"DRINK PLENTY OF COFFEE, if there is sickness around," writes Dr. James Abernethy, in the British Medical Journal. "Coffee is a good preventative of typhoid fever and diphtheria. This has been thoroughly demonstrated. Diphtheria and typhoid germs have been thrown into coffee, and the aromatic drink has invariably killed the germs within an hour. Hence amid contagious conditions, do not neglect among other precautions to drink two cups of coffee every morning for breakfast."

FIRE AT DAWLEY'S SAWMILL

Drying House with Piles of Sawed Lumber Containing About 100,000 feet Destroyed—Started in Erying Shed—Loss will be About $5,000 Partially Covered by Insurance—Hose from Local Department and State Hospital Pump Used.

A bad fire broke out in the drying shed of the sawmill of H. F. & A. J. Dawley at Fort Point about five o'clock Tuesday afternoon, which completely destroyed the north half of the plant, burning about 100,000 feet of finished cypress and North Carolina pine boards, while the north side of the planing mill was badly scorched. Assistance was asked for from the Norwich state hospital and the Norwich fire department and but for this assistance the loss would probably have been much greater. The entire plant destroyed. H. F. Dawley considered the loss would be about $4,000 and $5,000, which is partially covered by insurance.
 In the drying shed, which is a one-story building, was a quantity of boards being dried out, steam being used for this and it was there the fire started. Just how it started is not known, but Mr. Dawley thought some pieces of wood might have become overheated by being against a pipe. He had left the mill but a few minutes before the fire was discovered and had been at his home about five minutes when a telephone message was received to the effect that there was an fire. The help had gotten through work, and as Arthur Stannard was going up the hill east of the mill on his way home he looked back and saw the fire coming out of the vent. When Arthur Labrea, opened the door of the drying shed he found it a mass of flames and from that time there was a lively fight by the bucket brigade to keep it away from the mill. It was soon a roaring furnace and with the small hose in the mill and the use of buckets good work was done until assistance arrived. Fortunately, the wind was up the river, which blew the flames and sparks away from the mill.
 Help was asked of the Norwich state hospital and the use of the large pump in the power house and 500 feet of hose was given while Chief Stanton when notified sent 1,600 feet of hose. This hose, with the chief and six men, went down in a large auto truck and touring car, making the distance in half an hour. The reflection of the fire, seen plainly in the city, caused a steady stream of autos down the Laurel Hill road during the first half-hour. The first load of hose was sent to the power house and laid from that point to the fire, while the second load went to the mill and laid back. There was sufficient hose to get two streams upon the fire at the pump at the power house, which has a capacity of 1,000 gallons a minute, did fine service and through the remainder of the night the fire was kept under control. Chief Stanton left Henry Davis there to look after the department's interests through the night, and the other men returned at 7.30. Help from the mill directed the work thereafter. Lumber being the north wharf was thrown overboard to save it and the wharf. Word was sent to the local department at 5.35, and their response was quick.

 The blaze was subdued before ten o'clock, but it was necessary to put water on the mill all night and it will be continued today, as the fire is smoldering in the pile of boards and the sawdust heaps. A chum for carrying the sawdust, made at the drying shed to the mill, but that was soon knocked down. The north side of the mill was kept wet inside and out to keep it from catching fire.
 The New Haven road trains were not blocked, as the hose was laid under the track, although they slowed up as they passed the mill. Many were attracted by the fire and went there by auto, team and trolley. The mill in its present capacity has been run for the past 16 years, although it was built in 1872. The mill has been there since 1887, in which year they also had a fire, but none of any consequence since.

MOTHERS
 find Perry Davis Painkiller invaluable in the nursery, and it should be kept at hand in case of accident. For pain in the breast, take a little Painkiller in sweetened milk and water, bathing the breast in it clear at the same time. If the milk passages are clogged, from cold, or other causes, bathing in the Painkiller will give immediate relief. Ask for new 25c. bottle.

RAPID PROGRESS MADE ON PAPER MILL
 Fair Idea Can Be Gained of Size of Plant.

So much advance has been made during the past week on the building of the new paper mill at Uncasville that a fair idea can now be formed as to the extent of the venture. There is still quite a little pile driving to be done along the east and south lines of the main building, the wall on the north side is already some 15 feet high, the brick work on the top of the first floor windows. The north wall is at present over 200 feet in length and is of brick, laid on concrete. The brick is being laid in rows of concrete piles sunk at very short intervals.
 An idea of the speed at which the work is progressing may be formed when it is stated that overtime was worked Monday night on the concrete work for the west wall, which will be longer than that on the north. The big concrete mixing machine is located about the center of the work and chews up bags of cement and load after load of crushed granite as rapidly as the laborers can handle it. The machine dumps its load about every five minutes, each mixing containing from 15 to 20 wheelbarrow loads.
 Although there are over 200 men at work, every detail is systematized and no confusion or loss of time occurs. The big brick kiln is up 100 feet and the circular part of the work was commenced Monday. The base is of red brick, the circular part of yellow, tubular brick. Work was temporarily suspended on the dam Monday, but will be resumed as soon as a new line of pipe has been connected with the fresh water in Oxbow brook near the old dye mill.
