of it."—Catholic Standard and Times.

"I am afraid to go with you. Do you understand managing a boat?" "No," replied the youth; "but I notice that the fellows who know all about it are the ones who get drowned." "Taking this hopeful view, the girl relented, and experienced nothing more tragic than a suburban noose.—Exchange.

Woggs—Young Smith has failed in business again. I'm sorry for the boy, but I don't see how he can expect to succeed unless he gets down to business. Woggs—He advertised "Our product is thoroughly tested before it leaves the factory," which is a very hard thing to live up to when you are manufacturing dynamite.—Puck.

A professor of the class in English history was telling his young men of the impressive age about the Hittites, an abethan era, when suddenly turning to one of the young men who seemed to be in a dream, with a faraway gaze, he said: "And how old was Elizabeth, Mrs. Chae?" "Eighteen last birthday," was the instant reply.—Tit-Bits.

"So you don't want to be the manager of my new hotel?" "No," answered the head waiter. "I'd rather go on accepting gratuities in my present menial position." "But you won't have any dignity or authority." "True, but the chances are that I will eventually have a mortgage on the place."—Washington Star.

Under Japan's 1911 tariff revision the list of dutiable articles will number over 100. Few materials will be taxed lightly and luxuries heavily. The tariff will be neither "free trade" nor "high protection."

Louise Bertoni, a leader in artistic circles in Chicago, has conceived the idea of using the "three wise monkeys of Japan" as a candlestick, match-holder or incense burner. She believes this will make the monkeys as popular as Billiken.

It becomes unlawful in Canada for a salesman or agent to allow secret commissions, rebates or considerations of any kind for the purpose of merchandise, under a penalty upon conviction, of two years' imprisonment or the imposition of a fine not to exceed $2,500, or both.

Occasionally the English railway section labourer cooks a rabbit without the aid of a fire. All he does is to cover it with a thick crust of clay and immerse it in quicklime. In about 25 minutes he takes it out, cracks the clay (which has baked hard) and inside is his meal done to a turn.

In Berlin the Walters' association is considering the plan of making this obligatory and according to a fixed table. In the cheaper places they propose that the customer shall pay the waiter 12 per cent. of the amount of his bill and in the large establishments the attentive "kellner" will be satisfied with 8 per cent.

A London firm has purchased the Puerto Cabello for $25,000 the building and machinery formerly used by the brewery. The building is a present large new machinery installed. It will be used as a packing house. The company expects to begin by killing 2,000 head of beef cattle a month for export to England, also exporting hides, heads and bones.
